December 14; Other North-Western News.

St. Paul, Nov. 18.—Action will be taken tomorrow by the Ramsey county republican committee to obtain a recount of the ballots cast for county candidates in the election of Nov. 4.

A recount is to be asked for in the cases of W. J. Freaney, candidate for clerk of courts; M. J. Bell, candidate for register of deeds; Samuel Morrison, candidate for probate judge; M. D. Dunn, candidate for county attorney; F. A. Renz, candidate for county treasurer; in fact, all the republican candidates, with the exception of Sheriff Bean, and coroner Quinn, who were re-elected.

State Labor Session.
St. Paul, Nov. 18.—The executive committee of the state labor federation met last night. There were twelve members present. The object of their conference was to set a date of meeting for the state federation of labor and Dec. 14 was the date fixed upon. The general object of this state federation is to formulate measures for legislation and to effect a permanent organization. This representative body will be composed of three delegates from each labor union throughout the state and three each from the trades and labor assemblies, the Eight-Hour league and the district assemblies, Knights of Labor from the cities of Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth and St. Cloud.

The Last Load of Rails.
PORT ARTHUR, Nov. 18.—The steamer Algonquin has unloaded the last cargo of rails at Port Arthur for the Port Arthur, Duluth & Western. The shipment makes enough to complete the track laying this winter for the first fifty miles of the road.

Hurley Wickedness.
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 18.—Journal, Hurley, Wis., special says: The dunder, was found this morning in a small stream near Hurley. Johnson mysteriously disappeared from the variety theater there a short time ago.

An Unsuccessful Logger.
CHIPPewa FALLS, Nov. 18.—County Treasurer Sever today turned over the key of his office to A. J. McGilvray. Mr. Sever is found to be $8000 short. He has transferred his real and personal property to his bondman. Rumor has it that the shortage was caused by unsuccessful logging operations.

DON'T WANT REDUCTION.
So the Facts as to Who is Chopping Rates Will Come Out.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—At the request of two of the Chicago-St. Paul lines chairman Finley of the Western Passenger association has called a special meeting of the Northwestern division of that association for tomorrow.

The general managers referred to are opposed to the proposed reduction in rates between Chicago and St. Paul to meet competition rates, as given notice by Chairman Finley yesterday and the meeting is for the purpose of taking the sense of the association on the subject.

CAN'T AFFORD IT.
The Knights of Labor Cannot Afford to Lose Many More Trades.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 18.—A movement has been started by Local Assembly No. 111 Knights of Labor, composed of green glass workers, which threatens to end in a big secession from the Knights of Labor ranks. The movement originated in the alleged improper conduct of Mr. Arrington of the Glass Workers National assembly, and dissatisfaction at the course of the administration.

The secession of the green glass workers would take at least 2000 members out of the Knights of Labor. A movement is on foot to form an independent organization of all flint and other bottle workers.

Newspaper Men Injured.
PARIS, Nov. 18.—M. Ephrussi, the well-known race horse owner, recently became involved in a quarrel with M. Frielle, a journalist, which resulted in a duel today. Frielle was slightly wounded. A duel was also fought today by M. Laguerre, a member of the chamber of deputies and a journalist named Lesigne, in which M. Laguerre received a slight wound.

CATTLE ARE OUT.

By Next Week the Cherokee Strip Will be Bare of Stock.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 18.—President E. M. Hewitts of the Cherokee Strip Live Stock association, in speaking of vacating the strip by Dec. 1, in accordance with the agreement with the government, says:

"We shall have all the cattle belonging to our association out of the strip by the last of next week. In fact, there is not more than 10,000 cattle remaining to be shipped out. I don't think the country can be opened for settlement right away. The Indians, under the leadership of Chief Mayes, will never take $1.25 for the land. The chief says that they ought to get from $5 to $10 from the government for the land, and that it ought to be graded according to value. He is right so far as the grading of land is concerned, but I don't think that the government will accept the figures produced by him."

THE CHAMBER.

It Holds a Regular Meeting and Talks over Matters of Interest to Duluth.

There was barely a quorum present at the Chamber of Commerce meeting this morning. The special committee wanted further time in which to report on revision of the by-laws and on the agricultural matter. Secretary Thompson reported some progress in the lumber rate matter brought up at last week's meeting. There was a good prospect of a meeting, being held soon, at which all the lumbermen of this city will be present. Lumbermen say there is a difference of three cents per 100 pounds on lumber in favor of Chicago and against Duluth. One mill owner said that this discrimination cost him a $40,000 contract last week.

This discrimination is most unjust. Ashland millmen ship their lumber to Chicago, from which point it is sent to Omaha and on to Duluth at a less cost than the same lumber can be sent to Omaha from Duluth, although the distance from Duluth to Omaha is only about one-half that from Ashland to Omaha via Chicago.

The secretary was asked to prepare a memorial on the death of H. D. Minot. Mr. Hirsch thought it would be a good idea for the chamber to ask the state to hold a farmers' institute at Duluth. It might prove advantageous in solving the question of cheap vegetables. The chamber coincided with Mr. Hirsch, but the matter was held over until the new board of directors was appointed. J. F. Landry and Capt. Antoine Paul were admitted to membership. Some important matters are to be considered at the next meeting, among them being the cause which led to the poor attendance at regular meetings.

AWAY ON AN INCLINE.

The Car Stops Suddenly and Many are Killed and Injured.

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., Nov. 18.—An accident occurred last evening on the Ferney Mountain railway by which two men were killed and four others injured, one fatally. The Ferney Mountain railway is a short line extending from Ferney, on the Philadelphia & Erie, to the lumber roads where mine prop timber is cut. Men employed cutting timber were riding to camp after their day's work. The car was descending by gravity and control of its speed was lost. The momentum attained was frightful, near the Ferney station terminus of the railroad, the car collided with a locomotive standing on the track, throwing its occupants out in a confused mass. A messenger was dispatched to Fairview whence a message was sent to this city asking physicians.

The killed are: John Davis of Tanawaka and Henry Isinger of Beavertown. The injured are: Israel Boyer of Lock Haven; Horace Freed and William Rantine, Beavertown; Oscar Grugan, Farney, A. D. Yocum of Beavertown and David Spohl of Lock Haven escaped by jumping from the track and are only slightly injured. Grugan's injuries will likely prove fatal.

Broke up the Meeting.
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 18.—A religious revival has been in progress several days at a colored Methodist church in this city. Yesterday Mary Davis and Rhoda Wright became wild by a kind of religious frenzy. They began shouting and hugging each other with all their strength, when the Wright woman fell to the floor exhausted. The other fell onto her and in falling struck her chest. The congregation noticed that the latter ceased to shout and was dying. Mary was pulled off but too late and she died. The meeting adjourned.

No News at Washington.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The war department officials have received no news today of any change in the situation on the Pine Ridge, Standing Rock and other Sioux agencies, and as competent officers are on the watch at all points where trouble is threatened, whose business it is to report any significant events, it is taken for granted that no immediate trouble is at hand.

OUR BIGGEST WARSHIP.

The Battleship Maine Duly Launched Today.

BROOKLYN YARD A BRIGHT PLACE.

An Endorsement of Champagne by the Navy Department at the Christening.

New York, Nov. 18.—Flags and bunting made the navy yard very bright today. All the cruisers were in full dress and the old fashioned place had a holiday appearance, the occasion was the launching of the great steel cruiser Maine.

As early as 9 o'clock guests began to enter the navy yard and to take their places on the staging that had been built to accommodate them. The cordons of marines was drawn around the great ship house containing the vessel, the marine force at the Brooklyn barracks, numbering 300 men was on duty as well as 150 blue-jackets from the different ships.

Just after 10 o'clock Secretary of the Navy Tracy arrived with his party and was received by all the officers of the yard. As he entered the main gate a salute of nineteen guns was fired from the Vermont. The final preparations for launching the Maine were at once begun and promptly at noon amid the cheers of the thousands of spectators and the music of the "Star Spangled Banner" played by the Navy band, the big-belted battleship slid down the incline. As she did so Miss Wilmerding, niece of Secretary Tracy, broke a bottle of champagne over the bow and christened the vessel.

As the Maine reached the water and the flag was hoisted, the Vermont's battery thundered out a national salute.

TRAIN ROBBERS FRUSTRATED.

Confession of a Confederate Follies a Nicely Laid Plan.

EL PASO, Nov. 18.—The east bound Texas Pacific train which left here yesterday afternoon was held up last night by four men while just entering the station of Kent. One of the robbers named Smith, confessed to the station agent at Kent and a number of guards were placed on the train.

The plan was that immediately after leaving Kent, Smith was to go into the baggage car, kill the engineer and fireman if they refused to do his bidding, at the same time his confederates were to attack the passengers and if necessary kill the conductor.

The guards were ready for the robbers and at the first symptom of disturbance, they opened fire on the robbers, and in all about forty shots were exchanged. As far as could be learned two of the robbers were wounded.

THREE FIRMS.

All the Big Rainy Lake Lumber Companies to be Looked Into

It will be some time yet before a report goes to the United States government regarding the timber depredations that have just been revealed in northern Minnesota. Said an official of the land office:

"An international question will arise over these timber depredations. It is for the government to decide what will be done. Almost all the timber stolen has been done by Canadians, and the logs have been sawed in Canadian mills. Thus the punishment of these parties can only be effected through international action. It will be next to impossible to bring the rascals American and Canadian to justice. They live on the banks of the Rainy river, and go from one bank to the other as their rascalities compel them.

"There are three large and responsible lumber firms, whose cuttings we are making an investigation of. These are Saunders & Bailey, the Minnesota & Ontario Lumber company, in other words Dennis Ryan of St. Paul, and the Derry & McDonald company. They all do business in this section, and we think they have infringed upon the rights of the government, possibly, of course, unwittingly, as the boundaries of surveyed lands there are not the best in the world."

Excuses for Parnell.

DUBLIN, Nov. 18.—The Freeman's Journal commenting upon the outcome of the O'Shea divorce case and the predictions that have been made concerning its effect on Mr. Parnell's future, recalls the private lives of the Duke of Wellington, Lord Nelson, Lord Palmerston and a number of other prominent personages who, it says, in their time were subject to scandals similar to that in which Mr. Parnell is now involved. The Journal says that the gable about social ostracism to which Mr. Parnell will be subjected is absurd because he never went into society.

Edinburgh.—Notice has been given in the town council that a motion will be made to remove Mr. Parnell's name from the roll of Burgesses.

Concerning the Rear Guard.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The Times this morning publishes another portion of the log of the rear guard of the Stanley expedition. The record shows that the natives continued to desert and on June 23, Bartlett started to see Tippoo Tib about the matter. Before his departure Bartlett deprived the Zanzibarrisi of their rifles and empowered Bonny whom he left in charge, to punish any attempt to mutiny by death.

A VERY WARM COUNCIL.

After Many Moons the Leaven
Has Leavened the Lump.

AND THE COUNCIL IS IN EARNEST.

Water Rates Under Discussion; Board of Education Transacts Important Business.

At the regular meeting of the council last evening, City Attorney Allen presented a communication in reference to his suit against the Gas & Water company. "A suit was brought," said he, "in my name against the company, to test the question of rates for residences. These proceedings were begun by an application for an injunction to restrain the company from shutting off the water from my house. On Saturday last the court rendered its decision, denying the injunction asked for. While the decision denies us the particular relief asked, it is not decisive. In effect the court says that he is so much in doubt as to what rates the company may charge that he will not restrain the company from shutting off water when the amount which I have claimed to be correct has been tendered. The decision cannot be very comforting to the company which has claimed that it has undoubted right to make this charge."

A few minutes later the clerk read a petition from persons residing at 625 and 627 West Superior street, representing that there are four families in a space of 50x75 feet. There is only one water closet, yet the water bill is $49 per year. The company threatened to shut off the water if the amount was not paid at once, and the petitioners wanted the council to take "official cognizance of this outrageous proceeding." Later, the light and water committee recommended that the company's guarantee bill of $5,057.55 be allowed. Alderman Long moved that it be laid on the table, and it was carried by the following vote: Yeas—Aldermen O'Connell, Dingwall, Kennedy, Long, Manheim, Nelson, Perry and Sorenson. Nays—Aldermen Ash, Davis, Sinclair and Hugo. Subsequently a resolution was introduced rescinding a former order of the council to lay certain guarantee claims on Garfield and other avenues. This also was tabled.

The board of works recommended condemnation proceedings to extend Ninth avenue east, northerly. Petitions were presented for grading Second street, from Kent avenue to northeast limits and Jefferson street, from Montana avenue to limits. A petition from Park Point for a steam ferry across the ship canal was tabled. Estimates in favor of contractors were ordered to be paid to the amount of $12,105.55. The contract for building a pile dock at Fulton street was awarded to Sam Menzie at $850.40. It was decided that the correspondence on tunneling the canal should be discussed in committee of the whole at some future date.

The board of works recommended that the alley above Bench street, be graded from Tenth to Thirteenth avenue east, and a sewer be laid from Tenth to seventy-five feet east of Twelfth and it was adopted. It was afterwards explained that this matter of the sewer, ending at a point 325 feet east of Thirteenth avenue or Chester brook, would be an injustice because it would free owners of the 325 feet on which is located the Chester Terrace of fifteen houses owned by H. A. and F. W. Smith from their share of the cost, and, moreover, the Hering sewer plans called for the alley sewer clear to Thirteenth avenue. The action was reconsidered.

The mayor gave notice that he had accepted the resignation of Thomas Madden from the police force. He announced the appointment of William Gleason. This made a discussion, for aldermen had understood that for the sake of economy several men had been suspended, and now the force is being increased. It was decided not to put an officer on the Park Point beat this winter and Alderman Kennedy made a plea for additional West End protection, claiming that a day patrolman there had a beat of twenty-seven miles, which no man could cover of course.

The Executive Session.
At the executive session of the council held yesterday afternoon with members of the Gas & Water company as noted yesterday, there was an acrimonious time. During the session there were several sharp debates, in fact it was a continued sharp debate and when the attorney of the company intimated that the city attorney knew "damned little about the law," and the council thereupon promptly sat down on the company it looked like open warfare. The water company was forced to admit that the city virtually guaranteed its bond, and when the question came "if the city guarantees your bonds why shouldn't it just as well guarantee its own bonds and buy the water works out?" there could be no answer from the corporation. It urged that there seemed to be a spirit of hostility towards it by some of the council, but it was told that there was no hostile spirit, the only desire of the council being to protect the city. It was intimated that if the company shut water off guaranteed mains it would be held sharply and individually responsible for loss or damage that might result.

The School Board Meets.
An adjourned meeting of the school board was held last night, as expected. The changes in plans for the new high school, which have heretofore been noted in city papers, were adopted, effecting a saving of some $300,000. The building as now designed will cost about $300,000, and most of the savings effected by the changed plans, except such as lower the height of the building and substitute a square for a round end in the rear part running out to Third street, are such as will in time be replaced by the more expensive material contemplated in the original design, so that $300,000 may not be considered the final cost of the structure. It was decided to insure the new Edison building for $300,000—about half its cost; to give the contract for the Edison building on Garfield avenue to Jas. McMillan for $100; to adopt the report of the committee purchasing three lots on Eleventh avenue west and Third street, and to call it the Emerson; to have the Hartung company cover steam pipes at Adams building; to take further time for a test of the electric heat regulating system in Lincoln building.

Superintendent Denfeld reported that four night schools were in operation with four teachers, and 100 pupils. The owner of the house on the rear of the High school lot was ordered to move it within a week so that excavations may be started for the boiler house.

Resolutions of Respect.
The St. Paul chamber of commerce yesterday passed the following resolutions: That this board has learned with profound regret of the death in a railway accident of Henry D. Minot, a member of the chamber and one of the most energetic and public spirited of the young business men of this city. That Mr. Minot's bright character, his enterprise and activity as the representative of large capital invested in the extension of railway facilities in the Northwest, and his amiable personal qualities had won for him, in his few years' residence in St. Paul, a high position in the respect and regard of this community, and his untimely death is felt to be a public loss.

In a Peculiar Position.
The uncertainties of divorce proceedings are illustrated by a case in the courts of Minnesota, instituted by a Duluth woman, named Stoner. Albert Knittle an attorney, secured a divorce from the woman and she afterward married and moved to this city. Recently she has discovered there is not a paper on file concerning the case. The woman has set about making the divorce binding, and, considering the circumstances of the case, a divorce will be made good by the court.

Citizens Protest.
Citizens of Hinkley protest against the alleged management of the Kettle River branch of the St. Paul & Duluth. When the road was built Hinkley voted $12,000 bonds, providing the road should run one passenger train a day and provide freight transportation. The road has since been leased to the Great Northern and is not used at all. The case has been laid before the railroad commissioners, and unless the contract is fulfilled steps will be taken to declare the bonds forfeited.

THE WORLD'S FAIR LADIES MEET.

Odd Fellows and Jews Meet in Illinois; Other Telegraphic News.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 18.—This is the closing day of what has proved to be the most successful national convention since the organization of the Women's Christian Temperance union. Last night there was a new and remarkable feature—the delivery of two minute speeches by the forty-four state and seven territorial presidents.

This morning Miss Frances Willard was re-elected president and Miss Alice E. Briggs national superintendent of press work. Today is being devoted to a consideration of the reports of the committees on finance and publication, and tonight the convention will close with the presentation of eight prize banners to as many states that have shown the largest per cent of increase during the past year, and five others to the chief states in each of the five sub-divisions of the republic.

Odd Fellows at Loggerheads.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 18.—The Grand lodge of Illinois of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows assembled here today. It will be called upon to consider the appeal of America lodge No. 107 from the decision of Grand Master Barnum, suspending the subordinate lodge and taking away its charter. Charges were pending in the lodge against C. C. Crabb, a member. Application for a change of venue was made to the Grand Master by three members. The application was not in Crabb's interest—in fact, he protested in person against it. The grand master granted a change to Excelsior lodge. Crabb appealed to the grand sire of the Sovereign Grand lodge, John C. Underwood, who granted an injunction. Grand Master Barnum submitted at the same meeting of America lodge a second communication ordering the lodge to comply with his previous order in ten days.

The lodge took a vote and decided to obey the grand sire, and the trial proceeded until the grand master took away the charter. He has since refused to restore it. At the present meeting action will be taken on Grand Master Barnum's report and the appeal of America lodge.

Preliminary World's Fair Work.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—One hundred and fifteen ladies representing all the states and territories who were selected by the national commissioners as the lady managers of the World's Columbian exposition are in the city, and it will be their province to prepare for the women's exhibit. The female contingent met at noon in the large hall of Kinsley's for an informal meeting. It is given out that Mrs. Potter Palmer of this city, will in all probability, be elected president after organization tomorrow. Members of the national commission are also gathering in their headquarters in the Pullman building, while the various sub-committees are busily engaged in completing their reports for presentation.

Jewish-Evangelical Conference.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—At today's session of the conference of Hebrew rabbis and divines of evangelical denominations, the mutual relations of Israelites, and kindred subjects, were discussed with freedom. The convention comes to an end tonight.

FINANCIAL BULLETIN.

An Average Decrease of Debts by a Good Per Cent.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The financial condition of 1890 of 553 cities, is shown in bulletin No. 14, issued by the census office. This, with the one just published will represent about 85 per cent of the municipal debt of the United States.

The general results for the 553 cities are: The bonded debt for 1890 shows an increase of 8 per cent, as compared with 1880; the floating debt has increased 17 per cent; the increase in the total debt in the ten years is 7 per cent. The amount invested in sinking funds had increased 23 per cent. The cash in the treasury has increased 13 per cent, and the total available resources have increased 50 per cent since 1880.

The New England cities have reduced their debts $2,439,539 and increased their resources by $118,891, making a joint gain of $2,558,430. The cities and towns in the middle states have reduced their debts $16,322,711 and increased their assets $1,224,499, making improvement in their financial condition $17,547,210. The Southern cities have increased their debts $3,577,348 but have increased their resources $430,024, their net increase in debt is $3,147,324.

The Western cities have increased both their debts and resources. The increase in debts amounts to $12,656,078, and the increase in resources $11,531,655. The gross debt in 1890 was $295,494,741; the assets were $194,343,732, leaving a net municipal debt of $501,150,959. The gross debt in 1890 was $295,494,741; the resources amount to $290,375,846, giving a net debt of $5,118,895. These figures show a decrease of $45,077,010 in the net debt, a reduction of 9.13 per cent in the debt of 1890.

The Maine Launched.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The armored cruiser Maine was launched from the Brooklyn navy yard at noon today. There were present from Washington Secretary Tracy, Assistant Secretary Soley, General Schofield, the chiefs of the naval bureau, a number of prominent naval officers, many other officials connected with the government, and the naval attaches of foreign legations. The oldest living ex-secretary of the navy, George Bancroft, the famous historian, was represented by his son and granddaughter. Captain Flitman, superintendent of the naval academy, was also present accompanied by a number of cadets.

UNRAVELING THE MYSTERY.

How a Self-Appointed Committee Has Carried on the Work.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—The rumors regarding an alleged confession by one of the Cronin convicts, has revealed the fact that the committee, which took such an active part in bringing about the arrest of the murderers and securing their conviction, has not by any means died of inanition. It is stated, on the authority of one of its principal members, that ever since the conviction the body has been unceasing in its efforts to gather additional testimony and in following people suspected of being concerned in the crime. They have accumulated a mass of important facts which, when the proper time arrives for publication, will create a sensation, and it is claimed, will involve a number of conspirators not yet known to the public. All this work has been done without the knowledge of the police department, for the committee found out long since that their movements were being absolutely frustrated. It is openly charged that police officials ignored important pointers which would have been of material aid in unravelling important threads of the conspiracy.

The committee has been largely aided in its efforts by the advice and co-operation of prominent Irishmen all over this country and abroad. The work it has done during the past six months however, has exhausted its financial resources and a movement will shortly be set on foot in Chicago in the direction of a public subscription.

To Extradite a Woman.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The case of Mrs. Cornelia Miller whose extradition is demanded by the English government, on the charge of receiving stolen monies in England, is before the United States Commissioner Shields today. Considerable documentary evidence received from England was submitted yesterday. The British government is represented by Counsellors Fox and Manbury and the accused woman by ex-Congressman Adams and Lawyer Howe.

Any Duluth Stockholders?

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 18.—The American Underground Mining Exhibit, of Chicago, to build an underground display mine for the purpose of exhibiting the mineral resources of the United States at the World's fair to be held in Chicago, and to establish a permanent museum of minerals and other objects of curiosity, and give musical and other entertainments in conjunction therewith, filed articles of incorporation here yesterday. Capital, $1,000,000.

Into the River.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 18.—Yesterday a freight train containing hogs and grain, on the Kansas City, Wyandotte & Northwestern road, went through the Kaw river bridge in Kansas City. Five cars were precipitated thirty feet into the water. The killed are: Henry Coleman (colored), Will Crawford (colored), Fred Allen, fireman, Lawrence, Kas.; Henry Williams (colored). Several others were injured.

For positive delivery of 48-13 acres, apply to L. A. Connor & Co., 432 Chamber of Commerce.

Temporarily Embarrassed.

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Nov. 18.—The Centre Iron company is temporarily embarrassed and the furnace was banked on Thursday last and will remain so until the meeting of the bondholders on Wednesday. It is very probable that all the existing difficulties will be adjusted at the meeting and that the Centre Iron company will continue to operate the works.

Express Robbery.

TIPTON, Ind., Nov. 18.—Yesterday Elmer Meeker, the United States express agent, received a package from the messenger and was leaving his office when he was attacked by a masked man. He was knocked senseless, his keys to the safe taken and the money package containing $1000 secured. Meeker regained consciousness and opened fire on him, without effect. The thief returned the fire, seriously injuring the agent's right hand.

What War Weapons Cost.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Bids have been opened at the ordnance bureau of the war department, for supplying armor-piercing projectiles for the new steel guns now being constructed for seacoast defense. The bids received were as follows: Carpenter Steel company of Reading, Pa., 8-inch shot, $150 each; 10-inch shot, $285 each; Midvale Steel company of Pennsylvania, 8-inch, $150; 10-inch, $287; Sterling Steel company of Pittsburgh, Pa., 8-inch, $300; 10-inch, $375.

Full blocks and quarter blocks from Thirteenth to Fortieth streets. You must know that this is the only location at the head of Lake Superior where the boom prices are still ahead of us. We are offering trades that will pay every investor 100 to 200 per cent profit in the next year. Investigate the possibilities and especially the probabilities for the next six months and make your purchases. Lots are going steadily upward, but the big advance and big profits are still ahead of us and nearer than you expect; and in dealing you can make better terms with the owner than with agents at second or third hands. Nearly all the lots we offer are owned by us; the first corner gets the best bargains.

BOLSTERING AND BOOMING.

Rash English ventures in bolstering up the bad credit of an old European monarchy and booming the development of a South American republic are the instruments which have strained for the time the money market of the world and knocked down the rating of first-class stocks. The ventures in the Argentine Republic will doubtless be repaid in time, but they have gone far beyond the present earning capacity of this speculative state. It is surprising that such a prudent and able house as the Barings should have put so much of its money in such a basket, and counteracted such extraordinary and excessive outlays in carrying out the multifarious projects of such a state. And backing up the sinking credit of Spain is more imprudent even than the South American boom, for the future of the last is, at least hopeful which is more than can be said for the bonds of poor old Spain.

It was the decline of these enterprises which at length led to an advance in the rate of discount by the Bank of England, and the strain was further tightened by the withdrawal of £5,000,000 Russian government money from the Barings. The Bank of France at once stopped gold payments, and with a discount rate of 6 per cent in London and with the Bank of France redeeming its notes in silver, English banks and other holders in need of money were constrained to unload their securities on a tight money market, and the sudden dump of American securities held abroad brought on the crisis in Wall street last week. The break in the market was worked for all it was worth by the bears as usual, and many entirely solvent houses have no doubt been tight pinched for the time. But the business situation here is in general so prosperous and promising, and the rally behind the Barings and others that showed signals of distress has been so strong and effective that the brunt of the strain has not been successfully borne and the reaction setting in will soon bring the money market back to its normal condition. It is a warning, however, not to fool with bad bonds and wild booms.

DEFENSE BY ATTACK.

The report of the secretary of war touching upon the defense of the towns on the great lakes is of interest to Duluth, though war with Canada is no concern of ours at this day. In the absence of any preparation on our part, the secretary says, "the lake cities might, in the event of war with the power holding the highway of the St. Lawrence, be in a more defenseless condition even than the seaboard cities. Although we can not, under the agreement, build armed vessels on the lakes, to overmatch on those waters the force that might be brought against us, I do not think it necessary to undertake any elaborate system of defense as proposed. With land forces properly disposed, we could doubtless ward off any danger from this source, and hence I fully approve the suggestion of Gen. Schofield, who believes in the establishment of garrisons which will serve as the nuclei of a vast army of volunteers."

It is obviously the opinion of the war department that the best method of defending our long frontier line is to be ready to crush out by attack any menacing demonstration on the other side of the border. Such overwhelming force could be rallied at garrison points along the line that any hostile concentration on the border could be prevented or foiled in any attempted descent upon our lake ports. This is doubtless true, but some provision for harbor defenses should be made as a matter of ordinary precaution, for one Canadian privateer at present would have our city at its mercy and could levy a ransom in a day which would be twenty times the cost of adequate defensive works.

The carrying of the case of alleged over-charge on the part of the Gas & Water company to the supreme court is practically assured unless the controversy is settled satisfactorily to the city before trial. No advance toward such a settlement was made in the meeting of the representatives of the Gas & Water company with the council yesterday. A supreme court decision can alone settle authoritatively the company's legal right to make its charge and, as the company holds to the exaction of all it imposes without regard to the equity of its imposition, it remains to be seen what the law will give it. If the law allows what the company claims, the city must sweat it out until the coming of the year when it can get from under the yoke by purchasing, owning and running its own water supply plant. As Alderman Long patly said, if the city is constrained to guarantee practically the bonds of the supply company, it might better issue its own bonds and guarantee its own water supply. If Duluth cannot supply herself better and cheaper than the Water company does, she ought to go and seek her head.

Ashland's ore shipments now reach the excellent figure of 2,065,000 gross tons. This is a wonderful showing for the Gogebic range, and The Herald can but wonder when the Vermilion will do as well. It has large ore bodies and a better grade of ore. But the Gogebic has thirty shipping mines and two rail-ways.

Sault papers predict a late closing of the rivers and canal. They base their prophecy on the fact that the Sault river and its vicinity have been remarkably free from heavy snow falls thus far, as a consequence the water is yet tolerably warm, and that no ice has as yet formed in the still water and bays of the river worth mentioning.

SEEN AND HEARD.

A policeman's lot is not a happy one, sang Digby Bell the other night; and a little incident occurred last night that made me think on the truth of his utterance. We have storm windows on our house. The city is also pestered with sneak thieves. On our storm windows are little sub-windows that swing on hinges, and are for ventilation. I always let mine swing open at night. I did it last night, not having been able to foretell that a heavy wind would arise. But, notwithstanding the goodness of my intentions, the weather went back on me and the little ventilating window, which, at the first puff of the wind, was broken into a thousand fragments, carrying the main pane of glass with it. The wind then strewn particles of glass to the points of the compass.

As I said at first, there are sneak thieves in town. A policeman heard the crash, saw the glass on the walk, thought of this fact—and rang the hurry-up wagon. Two men and a morning paper reporter came. They hunted through our block, and finally located our house. Dingy-g-g-g! went the door bell. The master of the house, in light and airy attire rushed to the door. On the threshold stood the policeman and reporter. "We heard the crash of glass," began one of the blue coats, "and thought that sneak thieves might be breaking into your house." The householder assured them on his honor he had no sneak thieves hid. Then the policeman and the reporter searched for sneak thieves throughout the entire block, but the only trace they could find was the glass on the sidewalk. I got to sleep again by 3 in the morning. The policeman's intentions were good, very good, but in view of existing circumstances their life is not a happy one—and neither was mine last night. Three hours' sleep is not enough.

WRECK OF THE JULE LA PLANTE.

The following celebrated poem by a Montreal man, is published by request:—
'Twas one dark night on Lac St. Pierre,
De weend was blow, blow, blow,
Hon de beag skow skow skow skow
Got scare an' ron below.

For de weend she's blow lak horricane,
Bimeby she's blow some more,
Wen de skow buss up on Lac St. Pierre
'Bout 'alf mile from de shore.

De captain she's walk hon de front deck,
She's walk on de line deck too;
She's call de cook up from de bole,
She's call him up all de crew.

De cook he's name was Rosie,
He's come from Mon' real.
Was chambermaid hon lumber barge
Hon de beag skow skow skow skow.

De weend she's blow from de nor, eas, wes,
De sou weend she's blow too,
Wen Rosie say: "Oh captain,
Waterer shall we do?"

De captain she's trow de hankie out,
But still de skow she's dreeft,
For de crew he can't pas on de shore
Because he's los de skeef.

De night was dark like one blak cat,
De wave ron high an' fass,
Wen de captain take poor Rosie
An' sh' her by de mass.

De captain he's poot hon de life preserve
An' he jump into de lake,
An' he say: "Good-by, my Rosie dear,
I die for your sweet sake."

Nex morning very hearily,
'Bout half-past two, tree, four,
De captain, cook and wood skow
Law corpses hon dat shore.

An' weend she's blow lak horricane,

Wen de skow buss up on Lac St. Pierre,

Now hell good wood skow sailors man,
Take warning by dat storm,
An' go an' marry one nice French girl
An' levee hon one good farm.

Don de weend she may blow lak horricane,
An' spose she's blow some more,
You don't be drowned on Lac St. Pierre
So long's you ston on shore.

Hope for More Money.

To the Editor of The Herald:
Since the issuing of the appeal from the Women's and Children's Home, that society has received bills for street and avenue improvements which it has no way of meeting. These bills are large, as all property owners on Bench street know, and although the donations on Monday were generous and substantial, the ladies hope to receive still more liberal donations of money sufficient to pay these pressing bills. A full list of donations will be published in the Sunday papers. MRS. GEO. SPENCER, President.

"THE RUSTLERS."

THEIR INNERMOST THOUGHTS.

City Attorney Allen: There was considerable spirited talk, but no blows were struck at the conference yesterday. The officers of the company seem to have a special grudge against me. They claim that I have brought the city into more litigation with the Water company than any other city attorney Duluth has ever had. This is not so. I have only brought one new suit against the company, and that is a test suit. All of the other cases are old chestnuts which were brought by former attorneys.

A building foreman: We shall have the Lyceum under roof before winter. Interior walls are to rise two stories and exterior walls three.

Billy Tole: Myers and I play our next game of billiards Saturday in St. Paul. He must play to win.

Major James B. Quinn: The Indians are treacherous devils, and there's no telling what they may do. They may have trouble in Dakota.

ODDS AND ENDS.

A rich mine of fine opals has just been discovered in Eastern Washington, near Moscow. A display of these was made today. They range from a fourth of an inch in diameter to over an inch in size, and valued, when fully polished, from $100 to $500 each.

Oxford university has decided to admit women to medical degree, after much opposition.

An ancient statuette of Diana, said to be by Praxiteles and valued at $50,000, is on exhibition in New York.

The fruit crops of Pomona, Cal., have sold for $270,000 this season. Ten years ago there was not an orchard in the valley.

A girl in Brown county, Kas., looked after her father's grape patch of ten acres, picked the apples on 1000 trees and didn't ask for a share of the $5000 which her parent secured for his fruit. She had a fair claim on part of the money and should not have been so modest.

The abandonment of tea cultivation in China would be strange indeed, yet a Foochow journal reports that, in consequence of the distressed condition of tea cultivators in the Fukhien province, the authorities are advising them to abandon the cultivation of tea altogether and to replace it with rice and potatoes. Many land owners in districts where water is abundant are following this advice, and it is said that opium also is to be extensively planted.

Where are Those Markets?

Appleton Post: The staple argument of free traders is that by adopting a protective policy, the American nation is sacrificing its chance to "the markets of the world." Where are those markets, please tell us? Every country in Europe has a protective tariff, except England. Italy is a thoroughly well established with protection, adopted a few years ago; Russian manufacturers are said to be overjoyed by the prospect of the new tariff, virtually prohibitory, which that government is about to adopt, if not already adopted; almost without exception the British colonies in America, Africa and the antipodes have a protective bar against the free ingress of foreign goods. South America is mortgaged to Europe in general and Great Britain in particular, but what can be done in that direction the new tariff permits us to do. Where are those markets of the world? We repeat. Please tell us about them, Messrs. Free Traders. Are they among the dwarfs of Central Africa or the converted cannibals of Tonga? And are they one-fifth as important as this great market of sixty-three million consumers, right here at our doors which English manufacturers and American free traders would like to wrest from us?

COMPANY

Have contracted for mammoth iron and brick buildings, which, when fully completed, will cover fifteen acres of land and will be fireproof. This company has given a bond in the sum of

EXTEND TO LAKESIDE.

The Street Railway People Expect to do So.

PROBABLY TO BE ON FIRST STREET.

It Will be One of the Longest Lines in America; On Bench Street.

It is probable that the Street Car company will extend its lines to Lester Park next year.

The matter has been under advisement for some time and will probably be definitely settled at a meeting to be held in a few days. The people of Lester Park are anxious for a car line, but as yet there is no street available for that purpose. It would certainly not be advisable to place tracks on Superior, which is rather well used to a great extent, a pleasure drive. There will be plenty of streets eventually, but they are not yet opened. Either Bench or Jefferson would make a good route as soon as they are opened.

At present the only street opened is First, and the company may decide to use it. Manager Chase is anxious to give the people of the eastern suburb car service, and as soon as possible.

The Bench street line will soon be in service again and it is safe to say that the patrons of the road will not be at all sorry. The connection at Eighth avenue east was made today, but it is not likely that the cars will be run through until the paving is completed which will not be for several days. Only three electric cars will be run on the new line as the present power is not strong enough to run any more. The work of setting up the engine at the power house is being pushed as rapidly as possible, but it will probably be twenty days before it is completed. As soon as this is done the full quota of electric cars will be run. The motor line cars will be running within a few days.

THE WEST.

A Splendid Building for the West End: Notes of News of West Duluth and West End.

There is to be a St. Andrews Guild formed by people connected with the Episcopal church and a meeting will be held for that purpose in the store of C. A. Everett, Thursday evening.

The friends of Miss May Burch will be pained to know that that young lady is still confined to the hospital at St. Paul, and her case is no more favorable than when she went there several weeks ago.

The Bible club connected with the Presbyterian church will hold a social at the residence of Louis Clauson on Bay View Heights Thursday evening. The proceeds will go toward the purchase of a library.

The incline car will leave for the heights at 8 o'clock and return at 11:30. West Duluth Lodge of Masons will hold a meeting in Knights of Pythias hall this evening.

The Everett row of houses on Fifth street are nearly completed, and Mr. Everett will offer them for sale.

On a corner on Central avenue this morning six dogs were disputing themselves, and only one had on a collar and check number. The citizen who owns that one, and many other citizens also would like to know if the ordinance passed some time ago is for all or a few, and hope it will be impartially enforced so that a large number of worthless curs may be got rid of or made to pay something through their owners, into the city treasury.

First timber for the erection of the Burrows building, opposite the Silvey building, was moved onto the ground today.

In the case, Scott vs. Bayden tried yesterday before Judge Neff and a jury of six, the jury disagreed and a new one has been summoned.

U. S. G. Sharp & Co., have placed in their office a fine Diebold safe.

The Huntress & Brown's mill, although all new, is working finely, and yesterday cut 75,000 feet of lumber.

The family of H. J. Holmes arrived yesterday from Pergus Falls and will at once go to house-keeping in their new house near the Woolen mill.

Messrs. Donnet & Goggin have been out in the country around Ironton and New Duluth today hunting acres.

The Ladies Aid society of the Presbyterian church will meet with Mrs. S. Williamson Thursday afternoon to arrange for a fair to be held just before the holidays.

WEST END.

The Vincent building is now nearly completed, the finishing touches of the painters only lacking. Already occupants have begun to move in. It is the handsomest and most substantial business building yet built so far out in that direction, and goes to show the confidence of its owner and builder in the future of the West End. It is three full high stories of pressed brick and brownstone. There are two large and commodious stores on the first floor and a wide and convenient stairway leads to the second and third stories which will eventually be used as offices, but most of them will be at present used as suites for which there is a great call. Plenty of light is admitted to all of the upper rooms by means of the large side windows and couplets in the center of the roof. The stairs and hallway are all of hardwood and finely finished.

E. M. Britte who has been visiting his sons, C. G. and W. H. Britte, has returned to his home at Verdala.

J. Lawrence and T. J. McGinnis of Chicago are in town also, J. H. Shaw of Toronto, all of whom are at the Clarendon and will invest in Duluth dirt.

Foolish Martyrs.

There are martyrs and martyrs. Some were wise in the loftiest, some are silly in the most improvident sense. The word improvident exactly applies to the latter class, since they neglect to provide against threatened danger. We commiserate, but we cannot respect them. Among the silliest are martyrs to rheumatism, who might have prevented daily and nightly recurring torture by the early use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a blood purifier more efficient in removing the virus of this complaint from the circulation than any thus far brought to the notice of the general community and the medical profession. It promotes greater activity of the kidneys, the channel through which blood impurities, productive of rheumatism, gout and dropsy, are principally expelled, and it imparts a degree of vigor to digestion and assimilation which has a most favorable bearing on the general health. It also remedies biliousness, kidney troubles and malaria.

THE SIOUX EXCITEMENT.

Mandan Playing it for all it is Worth for the Town.

BUT NO PRESENT PROSPECT FOR A ROW.

So Say Mandan People in Town Today; The Town Would Have a Post.

H. R. Lyon, a Mandan, N. D., banker and prominent business man, arrived in the city last night. Asked about the inflammatory reports of an Indian uprising of the Standing Rock:

"I do not think there is any real danger to be apprehended from the Indians of the Standing Rock agency. Mandan and the settlers in the vicinity of the reservation are excited and frightened. While there is no actual danger at present, yet I think the Indians would bear watching."

Said another resident of North Dakota who arrived in town this morning from the vicinity of Mandan: "I do not think there will be any trouble with the Indians. Those at the Standing Rock agency have been too long under the civilizing influences of the whites to be the same in nature they were years ago. Major McLaughlin, the commandant at the agency, is the best Indian agent we have, and he understands them thoroughly. When he makes a statement that the Indians are dangerous, I'll believe that there will be trouble. There may be some excitement among the Sioux, but I anticipate no serious trouble."

"I take but little stock in the Mandan excitement. You know that for a long time, the government has been on the point of abandoning Fort Abraham Lincoln as a military post. The post is near Mandan, and gives it some prestige. The citizens of the town have brought all the influence possible to bear on the government to get it to make a permanent post like Fort Snelling or the new Fort Sheridan near Chicago. I imagine that this excitement is gotten up to further this plan."

OF FABULOUS WEALTH.

The Noted Silver Islet Mine and Its Treasures.

TO BEGIN AGAIN NEXT SPRING.

The Famous North Shore Property Once More Comes Into Notice.

There are very few old time Duluthians who do not remember the years when Silver Islet was shipping its millions of dollars in the precious metal, or the early winter of '83-4 when coal could not be had to run the pumps and the argentine shafts were filled with water. The following from the Engineering and Mining Journal will be of interest:

The affairs of this company are assuming such shape, as would evidence the fact that Silver Islet is again about to assume its former position as one of the best producers on the continent. This property was originally owned by the Montreal Mining company, which operated it in a desultory way, from its discovery in the summer of 1868 to September, 1870, producing to that date $3,343,000 worth of ore. In September, 1870, it passed into the hands of New York and Detroit capitalists. Their first winter's operations consisted principally of cribbing around the islet, erecting buildings, etc. The time devoted to mining was about four weeks. The total amount spent that winter on improvements was $80,000, and the total value of the ore extracted during the same time, $2,153,250.

From Nov. 1870, to Nov. 1871, the lode produced $647,392 worth of silver. This body of ore was not worked out till the latter part of 1874, and yielded a little over $2,000,000. The total product up to the end of 1870 was $3,033,357.49, and when operations ceased in 1884 the total yield had reached $3,250,000.

Extensive explorations have been made on the company's property this summer, notably at Edwards island, nine miles east of Silver islet, and at Cape Gargantua and Cape Mainaine. Test pitting has been carried on on the large vein at Edwards island, the greatest depth attained being 25 ft.

Wm. M. Courtis, M. E., of Detroit, examined the property recently and made a very flattering report on the development work done, and the prospects of the future. He reports the occurrence of native silver, in beautiful forms, associated with black arsenic, samples of which the writer has seen. The main dyke crossed by this vein appears to be identical with the famous dyke on Silver islet. It carries Macellanite, nectrographite, arsenious silver and copper pyrites. The steamer Mary Ann left on the 31st ult. for the mine with a cargo of lumber, machinery and general mining outfit, and a crew of miners and surface laborers. The company proposes to erect a large boarding house, office, stable, storehouse, and engine and shaft house. The hoisting engine will be placed in position as soon as the necessary buildings can be erected.

Sinking will be carried on to a depth of 175 feet when drifting will be commenced. At this point it is calculated the vein will intersect No. 1. A portion of the ore from the bottom of the shaft is being saved; from the general appearance of the vein it is thought that barrelling will soon be commenced. It is the intention of the Silver Islet company to begin active mining and thorough exploration work on all its property in the spring of 1891.

Southern Lumber Fire.
ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Nov. 18.—A fire was discovered in the sawdust and shavings in the mill yard of the East Florida Lumber & Produce company in Buena Esperanza, a suburb of the city. In a few minutes the whole plant, having a daily capacity of 100,000 feet of lumber, was destroyed. The fire consumed 1,500,000 feet of merchantable lumber. The plant is owned by an English syndicate of London. The loss is estimated as follows: Plant, $80,000; lumber, $27,000. No insurance was held by American companies. English companies are supposed to have insurance on the plant.

Electing Wyoming Senators.
CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 18.—Two ballots were taken yesterday in the Wyoming legislature for senator. Forty-eight members were present at the joint session. George W. Beck, son of the late senator, received 9 votes, all democratic; Governor Hoyt, 8; Homer Morrill, 6; M. A. Brown, 4; J. W. Mel drum, 6; W. T. Ramsey, 6; and 9 were divided among five other aspirants. Another joint session will be held today when balloting will be resumed.

An Absurd Appeal.
NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 18.—The excitement over the Italian or rather the anti-Italian factions over the murder of Chief of Police Hennessy, is intensified and it is feared serious trouble is coming. The edition of an Italian newspaper has requested the Italian government to place one of its men-of-war in the Mississippi river for protection of the Italian residents of New Orleans.

Preferred Death to Starvation.
BERLIN, Nov. 18.—A terrible tragedy has just come to light in the town of Thann, Alsace. A woman residing there, fearing that she and her children would starve to death, cut the throats of her five children and then killed herself.

Shipwrights Strike.
LONDON, Nov. 18.—Three hundred and fifty shipwrights employed at the Harvey shipyards at Hayle have struck for a change in their hours of labor.

"Oh! love, what is it in this world of ours that makes people suffer so with neuralgia?" "Can't tell, my pet, unless the average citizen hasn't got sense enough to buy a bottle of Salvation Oil."

CONCERNING THE FAILURE.

Developments in the Cowling-Gowenlock Bank Mystery.

MOUNT CARMEL, Ill., Nov. 18.—The Cowling, Gowenlock & Co. failure continues to be the topic of the hour. This was a private banking firm with a small amount of capital but with excellent credit. Cowling was a big grain buyer and stock dealer. He was supposed to be worth $100,000. He was taken sick Nov. 4 and died Nov. 5. The bank was not reopened after his death.

Nov. 11 Dave Gowenlock, the cashier, started to Mount Vernon to arrange for the transfer of the bank business or to secure additional capital. His failure to return within forty-eight hours excited suspicion, and as a telegram failed to locate him attorneys went over to Mount Vernon and it was learned that he had left there on the night of Nov. 11. His father, the surviving member of the firm, made an assignment to J. R. Parkinson.

The amount the cashier has taken has not been definitely ascertained, but the lowest estimate is $20,000, while the highest is $30,000. The assignee's statement shows that the bank's liabilities are $85,000, which will be likely to be increased to $100,000 or $125,000 as protested checks would be likely to come in every month. Real estate and paper amount to about $20,000.

Investigation shows that the cashier had been dabbling in outside affairs. He was a young man, prepossessing in appearance and address. It is thought he has gone to Mexico.

A Hand of Welcome.
At a meeting of the Father Mathew society last evening the following resolution was adopted: That we, the Father Mathew society of Duluth, extend to the Irish envoys a hearty welcome and look forward with pleasure to the coming of some of them to our city.

Thanksgiving.
Do you know it is less than two weeks to Thanksgiving? If you have forgotten it, your wife and children have not. "She" has already made up a mental program for the dinner that day, and interviewed frequently the butcher, baker and grocer, while the "children" have nightly dreams of pie and pudding in mountains. This is on the supposition that your Thanksgiving will be spent at home. But if you have an old father and mother somewhere, why not visit them then? Your wife would like to go to the home of her girlhood and sit with father and mother, brothers and sisters, in the evening firelight from the old hearthstone. Why don't you drop business for a few days and take her to a family reunion? Do so, and remember that wherever you may wish to go, "The Burlington," either by its own line or its connections, reaches any city, town or village you can name. It is the fast line, the best line, the comfortable line, the vestibuled line, the dining car line, the direct line. For any information, apply to nearest railroad agent, or write to V. J. C. R. C. MITCHELL,
433 Chamber of Commerce

A prominent physician and old army surgeon in eastern Iowa, was called away from home for a few days, during his absence one of the children contracted a severe cold and his wife bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for it. They were so much pleased with the remedy that they afterwards used several bottles at various times. He said, from his experience with it, he regards it as the most reliable preparation in use for colds and that it came the nearest being a specific of any medicine he had ever seen. MORE NEW YORK FAILURES.

A Couple of Suspensions are Announced Today.

BIG GRAIN HANDLING HERE.

Very Large Receipts and Shipments at Duluth; The Local Market.

New York, Nov. 18.—The failure of P. W. Galland & Co., No. 2 Wall street, was announced this morning and the firm made an assignment to C. Elliott Minor. The assignee states that the liabilities amount to $1,000,000. The failure was due to the action of several banks in calling in loans.

The market opened quite irregular and without any excitement, with prices well sustained. The general list early advanced small fractions over opening figures with the Wall street stocks in the lead.

In the matter of the North River bank counsel today presented an order to Judge O'Brien, which was signed, requiring cause to be shown forthwith why a receiver should not be appointed, pending a suit which the attorney-general has brought to dissolve the bank. A temporary injunction was also secured restraining the bank officials from interfering with its affairs.

2:35 p. m. In the stock market after 12 o'clock the liquidation assumed larger proportions and with a marked increase in the market of business done, material losses were sustained in the leading stocks.

2:45 p. m. W. F. Owens has just announced his suspension on the stock exchange. He has no outstanding contracts on the exchange.

London.—As compared with the closing prices last evening prices at 1:30 o'clock today showed a decline of 3-16 for consols for money, a decline of 1/8 consols for the account.

The Duluth Market.
The market was very weak and lower today, opening on an average of 1/2 below on cash and a trifle lower on futures. The market ruled dull and spasmodic, breaking 1/2 to 1 on December until a decline of 2 1/2 cents had resulted. Receipts are increasing, shipments of wheat and flour are large and prospects point to increased shipments for some days.

Cash hard dull, all business at 1/2 below yesterday at 90 1/2, closed at 89 1/2. Cash No. 1 northern opened 1/2 lower at 85 1/2. A number of car lots selling early at that figure, declined to 84 at the close. Cash 2 northern, small lots at last night's closing at 79 1/2, closed 1 1/2 lower at 78. December 1 hard, opened 1/2 below yesterday at 92 1/2, with several sound lots going at that figure, closed at 90 1/2. May 1 hard, opened off at 1.01, ruled with declining tendencies, closed 1 1/2 lower at 90 1/2. May 1 northern, without transactions, closed at 3/4 decline at 93 1/2 bid.

The Local Feeling.
Telegrams received by members of the Board of Trade this morning say that the excitement on Wall street is by no means over. Brokers feel that the trouble is not past by any means, and there is an uneasiness and apprehension of another panic. The market is quiet, but weak and vacillating. Charles M. Furbear, Britton, South Dakota, and F. P. Stiles, Sparta, North Dakota, were visitors on the board this morning.

Today's Movement.
Inspection: No. 1 hard, 78 cars; No. 1 northern, 250; No. 2 hard, 3; No. 3, 14; no grain in white winter; No. 2, 4; rejected 5; oats, 5; barley, 3; flax, 11; total, 558 cars. Receipts: Wheat, 27,000 bu.; flax, 1822 bu.; flour, 10,800 lbs. Shipments: Wheat, 30,522 bu.; flour, 6,486 lbs. Cars on 1.01, ruled with declining tendencies, closed 1 1/2 lower at 90 1/2. May 1 northern, without transactions, closed at 3/4 decline at 93 1/2 bid.

If anyone has been overlooked in making the list, tickets will be placed for sale at Montague's store in the West End and Kugler's store in the East End of the city.

We will move to the Woodbridge building just across from our present quarters Dec. 1. To save moving our heavy stock of instruments we offer unusual bargains until that date.

A ROAST FOR STANLEY.

Herbert Ward Blames the Chief for Rear Guard Fuss.

LIBERAL CAMPAIGN DOCUMENTS.

Such as Gladstone's Recent Speeches; An English Zollverein for Commercial Protection.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—Herbert Ward writes to The Times as follows and his letter appeared this morning:

"With every desire to be loyal to Mr. Stanley, it is impossible for me longer to remain silent. Mr. Stanley has raised all the side issues of the Jameson-Bartollet stories and other matters in order to evade the main controversy. He may or may not be a scrupulous man, but he is undoubtedly a bold and far-seeing one. It would appear, therefore, that in charging the rear-guard officers with irresolution and disregard of instructions, he feared he might one day have to answer a charge for which, he himself, was responsible, so he collected all the little-tattle of tale bearers and attacked his subordinates." After stating that Stanley's column was not above reproach, and that he himself, had buried dead men that Stanley left on the road, Mr. Ward asks why Stanley left inexperienced officers in charge of the rear, knowing that they could only carry out his orders and drive the load bearers with the greatest severity.

"Why had he appointed Bartollet, whom he disliked as much as Bartollet disliked him, and whom he knew was unsuitable for the work, to a position of momentous responsibility at the supreme crisis of the expedition? What must be thought of Stanley turning back on Yumbuya, assuring Bartollet he had made a wise choice and selecting him to guard the interests of the expedition during his absence.

"Mr. Ward declares that with all his acknowledged faults, Major Bartollet, with splendid loyalty to the best tradition of his service, held secret every in structed of Stanley to the last. In the face of starvation he refused to open the stores that Stanley had warned him were essential to the success of the expedition. Yet Stanley accused him of disloyalty."

GLADSTONE'S SPEECH.

His Addresses to be Issued as Campaign Literature.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—The addresses delivered by Mr. Gladstone during his recent tour in Scotland, have been printed in pamphlet form as a liberal campaign document. The place of honor is given to his address at Dundee, in which he dealt almost exclusively with the American tariff question, and to a much more elaborate extent than was given in the cable dispatches. In one portion of this address Mr. Gladstone admitted that the McKinley bill was a formidable affair, so formidable in fact, that he would recommend the institution of chairs in the American universities for the erection of the study of the tariff into one of the new sciences.

While it would be policy on the part of the English people to exaggerate their share in the operation of the tariff, yet he thought it undesirable that England should lay too much stress on her concern in the measure. No doubt the immediate effect of the act would be to restrict English trade with America, but the standard of prices would eventually be raised in that country and this meant a diminished power of exportation and less ability to cope with England in the other markets of the world. At any rate the English people had to deal, not with a nation but with mankind, and they should not under any circumstances, be led into the suicidal folly either of talking or dreaming of retaliation.

As for the effect of an English Zollverein in which England and her colonies should adopt protection against the world he thought that while it would enlarge the colonies to some extent, it would contract to a much greater extent the commerce of Great Britain and the rest of the world.

Get Six Months Each; A Cold Day When They Serve.

DUBLIN, Nov. 19.—In the court at Clonmel today, a verdict of guilty was rendered against Wm. O'Brien, John Dillon, Patrick O'Brien, John O'Connell, Thomas Walsh, Patrick Mochler and Mr. Bolton. William O'Brien and Dillon were each sentenced to two terms of imprisonment of six months each, but the sentences are to run concurrently. Patrick O'Brien and O'Connell were each sentenced to six months imprisonment, and Walsh, Mochler and Bolton to four months, all without labor. Father Humphreys, Thomas J. Condon, member of parliament; Daniel Kelly and David Sheehy, member of parliament were discharged.

Still Swears by Parnell.

BOSTON, Nov. 19.—William O'Brien, the Irish envoy, says to the associated press that he regards the attacks of the Tory newspapers of London against Parnell as beneath notice. For the past ten years the same papers have attempted to assassinate Mr. Parnell's character, not in the least from any motive of public morality, but on account of his unrivaled leadership. All O'Brien knew of the O'Shea matter was that "O'Shea is a loathsome creature, who is capable of anything."

Will Endorse Parnell.

New York, Nov. 19.—T. P. O'Connor, the Irish envoy, said this morning that Dillon had left for Buffalo last evening for the purpose of meeting O'Brien there. He has the draft of a manifesto to be issued by the Irish envoys in this country, expressing confidence in Mr. Parnell's genius and devotion to the Irish cause, and urging him to retain the leadership. After consultation with Mr. O'Brien the document will be given to the press.

De Lesseps' Birthday.

PARIS, Nov. 19.—M. Ferdinand de Lesseps is 85 years old today, but there are none of the popular demonstrations which, a few years ago, greeted one of the greatest financiers of France upon each recurrent birthday. Instead he is spending the day quietly in the bosom of his family, a broken-down old man, financially, socially and physically. It is very doubtful whether he will live to see another birthday.

Tottering Under a Load.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—There is a rumor that another prominent banking firm is in difficulties, owing to its inability to discount maturing bills. The Financial News says it hopes the report is not true, but it is afraid that many weak spots have been made in the financial world by reckless underwriting, and that more than one house is tottering under a load of overwhelming unforeseen liabilities.

BERLIN, Nov. 19.—As a reward for his services in the interests of medical science, the emperor will confer the title of nobility upon Prof. Koch. The professor states that the government must prepare the lymph used in the cure of tuberculosis.

BERLIN, Nov. 19.—Princess Victoria of Prussia, sister of the Emperor, was married today to Prince Adolph of Schumburg-Lippe.

SUIT FOR LIBEL.

An Interesting Case Involving Prominent Men in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—There began in Judge Baker's court today a suit for libel which, if the opening address of counsel shall be proven, will merge into one of the most sensational ever heard in Chicago.

It is the $50,000 suit of Mary M. Ryan against the Inter Ocean for characterizing her as a blackmailer and an adventuress and stating that she pursued with the relentlessness of a tiger some of the wealthiest and most prominent of Chicago's citizens, bleeding them of large sums of money which they handed over rather than public notice should be brought to them.

The plaintiff is a rather tall, plainly attired, well developed woman, with an attractive face. She has acted as a book canvasser. A large crowd attended the proceedings, not a few of the ladies present being wives of wealthy alleged victimized husbands. A jury was secured but no witnesses were called today. Over sixty have been summoned by the Inter-Ocean, among them some of the most prominent supposed sufferers. Others are said to have left the state to avoid the publicity their testimony would give.

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS.

Some months ago Wm. Gifford of Halifax, N. S., sold his wife and family to a neighbor named Thompson, for $40, the conditions being that Thompson should take care of the children until they are 16.

The Brazilian constitutional assembly yesterday resolved to prolong the period in which the provisional can exercise its powers till the new constitution is finally voted on.

Seventeen Horses Burned.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Early this morning fire broke out in Turner's livery stable at Evanston. The building together with seventeen horses and the stock of carriages, harnesses and feed was destroyed, entailing a loss of $40,000, insured.

A Result of McKinley.

WATERBURY, Conn., Nov. 19.—The Waterbury Button company have advanced the wages of ivory button turners 10 per cent.

A Crank's Poor Aim.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—John T. Davis, the crank who last night shot Miss Gladys Price, the organist of the Mariners church, was this morning held to await the result of his victim's injuries. Davis reaffirmed his statement that it was his intention to have shot ex-President Cleveland. Miss Price will probably recover.

They're Not Needed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Gen. Schofield today received a despatch from Gen. Miles stating that troops have been sent to the Pine Ridge and Rosebud agencies upon representation that the Indians at those places have gotten beyond the control of agents and Indian police.

ROCK ISLAND IN IT.

Gould and Vanderbilt Move Toward the Combine.

WHICH BIG WESTERN ROADS WILL JOIN.

Passenger Traffic in the Northwest; Pacific Mail Election Took Place Today.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—The Tribune says that the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul roads have formed an alliance with the Union Pacific and Chicago & North-western. Under the new agreement the Union Pacific will operate with the Rock Island at all points where the two roads connect. On business to points west of Denver the Rock Island is allowed its proportion to Denver and on east-bound business the Union Pacific allows the Rock Island the same proportion of rates as it allows the Northwestern.

The Milwaukee evidently shares with the Rock Island the benefits of the new agreement, as it is understood to have made a traffic agreement with the Rock Island and Union Pacific whereby the former got its business from the Missouri to Denver and the latter from Omaha to the West.

The new agreement is evidently a part of the Gould-Vanderbilt scheme to force all Western roads into their proposed big combine. The Burlington has thus far shown spirit of independence and to force it to terms the arrangement with the Rock Island and other roads was made.

The directors of the company decline to state whether the policy of the company will be changed. In regard to close connections with the Northern Pacific and a terminus at Tacoma, another meeting of the directors will be held tomorrow and this matter may be brought up then.

Gould Back in Pacific Mail.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—A Wall street circular says: "We can state on authority that Col. Magee, O. H. Payne and Vice President Lauterbach have practically resigned from the Pacific Mail directory and that George Gould is to be president once more and J. B. Houston vice president. Russell Sage and Jay Gould will go into the board of directors."

The Northwestern Roads.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—At the meeting of the executive officers of the roads composing the Northwestern committee of the Western Passenger association, held this afternoon, to discuss the passenger difficulties between Chicago and St. Paul, some interesting facts were brought out.

The revenue on through passenger traffic between Chicago and St. Paul amounts to about $2,000,000 a year; between Chicago and Omaha it is $1,750,000 more, and between Chicago and Kansas City something like $2,500,000, or a total of about $6,250,000 a year, all of which is put in jeopardy by any disturbance between any of the above points and Chicago. In this case this vast amount of traffic is jeopardized by the action of the older lines in attempting to fence in the old lines by means of their steamship and other secret contracts, which forced the St. Paul & Kansas City to throw on the market a big block of tickets at a cut rate or run its trains empty.

A Big Mortgage.

PERU, Ind., Nov. 19.—The largest mortgage ever recorded here was filed yesterday for $75,000,000 by the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis railway in favor of the New York Trust company, covering all operated and leased Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh.

A Tale of Track Building.

It is said that the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic will arrange this winter to complete the unfinished line from Iron river to its Superior terminals. The St. Louis Terminal company will have the tracks ready for use by the South Shore early next year.

IOWA BEET SUGAR.

Company Formed at Des Moines to Make Experiments.

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 18.—Among the industries which are attracting attention in the United States today is the manufacture of sugar from beets.

The success which has attended the manufacture of this sugar at other places has interested a party of Des Moines capitalists, and Iowa will have a beet sugar factory.

Articles of incorporation are filed with the county recorder to that effect. The style of the company is the Des Moines Beet Sugar company, and it is incorporated with a capital stock of $100,000. Two hundred lots have been purchased of the Chicago, St. Paul & Kansas City road, and the ground will be used to produce the beets. Mr. Miller will have direct supervision of the factory. He is a practical beet-sugar man and has been connected with many of the largest works of this kind in the United States. The company claims that they will be able the first year to furnish all the sugar that will be consumed in Des Moines and within a radius of fifty miles.

It is understood that the new company will furnish seed to Iowa farmers desiring it free for the first year in order to give the industry of raising beets a fair trial. Samples of sugar beets raised about four miles from this city are on exhibition now and they compare most favorably with those raised in Nebraska and California.

For big profits buy in 47-13 and 48-13. We have the largest exclusive list of any firm in the city. L. J. Morrish & Son, rooms 7 and 8, Fergusson block.

Fourie-n Children Poisoned.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 19.—Fourteen children in North Bradstock became violently ill yesterday afternoon after being fed with milk bought from a strange milkman. Some are yet in a dangerous condition. Five physicians are unanimous that the symptoms were those of poisoning. The children partook of the milk at dinner. The sickness was so violent in some of the cases as to almost throw them into convulsions.

Sault Passages.

NO SIDE SHOW.

The Alliance in Minnesota Will be no Tail to the Democratic-or Republican-Kite.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 19.—The democratic politicians, who have all along been banking on the support which they are to receive from the alliance members of the legislature, have been reckoning without their host. The alliance is not going to be run as a side-show to the great democratic menagerie this year, if the leader of the alliance party, S. M. Owen, has anything to say about it. Mr. Owen has placed himself on record as irrevocably opposed to any coalition or fusion with the democrats or any other party.

Mr. Owen also expresses himself as very much opposed to the caucus system, and he thinks that the alliance should not go into a democratic caucus for the purpose of organization, but should nominate a candidate for speaker and let the other parties do the same, leaving the session of the house to determine the result.

THE COURTS.

The Mechanics & Manufacturers bank of Pittsburgh has filed a suit against Hilton & Waugh to recover $7,128.40 alleged to be due on a promissory note.

A. P. Mintle has sued E. F. Mitchell to recover $511.72 on a promissory note.

In the case of Marie M. Boag, as executrix appellant, vs. John McKinley et al, respondents, the supreme court has issued a mandate affirming the order of the lower court.

In the case of John D. Howard, appellant, vs. the City of Duluth, respondent, an appeal from an order of the board of public works, the supreme court has issued a mandate, dismissing the appeal.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TOPICS.

The Twelfth of the Dozen Conferences Continues Its Session.

There was an increased attendance at the meetings of the Sunday school conference, today and the different topics were treated in an interesting and instructive manner.

The reports from counties showed that there are 64 Sunday schools in the district with a total membership of 4755, divided as follows: Itasca, one school, 35 scholars; Carlton, eleven schools, 475 scholars; Lake, three schools, 140 scholars; St. Louis county, Duluth city 30 schools, 3250 scholars; Vermilion range, 4 schools, 225 scholars; remainder of the county, 15 schools, 630 scholars.

This morning there were interesting addresses by Rev. G. H. MacClelland of Duluth, Rev. Craven of Two Harbors and others. This afternoon primary work was the principal topic of discussion. This evening there will be a song service followed by a paper by Mrs. J. E. Giegion on "Sunday School Temperance Work" followed by an address by Rev. Wallace Nutting of St. Paul.

BAD FOR MARQUETTE.

The Duluth & South Shore Railway to Ship Ore From Gladstone.

Though any assertion that the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railway is heading for Gladstone is promptly denied, a survey has been made, permanent stakes driven, the right-of-way cleared, and arrangements made for the building of the line. There is even some talk of much of the work being done this winter, so as to have the road in operation as soon as possible after the ore shipping season begins next year.

The route chosen lies between Palmer and Gladstone. The South Shore already has a branch line of five or six miles between Negaunee and Palmer, and this will be used as a part of the main line between Negaunee and Gladstone. From a point near the crossing of the Northwestern and Soo lines, several miles west of Gladstone, the tracks of the Soo road, which is now under the same management as the South Shore, will be used to enter Gladstone. The Soo ore docks and terminals at Gladstone will be used by the South Shore. From Palmer to the junction with the Soo road is a distance of but about forty miles, and the new line will touch the Chebire and Swanzy mines, which are located about twenty miles south of Negaunee, and which are now being wrought by strong companies.

The South Shore people, it is said, feel the need of a better lake port than Marquette. The Sault canal is a great drawback to the success of Marquette as an ore-shipping port. The largest cargoes cannot be taken down.

There is a railroad rumor that Manitoba is to be made a lake port for a through line between St. Paul and New York. It is said that boats are to ply between Green Bay and Manistee, making connections between the Green Bay, Winona & St. Paul and the Flint & Pere Marquette lines.

An Attempt for Stanley.

An attempt may be made by the Ladies Relief society to get the great African explorer Stanley to lecture here. Should the society decide to try it the event could only be brought about by subscription, as Stanley's manager charges $1000 for an evening's talk.

THE SCARE IS OVER

And a Short Lived Indian Scare it Was Indeed.

BOOMERS AND A TENDERFOOT AGENT.

What the Sioux Expect in Their Messiah and His Demoralizing Influence.

MANDAN, N. D., Nov. 19.—The Indian scare has subsided. The expected massacre by a band armed to the teeth and bent upon exterminating every white man in the vicinity did not take place.

While the excitement for a few hours was genuine, level-headed people compared it to the Messiah craze which affects many of the Sioux. Governor Miller participated in the panic by ordering forces to Bismarck and making preparations to secure arms and ammunition, and to call out the National guard.

The desertion of his post by a United States agent of the interior at Pine Ridge agency, coupled with the fact that there is considerable excitement among certain Indians on some of the agencies, is the cause of the excitement and talk about an uprising being imminent. The agent in question was sent to Pine Ridge agency about six months ago with no experience in dealing with Indians. The agent was entirely unequal to handling the refractory bucks who were crazed with the religious fever. Previous to his departure he wrote letters to some army officers calling attention to the impending danger, citing incidents where Indians had resisted arrest and openly threatened the agent, and advising the government as to the best mode of procedure in assembling an army on the ground at once to quell the impending strife.

The action of this agent in deserting his post after writing the communication had much to do with the spread of alarm among the white settlers.

The reports sent out from Bismarck that people are leaving their homes and that a general uprising of Indians is imminent is without foundation.

While many of the rich cattle men would like to have additional troops stationed in several posts in Montana, where their cattle might be ensured from molestation by the Indians, the necessity of the hour does not warrant it.

Governor Miller Fooled.

BISMARCK, N. D., Nov. 19.—Governor Miller yesterday sent 300 stands of arms and 6000 rounds of ammunition to Mandan and several companies of state troops are held in readiness for service. Very few soldiers are now kept in the forts in this neighborhood, and this fact being known to the settlers they were quickly alarmed.

It is reported that the Messiah craze has struck the Indians at Fort Totten and they are inclined to be ugly. The white residents of the fort object to the departure of the troops for the West. It is reported that 100 armed bucks were seen crossing the railroad track at Minnewaukan, from the Turtle mountains to join the Sioux at Standing Rock, but this is hardly credited since that number of Indians could not leave the reservations without its being known to the authorities.

Troops from Fort Omaha, Fort Robinson, Fort Niobrara, Neb., and a pack train from Fort Russell, Wyo., have been ordered out to hold Indians in check at Pine Ridge and Rosebud agencies, and they are already well on the way. In twenty-four hours it is probable that all points will be well guarded. Though the measures so far taken are all precautionary it has been deemed best to be prepared for an emergency.

The Messiah Craze.

Both the Indians on the Nebraska reservations and those in Dakota are affected by the "Messiah" craze. The whites and half-breeds, as well as the peaceably disposed or "progressive" Indians, as they are called, claim to be waiting with the utmost anxiety, the murderous outbreak likely to occur at any moment of these dupes of the mysterious prophesies who have been making their appearance among the Sioux, Cheyennes, Comanches and Utes for the past six months from nobody knows where. They are quick enough to say themselves that they have come from the happy hunting grounds, which are soon to be made manifest on earth in a new millennium of Indian bliss, fatal instantly to the white man, and all his inventions, so potent as at once to restore to earth every red man who has died since the first fell paleface set foot on North America.

One or two of the prophets went back to Rosebud and Pine Ridge agencies some weeks ago, saying that they had found the Red Christ of the Wind River mountains clad in white and seated above the snow line and surrounded by beauteous young squaws who kept his head well garlanded with flowers. They, like the other prophets, put on a fine show of mystery and awe when they speak of their Messiah, and announce his time for inaugurating the millennium as beginning when the young grass begins to bud in the early spring.

That a great deal of rot has been written about the ghost dance with which the Sioux are invoking the coming of the Messiah, under the direction of these so-called prophets, there can be no doubt. The prophets are a lot of lousy scoundrels who are either in the pay of the Mormons or are working on the superstitions of the Indians for the sake of the perquisites attached to their supposed dignity. That the so-called Messiah, whose incarnation was so promptly announced last spring as having been made visible in the mountains of Montana, is a shrewd renegade white man a great many well informed people seem to believe.

A good many of the more ignorant Indians, not only among the Sioux but in the Cheyenne, Comanche and Ute bands as well, do believe that there is a supernatural power behind the personality of the so-called Messiah whom they of course have never seen, but from whom they hear new "revelations" every week or two through the prophets who, as messengers from the coming Christ, live on the fat of Indian land and foment the fanaticism of the tribes to as high a pitch as possible.

The Sioux apostles on each of these returns from communion with the Messiah call for special ceremonies in the ghost dances, which have been in progress now for several months near many of the agencies. They formally announce that the end of the white man's world is coming, and that when the white troops come to break up the ghost dances and drive the red men back to their reservation the rifle will fall apart and the bullets prove as harmless as pellets of feathers. By the time the white men, whose numbers the apostles declare to their dupes have been greatly reduced of late by illness, come to close quarters with the warriors, many of whom are now in war paint, as if to be ready for the call to arms, a deluge of boiling mud, mingled with red-hot stones, will fall on the whites and annihilate them. The Messiah is said, by the way, to have made his very first appearance in the southeastern corner of Montana, next to the geyser region of Yellowstone Park. The deluge of hot mud mixed with stones is, on a small scale, no rarity in that part of the country. Its promulgation as a part of the new religion would naturally be suggested to a cunning mind by the Yellowstone geysers.

The next important declaration or prophecy the apostles make is that the deluge of hot mud and stones shall not only smother the white army, but will also overwhelm the whole country and bury the white man and all his evil works under thirty feet of boiling soil. What is to become of the faithful red men? They are asked by the prophets to believe that they will not be smothered beneath this new stratum of the earth's surface like the hated pale faces, but will actually succeed in wriggling through the mud to the surface of the new earth, where they will see a new heaven above them, a new crop of luxuriant buffalo grass about them, and such herds of antelope, buffalo and wild horses as haven't been known on the great plains for at least 100 years. The gun and pistol will have disappeared forever, and the bow, quiver and lance will resume their place in the Indian armory.

The more one examines the new creed the more likely it seems to be the fruit of some renegade white man's ignorant audacity. Here are its articles: The resurrection of the dead Indians; the obliteration of white men and their civilization under a deluge of mud; the restoration of the virgin prairie with the grass that clothed it and the game that roamed over it before the coming of the paleface.

One of the prophets is reported to have told Maj. McLaughlin at the Standing Rock agency some weeks ago that he saw the prophet in heaven, having attained the celestial abodes by climbing through the holes in the sky which we call the stars. The distance of the renegade white man now believed to be their Messiah, from the prophets, who are his tools and perhaps his dupes in some cases, is so great that the prophets' revelations differ with different localities, and one of them remembers his "revelations" in one way and one in another.

The consequences of these nefarious teachings, which are leading the masses of the Indians more and more to debauchery and crime, are disastrous all around:

1. The abandonment of individual dwellings for the old tribal encampment.
2. The ghost dance, which is kept up at regular intervals in each encampment.
3. The slaughter of all the farming and breeding animals and fowls given to the Indians to encourage them to individual efforts.
4. The discarding of civilized ways, manners and clothes, the abandonment of the schools and the burning of their Bibles and books.
5. Drunken orgies and disgusting debauchery at night in the encampment, under the cloak of the so-called ghost dance.

The Indians are Innocent.

BISMARCK, N. D., Nov. 19.—The Bismarck Tribune this morning contains about two columns of "Indian scare" news, but says there is no substantial foundation for the wild rumors of an uprising at Standing Rock. The body of the article runs along in serious strain, but the head lines are rather satirical, seemingly treating the whole matter as a joke touched off by newspaper correspondents at Mandan. Some of the head lines read thus: "All the time the poor Indians are living peacefully in their reservation and waiting patiently for next nation day, unaware of the awful outbreak." Nevertheless, there is no end of excitement in this vicinity, particularly at Mandan, which is supposed to be the seat of war. Half a dozen newspaper correspondents from the East arrived in Mandan today.

Capt. Gregg, Governor Miller's private secretary, was busy all night gathering up all available arms and ammunition which was sent to Mandan this morning. A large number of families came over to Bismarck last night to remain in this city till the excitement is over. Several families left Mandan for Minneapolis on account of the scare. There is no doubt of their alarm being genuine. Telegraphic connection with Maj. McLaughlin at Standing Rock was had at regular intervals all night, reporting everything quiet and orderly on the reservation. Communication this morning reveals the same state of affairs. The opinion of conservative minds is that the Indians never dreamed of an outbreak.

ESCAPED WITH THE FUNDS.

The Tailors' Union Looking for its Treasurer.

CLAIMED AS A POSTOFFICE ROBBER.

Arrested in Duluth this Morning on Notice From a Michigan Town.

J. S. Daly, a coatmaker, who has been employed by J. C. Schaefer for some time has not been seen since Monday, and not only his wife, but the members of the Tailors union are anxious to learn of his whereabouts.

He was secretary of the union and the members had always had the greatest confidence in him. On Monday he secured a check from one of his fellow-workmen under the pretense of taking it to the bank to get it cashed, a custom that prevails among the men on salary day. He probably got the cash, but he immediately disappeared.

It is understood that he carried away some of the funds of the union, but the full amount of his peculations could not have exceeded $30. It is also reported that he took some of his wife's jewelry. It is believed that he went away with the intention of returning to England. The matter has been reported to the police.

A Postoffice Thief.

John Conlan, a tall, dark complexioned young man, 23 years old and weighing 175 pounds was arrested this morning as he alighted from the South Shore train by Detective Hayden on a telegram from the state's attorney at Grand Rapids, Mich. He is suspected of robbing the postoffice at Kingsley, Mich., on Nov. 10. A hardware store was burglarized of a quantity of knives, revolvers, and other cutlery at the same time. Conlan acknowledges that he was in Kingsley at the time of the robbery and that he was talking to the postmaster, but that he knows nothing more about the matter. He looks like anything else than a criminal.

Following Fool Foreign Fashions.
BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 19.—The story is in general circulation that two students of Johns Hopkins university are preparing to fight a duel near Druid Hill park early Saturday morning. The challenged is a Southerner and the challenger belongs to one of Baltimore's best known families. The difficulty grew out of an apparently innocent remark dropped by the Southerner regarding the sister of his opponent.

FAIR LADIES.

Board of Lady Managers Organize; Non-Partisan W. C. T. U. in its First Annual Session.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—The first formal meeting of the board of lady managers of the World's Columbian exposition is in progress today in the hall of Kinsleys. Everyone of the states and all but one of the territories have their representatives. As something of an example to the national commission proper, the ladies decided to open each day's session with prayer, and Mrs. M. R. M. Wallace was selected to offer the invocation. There are about twenty candidates for the presidency, but it is thought that either Mrs. Potter Palmer or Miss Frances Dickinson will be successful. If the board adopts the views of a recent caucus of the local managers, masculine representatives of the press will be barred and only lady reporters admitted. The sessions will be intermingled with drives about the city, receptions, banquets, etc.

The Non-Partisan Union.

ALLIANCE, Pa., Nov. 19.—This city today welcomes the delegates to the first annual convention of the Non-Partisan National Women's Christian Temperance union. The convention will be called to order this afternoon by Mrs. Ellen J. Phinney of Cleveland. In her annual address she will say that the reasons which led to the formation of a separate organization are still in existence, although the non-partisan movement has resulted in the parent society and many of its auxiliaries repudiating partisanship in their official utterances, the experiences of the year had simply given additional demonstration of the necessity of a new rallying center for the gospel temperance women of the nation.

FOR ATTEMPTED MURDER.

On Trial for a Daring Job of Shooting.

JACKSONVILLE, Ill., Nov. 19th.—The trial of Nathan Posten, colored, charged with an attempt to murder Miss Frankie Keener in January last, is on for trial in this circuit court today. Posten has been in the employ of Miss Keener for a number of years, and assisted in conducting a grain and cattle business. Their relations were such as to attract some comment, and in July, 1889, a White Cap raid was made on Miss Keener's residence, but the raiders were repulsed. After this adventure Posten left town and made Mount Pleasant, Ia., his place of abode, where shortly afterwards Miss Keener shipped all her live stock and other property.

In January, 1890, Posten returned and gained admission to the house during her absence, and when reaching her home in company with Ralph Bancroft, Posten stepped from the house and immediately began shooting at the couple. One of his shots took effect in Bancroft's arm and another in his right hip. Miss Keener was slightly wounded in the left breast.

DESERVES HANGING.

An Unprovoked Piece of the Most Horrible Brutality.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 19.—A horrible tale of brutality has come to Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Smythe from the great camp of laborers engaged on the new water works conduit.

For some time Mrs. John Callahan, wife of a cripple, has had the boarding privileges of the camp, most of the laborers living in tents. For some reason John Fisher, a fireman, had conceived a hatred against the woman and her children. While little Johnny Callahan was playing about the camp Fisher took a shovel of coals from the furnace and threw them upon the boy's back, literally burying him in fire.

Had it not been for prompt assistance the child would probably have been instantly burned to death. The flesh is all burned from the boy's back and he will surely die. A warrant was issued against Fisher.

Vigorous Men and Women.

The vigorous are they who pay attention to the laws of health, of which one of the foremost is, take care of your digestion. Should a temporary attack of the enemy, dyspepsia, surprise you, foil his subsequent assaults with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. From the stomach come the fundamental supplies which minister to vigor, and, thoroughly transmitted into blood actively circulated, are the maintenance of the system. Pallid in countenance, nervous, attenuated in figure, appetiteless, poor sleepers, are the dyspeptic. Reinforced and built up by the great stomachic, the wan and the thin increase in color and bulk, appetite improves, nervous symptoms disappear, sleep grows tranquil and refreshing, and the intransigence of mind and despondency notable in invalids gives place to light heartedness, a capacity for ray enjoyment of the good things of this life. Use the Bitters for malarial, bilious, rheumatic and kidney troubles.

VAN HOUTEN'S COCOA

"BEST & GOES FARTHEST."

Now that its manufacturers are drawing the attention of the American public to this first and ever since its invention, the best of all cocoas, it will soon be appreciated here as well as elsewhere all over the world. All that the manufacturers request is simply one trial, or, still better, a comparative test with whatever other cocoa it may be; then VAN HOUTEN'S COCOA itself will convince every one of its great superiority. It is because of this superiority that the English paper Health, says: "Once tried, always used." To avoid the evil effects of Tea and Coffee, use constantly VAN HOUTEN'S COCOA, which is a STRENGTHENER of the NERVES and a refreshing and nourishing beverage. [2]

A GREAT DISCOVERY.

The most notable advance in the science of medicine that has ever been made is the result of the specialist investigations of the present generation, tracing the cause of diseases to the presence and multiplication of fungous spores or of animal bacilli. The researches of Valle in Mexico and Freire in Brazil in analyzing and combating the scourge of yellow fever have been followed with the keenest interest by the health and quarantine boards of our own and other countries, and it is now deemed highly probable at least that diphtheria, typhoid fever and other of the most deadly plagues which afflict the world are due to the entrance and development of living poisonous germs in our bodies.

With all due credit to the great work of Pasteur and other bacteriologists of world wide reputation, there is no investigator in this line in the world who today commands so high a degree of confidence as the young Prussian—Koch, whose recent announcement of the discovery of the cause and probable cure of consumption has attracted universal interest. Some time ago he succeeded in ascertaining and demonstrating that tuberculosis, or as it is commonly called, consumption is a "germ disease," caused by the entrance and reproduction of microscopic living organisms. From then on his efforts have been directed toward the discovery of a cure, of something that would remove or destroy these deadly germs without injury to the patient.

By transplanting germs from human sufferers to the bodies of guinea pigs he produced tuberculosis practically identical with the human disease, and then pursued his experiments in germ destruction by practicing on living and dead tissues until by means of a lymph prepared from certain metallic salts, and administered by injection under the skin, he succeeded, as is now declared, in killing the germs and checking the progress of the disease without any injurious effect on the system. In fact it is stated that the treatment greatly aids the healing processes and fortifies the system against any further attack of the germs.

This accomplished to his satisfaction, he transferred his experiments to human patients, operating with their full consent upon sufferers from pulmonary consumption in the charity hospital at Berlin. It is authoritatively affirmed that these operations have been attended with invariable success, and that a number of patients have already been discharged as entirely cured. It appears that the German government is already satisfied of the certain value of this process of treatment, as it has directed its extension throughout all the national hospitals. It is not pretended, of course, that this cure will restore a lung which has been destroyed, but if it will preserve and repair what remains of the tissues, and expel the disease in its early stages, it will be one of the greatest medical benefactions which the world has known, and the name of Koch will be ranged beside the immortal few whom the tribute of humanity delights to honor.

The fact that during the last year not less than 13,000,000 acres were added to the public domain is a straw in showing the immensity of the nation's area. Of lands actually acquired, about 9,000,000 acres, in North and South Dakota, were secured from the Sioux, and about 4,000,000 acres from the Chippewas in Minnesota. The ratification by congress of pending agreements will throw open to settlement 600,000 acres in North Dakota, 600,000 acres in South Dakota, 1,065,000 acres in Colorado and 941,000 acres in the new territory of Oklahoma, making a total of more than 17,000,000 acres.

It is an ill wind that blows nobody good and so it will appear again if Jay Gould comes in on the wings of the storm as the owner or controller of a complete transcontinental line. This has been his aim for some time and there is reason to believe, in spite of the silence or denials of those interested, that the irrepressible Jay bird has made his way into the nests of the Richmond Terminal and the Atchison & Topeka. If the event shall show that he has scooped enough stock to give his Missouri Pacific an assured outlet east and west to the seaboard, Jay will be the king bird of the railway magnates of this country. The Richmond Terminal connects with the Missouri Pacific at Memphis and covers a large section of the South with outlets at Norfolk and Savannah. The Atchison will link the Missouri Pacific with the Pacific coast by way of the St. Louis and San Francisco and the Southern Pacific railroads. The president of the Richmond Terminal will not deny that Jay has a grip on his nest, and the denial of the managers of the Atchison is not as convincing as Jay's rivals would like. It may be that Jay is not on top as yet, but the comprehension of all the railways of the country in a few great transcontinental systems is the order of the coming day beyond question, and it is only a question of time when one of these is gripped by Jay Gould.

The Herald is not wasting any breath in blowing bubbles which burst in the air, but is going ahead every day in solid paid advertising and circulation as its receipt books will conclusively show, and intends to keep ahead in the march of improvement. It hails progress all round the head of the lakes as progress that counts in one way or another for the building up of Duluth, but it hunts for no bolster in Superior. Both of its feet are planted squarely on this side of the bay and it is devoted to Duluth first, last, and all the time. That is the only stand which can be maintained without a slip or a wriggle, and Duluth wants neither in its service.

SEEN AND HEARD.

The near approach of Christmas day, that holy time of joy and gladness for all, the day that is yearned for by the little ones, with hearts full of questioning delight, has been brought to my mind by a little letter taken by one of the carriers out of a street box on one of the hillside streets. It was simply a sheet of paper, unsealed and addressed only, in a corner, to "Mr. Sander Clause." The little writer had written it in such grievous haste that she had even forgotten her signature and so if Sander Clause should have got the letter he would never, never, have guessed where to send the package in answer. So Assistant Postmaster Henry has given me the note, to print it here, so that the real Santa Claus may see it and give the girlie what she wants so badly. Here it is:—"Dear old Sander Clause, I wish you would bring me the doll carriage that is in the first dry goods store, on the right hand side of superior street. Look in the window, I wish you would please bring me a pretty doll with long curly hair. And a nice little ring, and a cradle to fit my doll, and my stockings full of candy, and nuts, and a wee little doll in the end of my stocking cause there's a poor little girl lives near here, and I want to give her some candy too and I doll, and that will be all for this time, good-by for this time."

Now if Santa Claus doesn't inquire 'round of the good little girls he knows and find out what generous thing wrote that bundle of requests, and give her what she wants, I shall lose all the respect for the composite him that I ever had.

If you happen to be buying hot chestnuts of any of the chestnut vendors, you should scrutinize your change very closely. If you don't you may walk away with a "queer" nickel or dime. There's a vast amount of this counterfeit small currency in the hands of these fellows, and they are showing in disposing of it. I caught one of these rascals trying to palm off a bogus nickel on me yesterday. In size it was a trifle smaller than the good coin. I discovered the deception before I had taken many steps, and returned. At first he pretended to be at a loss to understand me, but when I said that I would call a policeman and have him arrested, how he picked up his smoking trappings and made a bee line for the Superior short line depot.

"I think this Indian scare is a great big advertising scheme," said an ex-Dakotan. "The Indians have been too long subjected to the influences of civilization to have the will to go on the war path again. They know too well the power of the army, and know also, that any murders they may commit will be met with hanging. The Mandan country has run down lately, and the citizens are evidently taking this means to create interest in the town."

Get well and stay well. But how shall we do it? Listen my friend, and the secret I'll tell. Though, for that matter, there's no secret in it. As many a man understands very well. If you're low-spirited, gloomy, distressed, if nothing tastes good and your nights bring no rest, if your stomach is foul and your mouth seems much fouler, And so cross you become that they call you a "growler." Be sure that the trouble is due to your liver. And the blood is as sluggish as sometimes a river. Becomes when it's filled with all manner of stuff. Clear it out and the current runs smoothly enough. Go to the drug store and get a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the great blood purifier and liver invigorator. It is a sure cure for the low spirits and general depression a man feels when his liver is inactive and his blood impure. This remedy makes a man well.

THEIR INNERMOST THOUGHTS.

Dr. A. W. Ringland: It is strange that a city which contains over one hundred Greek letter men can hardly call a party together for an evening with any other entertainment than cards, dancing or the bottle. But it has been true of Duluth.

Detective Hayden: There's been a gang of thieves in Superior for some time, but they haven't bothered Duluth very much. There's been quite a number of robberies here in the past three weeks, but they have been scattering.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Chinese pheasants were introduced into the vast forests of Oregon ten years ago, and now it is estimated that there are 1,000,000 of them in the country.

Notwithstanding his advanced years, Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes still receives friends and strangers on the afternoons which he especially reserves for that purpose.

Col. T. W. Higginson has been confined to his room in Cambridge, Mass., for some time, but he is not seriously ill, but finds it necessary to be very careful of his health.

The Third Avenue railroad, New York, will substitute cable for horse power, and lay the requisite eight miles of the system in a year. The contractor is William Wharton, Jr., of Philadelphia.

Secretary of War Proctor, bought in Montpelier, Vt., last week a pair of beautiful Morgan horses for the President. They were owned in Plainfield, Vt., and shown at the recent state fair at White River Junction, where they attracted much attention by their style and action and on account of their close matching.

The wind will find its occupation around the supreme court of the United States gone pretty soon. Justice Brewer has joined the monastic majority of justices who believe the dignity of an occupant of the bench is enhanced by a smooth cheek and chin. Aside from the flowing mustache of the chief justice there is nothing re-aining to provoke the sighing wind but the moth-eaten hirsutes of Justice Lamar.

THE PRESS.

Verndale Journal: It is unfortunate that the McKinley bill was passed at so late a day, but it was not passed in vain, and the renewed strength gained by this rebuff will give us another republican administration. If the leaders have made errors, and suffered temporary defeat, it is nothing new. They will come to the front again, and permanent good will be born of this checking of the tide of national progress.

Minneapolis Tribune: Since the enactment of the McKinley bill it has been discovered that California champagne is as good as the French article. As any job office will turn out French labels cheap for cash, there need be no fear of great suffering among the democrats this winter.

Mankato Free Press: There is no doubt about the English government being able to dictate the policy of their American allies, but the American people will prove themselves equal to the occasion in 1892. The temporary defeat of the republican party will only gird it on to more glorious achievements in the future, and bring the members together with a solidly little counted on by the opposition in their present delirious state of exuberance.

Fergus Falls Journal: There seems to be a general rejoicing over Donnelly's election to the senate. There will be music in the air. It is said that there are several alliance senators who have incurred his enmity and he will flay them as well as some of his republican and democratic foes.

Slightly Ironical.

West Shore: The solicitude of foreign statesmen for the unhappy condition of this country under the new tariff bill is beautiful to witness, and marks the dawning of the era of the great brotherhood of man.

DISCUSSING LEGISLATION.

An Important Session of the Council for Tonight.

CONTRACTORS AND CANAL TUNNEL.

An Example to be Made of Those Behind; Discuss Several Measures.

The council will hold another informal executive session this evening. The purpose of the meeting is to decide upon the policy to be pursued in regard to a number of important matters.

Among them is the question of enforcing the penalty to be imposed upon delinquent contractors. There are a number of contracts which are from twenty to sixty days behind time and the council will decide tonight whether it shall make examples of some of these contractors in the hope that it will have a good effect on next year's contractors.

Another question to be discussed will be that of a tunnel under the canal, it having been decided to talk over the matter in committee of the whole. It is not improbable that the Gas & Water company will receive a little attention also.

The committee of attorneys to whom was referred the matter of amending the municipal court act, will hold a meeting next Tuesday morning. Among other changes will be a provision whereby judgment may be taken by default, a change which the attorneys will greatly appreciate.

THE WEST.

General News Notes of West Duluth and the West End for a Day.

The West Duluth Land company has put out a new map of West Duluth which gives a better conception of the bay front than anything yet published. It gives the full line of the Duluth Terminal Railroad company, also its yards, the street car line as now contemplated, the buildings of the Marinette company's plant, and the business buildings of the town. Grassy point is finely outlined, the Huntress & Brown property shown to good advantage, the coming Mitchell & McClure plant occupies its place. The showing is an excellent one.

Hustling Contractors. The fine weather of the last few days has given the street contractors new courage, and they have put on extra men and teams, so that some of them now have a larger force than ever. Culbranson Bros. are employing every man and team they can get on the Grand avenue job, and say that with ten days good weather they can complete the grading and paving of that street and leave it in fine condition for winter travel.

West Duluth Notes. The social of the Epworth league at the Methodist church last evening was very much enjoyed by a large audience who were first entertained by a literary and musical program after which a general good time was had, playing games, etc. All parts of the program were well carried out, and several deserve special mention, among them, a solo, "The Bridge," by Mr. Birdsell, a selection by the quartette and the reading by Misses Day and Seymour. Quite a large number of young people from Oneco were in attendance.

D. B. Brown, for four years past station agent at Oneco, was in the village yesterday showing quite a number of Wisconsin pearls which he had secured himself on a late trip to the fishing grounds. He claims that they were worth from $100 to $200 each, the last one being very brilliant and of the fine shade. Mr. Brown has resigned his position with the railroad and is succeeded by Mr. Holden.

L. W. Pettyjohn of Minneapolis, representing the Pettyjohn California Breakfast Food company, is in town stopping a few days with his father-in-law, A. G. Rand.

W. K. Ogden has moved into his new house on First avenue west, near the bridge.

John M. Caplis has returned from a few days' business trip to the Twin cities.

The French residents had a dance on Second street south last evening which is reported to have been a success.

Worrell Clarkson has received a very nice Diebold safe which makes a fine addition to the appearance of his office which was first class before.

D. R. Shepherd, formerly of Buffalo, N. Y., was in town today looking for a suitable store for a carpet and house-furnishing goods' establishment.

R. C. Brophy is expected home this evening from an extended business trip to Dakota.

Brophy, Perry & Hall received a fine style outfit today from the John Deere company as a sample of goods they will keep for sale this winter.

The very neat row of cottages built on First street south by Dr. Rockwell are now about finished and ready.

WEST END.

A representative of one of the biggest manufacturing concerns at the West End says the present stringency in the money markets of the East if continued much longer will have a tendency to cripple all such business as theirs, but not as much as it will affect speculative branches.

Mrs. T. M. Findley of the West End read a very interesting paper on the subject "Primary Methods of Teaching" before the Union Sabbath School convention today.

C. O. Nelson is out again after a week's very serious illness.

A young child of Harry Peck at West Park has a bad case of scarlet fever.

Benson & Lott at their new place near Twentieth avenue depot have added a lunch counter which will be a convenience for people who get on or stop off at that point.

Blazijeski & Nork are closing up their business on Twenty-fourth avenue and will be succeeded by M. Murziof.

Stock in the Peoples Investment company is becoming quite popular with people at the West End. One party sold fifty shares this week with no effort.

The Estey society will give a dinner on Thanksgiving day in Porter Bros' new store on Superior street.

A BIG BRIDGE.

Plans Considered for the Third St. Louis River Draw-bridge, Below Fond du Lac.

The Duluth, Red Wing & Southern road, the St. Louis and New Duluth Land companies have begun preliminary arrangements for building the bridge across St. Louis river between the townships of St. Louis and New Duluth. An act of congress will of course be necessary to legalize the building of the structure, and a bill will be prepared and entered at the coming session.

Chief Engineer Russell of the Red Wing road, was in consultation with Major Jas. B. Quinn, United States army chief of lake works, this morning about the bridge. At the river between St. Louis and New Duluth the navigable channel is about 300 feet wide, necessitating a combination of truss span and draw bridge that length. From bank to bank the approaches would be something like 3000 feet in length, making a structure nearly two-thirds of a mile long.

The cost of such a bridge would hardly be less than $150,000. General Manager H. F. Whitcomb, head of the operating department of the Milwaukee, Lake Shore & Western, got in this morning by special car over the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic. He was accompanied by Mr. Biddle, a director of the road. It is a current rumor in railroad circles that the Milwaukee & St. Paul company is after the Lake Shore, and has practically closed a deal to that effect. The Lake Shore officials said they were here simply on a tour of inspection, and would say but little regarding the reported deal.

At the Imperial. The Imperial mill will have its first lot of machinery in readiness for the resumption of business by Dec. 1, when it will grind 2500 barrels daily until next summer's jump to 5000 barrels a day. The new 400,000 bushel elevator was opened and put in operation yesterday, when about 10,000 bushels of wheat was received. Today 25,000 bushels has been unloaded.

Good Hunting Hereabouts. An unusually large number of deer are being brought into the city this season. They are in splendid condition.

Foolish Martyrs. There are martyrs and martyrs. Some were wise in the loftiest, some are silly in the most improvident sense. The word improvident exactly applies to the latter class, since they neglect to provide against threatened danger. We cannot, however, but respect them.

Among the silliest are martyrs to rheumatism, who might have prevented daily and nightly recurring torture by the early use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a blood purifier more efficient in removing the virus of this complaint than from the circulation than any thus far brought to the notice of the general community and the medical profession. It promotes greater activity of the kidneys, the channel through which blood impurities, productive of rheumatism, gout and dropsy, are principally expelled, and it imparts a degree of vigor to digestion and assimilation which has a most favorable bearing on the general health. It also remedies biliousness, kidney troubles and malaria.

FOR HOURS (1 ASE.

A Light Weight Bout of Importance at St. Paul.

FOR A DULUTH PHILOSOPHIC CLUB.

Several Interesting Local Social Notes, as Well as Telegraphed Sporting Events.

St. Paul, Nov. 19.—In addition to the glove bout between Mahan and Griffin, before the Twin City Athletic club, Nov. 23, the club is endeavoring to arrange two other events, both of which will be of more than ordinary interest to admirers of such contests.

The first of these will probably come off the latter part of January, and be between Tom Hogan of this city, formerly of San Francisco, and George Sidons of Grand Rapids, Mich. The fight will be for a trophy. Hogan has signed the articles, which have been forwarded to Sidons. The men are to weigh in at 122 pounds.

The other and the more important event given under the auspices of the club, if arranged, as it probably will be, is to be a bout between McCarty and Dixon. For a contest between these two noted boxers the Puritan club of New York city some time ago offered a purse of $2000 to the winner, whereupon the Twin City Athletic club raised the offer to $2500. Fearing this might not be sufficient to secure the set-to the manager of the club, by telegraph yesterday, raised his own bid $500, or to $3000. It is hoped and believed this liberality will capture the famous lightweight.

College Football.
MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 19.—This afternoon, called at 3 o'clock, will be played a very interesting game of football between eleven of the University and Minnesota clubs. This season's play of the University team has demonstrated the fact that it is strong at all points and that it puts up a stiff game. But the Minnesota team is composed of old college players of the East, many of them having been connected with some of the strongest teams of those organizations. Play will consist of forty-five and thirty-five minute halves.

Schaefer Blowing.
NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Jesse Schaefer, the billiard player, and young Ives have arrived in town and were met at the station by Maurice Daly and Randolph Heiser. Schaefer began his practice in Daly's rooms in Brooklyn, while Slossen begins his regular practice tonight. Schaefer said today that he was willing to wager $1000 to $900 that he would win the championship, and added that he would give a commission to anyone who would place such a bet for him.

A Football Match.
The newly organized Duluth football team will play a match with the Rangers of Minneapolis on Thanksgiving day at that city. A number of Duluthians will accompany the team to Minneapolis.

The Bell.
A thousand and more people applauded "The Midnight Bell" at the Temple last night. To those who had seen "The Soldier," "Rag Baby," "Bunch of Keys" and the other Hoyt pieces, the bell came as a surprise, it is so unlike anything Hoyt has ever before written. In this he has left the field of musical farce-comedy and built up a play on legitimate lines, taking the idiosyncrasies of the inhabitants of a country settlement as material. In some respects the comedy is disappointing, although had Hoyt never written any other piece the bell would be classed high. Some of the lines drag a little and the first act, though it merely seems to introduce the principal characters, could be improved. Miss Haswell left the pleasant impression upon the minds of her auditors. Her faithfulness to detail in the characterization of her part was marked. Frank Lane was good in the role of the city lawyer and George Richards made the most out of his part as Deacon Tidd, but Eugene Canfield, the country lad caught and held the good will of the audience from the start. Fanny McIntyre has a quiet, musing part its excellence almost lost sight of among the boisterousness of the other roles.

"Fauvette"
Tomorrow night the Boston Ideal opera company opens its yearly engagement in Duluth at Temple Opera, and it is to give as long a stand here as in St. Paul or Minneapolis. Col. Foster brings the company here after a half season of success. The opera ran 100 nights in Boston. The ideals are among the few companies carrying its own orchestra. There are sixty people with the organization, among the principals being George Wilson, formerly with the Casino company, T. Mack Blair, seen here with Nellie McHenry, and a young and charming prima donna.

Julia Marlowe Dying.
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19.—Miss Julia Marlowe, the actress, is today lying at the point of death with her only hope of life depending on an almost hopeless surgical operation. Miss Marlowe was first taken sick with typhoid fever three weeks ago, and on last Friday passed the crisis. On Sunday the glands in her throat began to swell and abscesses formed, from which blood-poisoning set in. Her physicians have hesitated to operate upon the abscesses as she would not be able to survive it. This afternoon they will hold a consultation, and as she will inevitably die if the operation is not performed, they will carry it out.

A Philosophic Club.
A movement is on foot for the organization of a literary and philosophic club, which promises to be of great interest. Just what the name of the new organization will be has not yet been decided. It may take some such name as the Duluth Round Table and thus give itself the widest scope for action. There are a great many people in Duluth who are graduates of literary and scientific institutions in the East and abroad, and have worked in such clubs before. It is just possible, if this club enlists the people that it hopes to, that course of lectures on a wide range of subjects will be delivered. However this is not a lecture bureau, but an organization contemplated for mutual improvement as well as public benefit.

A learned gentleman has been thought of who can be secured to deliver a course of lectures on "Evolution." It has been suggested that a course of lectures on "Shakespeare" would be very acceptable. Then there are other lines of thought which popular lecturers of the land could discourse upon profitably and with great interest.

A meeting will be held on next Monday evening to discuss plans of organization, a fuller notice of which will be given in The Herald. The prime movers in this matter are Miss Haire, Miss Hardy, Mr. Olaf Ellison, Dr. Ringland and Eliot Lord.

The Thistle Club.
At a meeting of the Clan Stewart, the Thistle Literary and Amusement club was organized with the following officers: President, Colin Thomson; vice president, Thomas Clark; secretary, Alex. MacRae; treasurer, John Page; program committee, Simon Clark, A. S. Wilson and G. F. McKenzie.

Young People's Social.
Next Tuesday, Nov. 25, the young people of the Catholic church give a social at the Catholic Association hall. A literary and musical program will be furnished, also refreshments during an intermission. Bishop McGillick will give a talk. Admission including all the entertainment of the evening, 50c.

Thanksgiving.
Do you know it is less than two weeks to Thanksgiving? If you have forgotten it, your wife and children have not. "She" has already made up a mental program for the dinner that day, and interviewed frequently the butcher, baker and grocer, while the "kids" have nightly dreams of pie and pudding in mountains. This is on the supposition that your Thanksgiving will be spent at home. But if you have an old father and mother somewhere, why not visit them then? Your wife would like to go to the home of her girlhood and sit with father and mother, brothers and sisters, in the evening twilight from the old hearthstone. Why don't you drop business for a few days and take her to a family reunion? Do so, and remember that wherever you may wish to go, "The Burlington," either by its own line or its connections, reaches any city, town or village you can name. It is the fast line, the best line, the comfortable line, the vestibuled line, the dining car line, the direct line. For any information, apply to nearest railroad agent, or write to V. J. C. Kenyon, general passenger agent, C. B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

TWENTY THOUSAND GONE.

The Dakotas Have Lost That Many People This Year.

BUT THE WORST APPEARS TO BE OVER.

In the Red River Valley There is a Different Sort of Exodus.

"I believe they are down to hard pan in the Dakotas and will improve in their condition after this," said Jacob Laux of The Lake Superior Catholic, who returned this morning from a long trip west, south and north through the Dakotas.

"Commissioner of Immigration Hagerty, whom I met on this trip, told me that he estimated, taking North and South Dakota together, that 20,000 people had gone this season. These are nearly all farmers in the central belts of the states or along the Jim river. South Dakota has suffered most by this emigration. Where do the people go? Mostly they tell me, west to the coast, and a good share of the increase in population of Washington and Oregon is from the Dakotas.

"At all the little towns one can see the difference in population, in one village a railroad man pointed out thirteen families had left. I believe, however, this emigration is about over. The towns are suffering, Fargo perhaps of North Dakota, places least of all. The Red River valley is rich, farmers are prosperous all along it to Grand Forks and beyond, but even the centers there feel the destitution beyond in a sort of reflex way. Of all the cities I saw on this trip Lisbon appears to be the bluest. Their crop about them has failed too often.

"I spent last Thursday in Mandan. At that time there was not a semblance of an Indian scare, it has all been worked up since. From what I saw I don't think much of it.

"As I said the farmers along the valley are prosperous. They are leaving the country, too, in hundreds, but for a different reason. Trains to the East are crowded with farmers and their families going back to their old homes for holiday visits. It is the same on the Canadian side the line, the Canadian Pacific railroad is taking a great many back to Ontario to make fall visits with the old folks."

More Train Service.

There is a call for better train service on the Wisconsin division of the Northern Pacific from Duluth to Ashland. The Ashland Press says: An afternoon train to Duluth from this city is a necessity. The present accommodations are by no means what we are entitled to and what we should have. If the Northern Pacific people would run the Central's passenger, arriving from the south at 4:15 p. m. through to Duluth, and run a train from Duluth in the morning, arriving in Ashland in time to connect with the 1 o'clock train for the south, passenger business on this division would double itself within thirty days. There are almost any number of traveling men as well as a large number of our townspeople seriously inconvenienced on account of the bad facilities afforded for going to Duluth. We must have an afternoon train to Duluth.

Chief Hafe's Insurance.

At a meeting of the Firemen's Relief association last night the question of payment of the $1000 policy of the late Chief Hafe was discussed. While Hafe's policy is paid up in full force there is a question as to whether he was a member of the organization at the time of death. It was decided to leave it to a lawyer. Letters were read from Hafe's brother-in-law in reference to his wife and three children.

THE TREASURY.

Condition of the Strong Box of the Nation.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—The United States treasurer has submitted his report on the conditions of the treasury for the year ended June 30.

The net ordinary revenues amounted to $403,108,092, a sum but twice exceeded. Ordinary expenses were $297,736,436, an increase of $15,739,571 over the year before. The surplus revenues were $105,343,496, of which $20,304,224 was paid on premiums on bonds purchased. The receipts of the postoffice department were $61,106,041 and the expenditures $67,011,263, an increase of over $5,000,000.

The total obligations of the treasury a year ago were $1,810,678,475 and $1,722,240,163 now. The debt, less cash in treasury, was $1,050,034,003 on former date, and is now $964,325,084 on the latter; the debt proper, in shape of bonds and circulating notes, was reduced from $1,250,043,136 to $1,145,400,986. This was at a cost of $125,952,243. Nearly $74,000,000 of the 4 per cent bonds and $30,000,000 of 4½ per cent bonds was purchased. There was a gain of $15,000,000 in the stock of gold, an increase of $43,000,000 in that of silver and a contraction of $26,000,000 in bank notes, a net increase of $32,000,000 in the circulating medium. The total stock, including certificates of deposit, gold, silver and notes held in the treasury for redemption, increased from $2,009,968,718 to $2,170,107,136, and the actual circulation from $1,387,551,833 to $1,443,083,618. In round numbers the circulation on June 30, 1890, consisted of $505,000,000 of gold and silver certificates, $414,000,000 of silver and silver certificates and $523,000,000 of United States and National bank notes.

A Great Cry for More Women

Has been going up from the far West for a good many years. But the cry is not for pale, haggard, debilitated women. The pushing Western men are not anxious for beauty, but they need healthy wives. A great cry for health is continually going up from thousands of women young and old, all over the earth. Countless remedies have appeared in answer. A few have succeeded, and none hold a higher place than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, a sure cure for all these peculiar "weaknesses" and distressing ailments peculiar to the sex.

Railroad Development.

The history of railroads is the most modern of history. Men are yet living, and not at an advanced age, who can distinctly remember when the first railroad train in the United States began to run. What a vast improvement there has been from the "Rocket" of George Stephenson and the small coaches attached to the ten-wheeler "Mogul" engine, speeding along with its train of steam heated, electric lighted vestibule Pullmans, containing library, barber shop, bath rooms, with every comfort and convenience to be found in the finest hotels. Then look at the great railway systems embracing thousands of miles of road, and covering a territory which would make a respectable kingdom in the Old World. Pre-eminent among these is "The Burlington," with its 8000 miles in ten states and territories, and forming the principal and favorite line of travelers between the metropolitan cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis and Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, Cheyenne and Denver. For rates, tickets and information, apply to any ticket agent of "The Burlington" or connecting lines, or write to W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, C. B. & N. R. R. St. Paul, Minn.

WORLD OF COMMERCE.

Rates are Comparatively Very Low.

SMALL DISPOSITION TO TRADE.

New York and Eastern Markets Gradually Grow Better in Tone.

In sympathy with Eastern rates this morning the local market opened from 2 to 2½ off for cash, and 1½ to 2 on futures. Trading in the speculative grades was light. Grain men are inclined to think that present values are low considering the statistical situation, yet are disposed to wait developments.

Cash 1 hard, a few cars sold at opening at 2½ decline at 87, closed 2 better at 89 nominal. Cash 1 northern opened at 82, a number of cars selling at that figure, closed 1½ advanced at 83½. No. 2 northern very dull, sales at 2 decline at 76, closed 1½ higher at 77½. No. 3 spring small sales at 67, closed nominally at 68½.

December 1 hard opened 1½ below at 83, declined to 82½, recovered to 83½, ruled inactive with advancing tendencies, closed at 83½. December 1 northern, trading at 1½ below last night at 83, advanced to 83½, selling just at the close at 84, closed at 84. May 1 hard opened 2½ below at 97½, sold at 1½ advance at 98½ and closed firm at 98½. May 1 northern, 1½ below at 92½, sold at 92½, closed 1½ advance at 94.

As to Barings.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—The Times says: No orders drawn on Barings Bros. after last Saturday, by correspondence, will be accepted, but those drawn previously will be recognized. The Bank of England is practically in charge of the Barings' affairs. It is probable that the firm will be resuscitated with fresh capital. The bank is charging a high rate of discount in order to prevent an influx of bills. It desires holders to exercise forbearance and not throw unnecessary work on the bank. All acceptances already provided for will be met at maturity.

New York Market.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The stock market in response to the panicky feeling in London opened from 1 to 1½ per cent down. Prices, however, were fairly well held notwithstanding that considerable excitement existed. An hour after the opening the market had recovered from the weakness and excitement, and on comparatively moderate business prices were ½ to 1½ per cent better than the opening figures, except for one or two stocks.

After 12 o'clock the momentary weakness after noon was over, and the market showed greater strength than at any previous time during the day, everything traded in advancing sharply, and all except one or two stocks finally being lifted above last night's prices.

In London.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—After varying upon a panic today the stock market closed with a better tendency all round. Prices at the close were compared with 12:30 p. m. prices showed no change in consols for money but an advance of 11-16 for the account.

Chicago Live Stock.

Notes of Sport.

Jack Quinn, the Scotch champion, is now on the outlook for a meeting with some of the lightweights. Hite Peckham or Walter Campbell would suit him best.

J. G. Miller of Sioux City, Iowa, has the largest strictly trotting-bred horse in America, or probably the world. He is eighteen hands one inch and a half high, and can, it is said, show a 2:40 gait.

Since his recent victory over Mike Cushing, Austin Gibbons has become more autocratic than ever. He refuses to consider Walter Campbell's challenge, for no reason unless it be that he fears defeat at the hands of the game and scientific Philadelphian.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

THE YEAR IS ENDING.

Full Record of the Vermilion Range for the Year.

OVER 3,200,000 TONS SINCE THE FIRST.

Last Lower Lake Steamships for 1890 Arriving at Duluth, Ashland and Marquette.

The close of the season of navigation is fast approaching and before Duluthians are well aware of it the last vessel for lower lakes will have cast off and steamed away. The incident does not create the interest it did a few years ago, when the lake business was about all Duluth had to depend on for a living and the period between the departure of the boats in the fall and their arrival in the spring was one of almost incessant hibernation.

The Duluth & Iron Range road has stopped its ore trains and there are now but four cargoes to go forward. Of the vessels to take them three are at the docks today, and one, the Manola, will load early next week, thus closing up business for the year on Monday or Tuesday. There are two more passenger ships to arrive in Duluth, both of the Sarnia line, the Empire or Campana and the Monarch. Both the Transit and Lake Michigan lines are done. A few coal and merchandise vessels are in port and probably a dozen more are to come, these will take out wheat and flour and the last cargo, unless unforeseen circumstances arise, will clear in about five days.

No more grain charters are to be made, the last being closed early in the week for boats here to load at Port Arthur. At Ashland there are about half a dozen more cargoes to go forward, while the James Pickands, the last boat at Marquette, is getting ready for a load today. One shipment of the Duluth & Iron Range road for the year have been a total of $80,732 gross tons, of which 54,718 tons have come from the Minnesota Iron company, over one-third, or 326,002 tons from the Chandler, and 12,012 tons from the Pioneer. The record of the Vermilion iron range since its opening has been as follows:

	Gross tons
1884 (beginning in August)	62,121
1885	252,354
1886	394,292
1887	380,467
1888	312,000
1889	337,900
1890	380,132
Total, seven years	3,212,166

The Duluth & Iron Range road expects to spend a good deal of money during this winter in cutting down grades, increasing its equipment and laying track into half-a-dozen new mines that can positively be classed as shippers, but it will probably do little toward increasing its ore dock capacity before another winter. The officers of the road expect to fully double the present capacity of the docks.

But One Round Up.
SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Nov. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Down: J. W. Wheeler, 1:35 a. m.; Mecosta, 4:30; Fayette Brown, 2:35; V. H. Kitcham, 4:10; Gladstone, 4:15; Tampa, 5:15; United Empire, 6:15; Algonquin, 10:40. Up: R. J. Fryer, 7:25 p. m.

A Great Lake Dry Dock.
The Detroit Dry Dock company has just let the contract for the construction of a new dry dock, which will be the largest and largest on the lake. It will be 400 feet long, 52 feet wide at the bottom and 94 feet on the water line, with 16 feet of water over the keel blocks at the low water. It is expected that the dock will be completed for the early spring business.

To Aid Searchers.
A. F. Ward, senior pattern maker at the Frontier works, Detroit, has invented a wreck-indicating device or buoy. The appliance will show the position of a sunken vessel in deep water, and thus obviate the loss of time and expense attending the searching for a hull or other object when all wreckage has disappeared. The device is simple in construction. A small reel which contains 200, 300 or 400 feet of light steel wire is confined in a wooden ball or water-tight globe mounted on a stand, which may be screwed down to the top of the pilot house or other convenient place. The end of the line is made fast to the stand and the wooden globe containing the reel is sealed on to the stand with a preparation that is soluble in water. From four to twenty-four hours after the vessel sinks the preparation becomes dissolved through the action of the water and the ball and reel floats to the surface, thus clearly indicating the position of the sunken vessel or object.

Mostly From Duluth.
Buffalo Courier: By lake during the 24 hours ending yesterday afternoon, 125,700 barrels of flour were received at this port—the largest amount by far ever brought here in one day. One of Northern line steamers had 23,000 barrels, and another 22,500 barrels. It will take 1000 cars to carry this flour to Eastern points. Figuring at 200 loaves of bread to the barrel, yesterday's receipts would turn out over 25,000,000 loaves. And yet there are people suffering for want of bread.

When She Gets Older.
Buffalo Courier: Undoubtedly the double whale-back launch last Saturday was a big thing for Superior. They were the first boats ever built there, and so one can excuse the wild-west enthusiasm shown over the event. But the reports of this "unparalleled" event sent out by the press correspondents, if printed, would simply nauseate Eastern readers. When the Colby, ready to slide into the water, says one report, "Capt. McDougall stood silent and thoughtful leaning against his office window. The first blow sent a thrill through the steamer, and she seemed to feel instinctively that she was about to be ushered into life." Like the origin of a tadpole, perhaps. When she struck the water "hats flew into the air and men grasped each other by the hand." It was to be hoped that each man got back his own hat and hand. And so the reports go on to great length. Capt. McDougall is described as a man of "robust sentiment and robust body. The mind that conceived the humble wholeback thinks upon new and greater possibilities in the great art of shipbuilding."

One over-enthusiastic correspondent says the Colby "is exactly the same length as the Welland canal." That's just twenty-eight miles! There was one redeeming feature to these press reports. The telegraph tolls were prepaid. Somebody made a good guess as to their worth to the more Eastern lake papers.

Seriously, Capt. McDougall does deserve credit for the persistence he has shown in getting the "dream" into realization. For many years he contended against the opinions of experienced vessel owners and builders, and now he is to be congratulated on the establishment of an extensive plant for turning out at wholesale the barges. That these tank boats are money makers for carrying bulk freight is conceded. Most vessel men, however, hold that they have not yet passed altogether out of the experimental stage.

As to Superior—well, when she gets older she'll be less delicious.

A ROMANTIC FIND.

How a Mexican Discovered an Ancient Silver Mine.

SILVER CITY, N. M., Nov. 20.—A Mexican made a very interesting discovery in the Hachitas a few days ago. He saw a piece of timber sticking out of the ground on the mountain side, and his curiosity led him to dig down a short distance, when he came to a flat stone covering an opening to some quite extensive underground workings. He explored a portion of them, and found a human skeleton, an old sistrup, and other articles. He located the mine, and is now engaged in exploring the workings. This is undoubtedly one of a number of mines in this section which were worked by the Mexicans more than 100 years ago.

A gold mine at Central and the Santa Rita copper mines is known to have been worked during the last century, and other mines of equal age will undoubtedly be discovered here. Several mines in the northern portion of the territory were worked by the early Spaniards, some records being still preserved showing that they were being worked more than 200 years ago.

CANADIAN MINERAL DISCOVERIES.

More Sudbury Deposits to Yield Rich Treasure.
TORONTO, Nov. 20.—News has been received here that the richest deposits of nickel yet found in the Sudbury district have been discovered in the township of Orm. The ore is a mixture of nickel with copper sulphate, and is valuable both on account of copper and of nickel. The ore is as rich as those worked at Sudbury, and the deposits are much more extensive.

Some excitement has been created in Algoma mining circles by the discovery, nine miles south of Chelmsford, of a rich vein of gold-bearing quartz. The vein is about eighteen inches wide.

KITTEL O. K.

So Declares J. R. Howard of the New Fifth District Congressmen.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 20.—The Journal has an interview with Chief Clerk J. R. Howard of the house of representatives, who has this to say about Kittel Halvorsen, congressman-elect from the Fifth district: "It is true that he is of Norwegian parentage. It is also true that he served as a private soldier for three years during the late war, coming home with an honorable record. He made a home-land claim in western Stearns county and has been a successful farmer there for twenty years or more. I have known him during this period and never heard a word against him. In '87 we tendered him the republican nomination in the house from that district—which he accepted and was elected without opposition, and would have been re-elected had he notified his friends there that he so desired, before other parties took the field. I do not believe the interests of our state would have been better served had Whiteman been elected instead of Halvorsen."

"What sort of a man is he?" "Well, wait and give him a chance; he is a good farmer, and fairly well posted—not liable to act hastily or go with any crowd against his convictions, and you can bet your last nickel that the gang of Southern brigadiers who will organize the next house won't bulldoze Kittel Halvorsen into supporting any measure that he doesn't approve. I think he will act with the republicans, and by keeping in line with the administration, be able to serve his district and state better."

"Oh! love, what is it in this world of ours that makes people suffer so with neuralgia?" "Can't tell, my pet, unless the average citizen hasn't got sense enough to buy a bottle of Salvation Oil."

IN MAKING INVESTMENTS for ourselves and in recommending investments to others we look first for perfect safety; second, for as large profits as are consistent with such safety.

INTRINSIC VALUE must be present to insure safety. Selling value depends upon immediate or prospective value for actual improvement and use. Property having no value for immediate improvement has only prospective value, and is therefore entirely speculative.

THE SAFETY of an investment depends upon how far the prospective or speculative value enters into the selling value.

CLOVER HILL is sold upon its merits as property entirely devoid of any element of risk. It is in demand for actual improvement.

RAPID TRANSIT brings it into immediate use. Within a few months Clover Hill will be dotted with houses, and lots now selling at $800 will be worth $1500.

"BEST & GOES FARTHEST."

Now that its manufacturers are drawing the attention of the American public to this first and ever since its invention, the best of all cocoas, it will soon be appreciated here as well as elsewhere all over the world. All that the manufacturers request is simply one trial, or, still better, a comparative test with whatever other cocoa it may be; then VAN HOUTEN'S COCOA itself will convince every one of its great superiority. It is because of this superiority that the English paper Health, says: "Once tried, always used."

To avoid the evil effects of Tea and Coffee, use constantly VAN HOUTEN'S COCOA, which is a STRENGTHENER OF THE NERVES and a refreshing and nourishing beverage. (2)

HAZING CAPITAL.

In the midst of the momentary crush and confusion in Wall street, attention is rightly called by the New York Commercial Bulletin to the really dominant causes of the depreciation of railway securities during the past six months. A patent one is to be found in the fact that the growth of the railway system of the country has been largely in advance of the growth of earnings. Nearly 40,000 miles, or nearly 32 per cent, have been added to the mileage of the roads during the last five years, while the percentage of the growth of population has not been as much in ten years; and the amount of railroad business usually just about keeps pace with the growth of population.

Another appears in the interference of the interstate commerce act and in legislation and rulings by commissions, which has reached a point in several states during the past five years never before approached in the previous history of railroads. Besides the mischievous results which have followed in many cases from the interstate law, the action of several state legislatures has been so arbitrary in reference to railroads that the highest courts of the land have been led to declare any measure unconstitutional which deprives owners of all benefits from the use of property, but many enactments which fall but little short of that point still remain in force.

The truth is, as The Bulletin justly remarks, that "there has been an exceedingly zealous but not very wise effort on the part of many holders of securities to forget and ignore uncomfortable facts within the past five years. Prices of stocks have been put again and again, by powerful combinations of operators and bankers, but the result has rarely been as satisfactory as they expected. In a great many cases the powerful cliques have been left with inconveniently large accumulations of stocks, and without an interested public to lighten their loads. Foreign buyers have taken away large blocks of stock at times, it is true, but sagacious men have never failed to remember that the unloading of foreigners would produce some embarrassment, sooner or later, when the full import and effect of American legislation regarding the transporting interest should come to be appreciated.

It is not too much to say that the weakness of late is a natural fruit of unfair and strictly communistic legislation during the past few years, brought home to the minds of men by the voting of farmers' organizations of the West. The public declarations of these organizations threaten little less than actual confiscation of property employed in transportation and also property loaned on mortgage. A month ago it was hardly thought possible that a large body of voters, especially of a class commonly deemed conservative and everywhere helped to conservatism by the ownership of property, could adopt and act upon declarations so extreme and unreasonable. But the fact must be faced that in several Western states the power of the new organizations appears about as great as that of either of the two old parties, and their control in legislation seems likely to be almost unrestrained. It is not strange that capital does not care to be at the mercy of these legislators. These home truths may not impress the men who are strangely scheming to advance their own interests by recklessly clubbing the capital which is absolutely necessary to their prosperity, but they will have weight with all who are not bent on smashing everything in the way of the setting up of the granger idols.

One of the best orders of recent days is that which commands the hoisting of the star spangled banner daily on the White house at Washington, a custom which fell into noxious desuetude during Cleveland's administration. While a republican administration holds the fort our flag will fly.

Superior city papers claim that a smelter for the precious metals is to be built there. The Herald has many times shown the practicability of such an enterprise at the head of the lakes and has always hoped, as it continues to hope, that the preliminary step taken looking toward the building of a smelter here may be carried to the end.

Dr. Edward Everett Hale makes a timely suggestion in the November number of The New England Magazine. He moves that a chair be established in some leading university and filled by someone who thoroughly understands wherein our civilization differs from that of Greece, Rome, France and Germany, and who is, because of his knowledge, capable of becoming the re-founder of Americanism. It is a melancholy truth that our college graduates as a rule know vastly more about ancient Greece and Rome and about foreign ideas and institutions than they do about their own country, and there is a patent need for a closer study of things American. There have undoubtedly been advances in this line during the past few years, and the prominence which is being given to civics as a branch of study in our American colleges is a hopeful sign, but "professorships on America" could be established with advantage and profit.

SEEN AND HEARD.

A stranger who makes his first visit to Duluth has an opportunity to ascertain that the real estate men at the head of the lakes possess many of the requirements of hustlers. A friend of mine who has just returned from a visit to his old home in Ireland arrived in the city yesterday and registered at the hotel from Belfast, Ireland. As soon as it became known that a foreign visitor was at one of the hotels, the real estate men began to lay for him and they have succeeded in making him believe that Duluth people give strangers a very warm welcome.

"There is a broad field for invention in the line of electric light fixtures," said a well-known electrician, "and I wonder why more inducements are not offered to inventors by manufacturers. Most of the fixtures now in use are clumsy and unnecessarily heavy. The general use of gas side by side with electric lights has caused the retention of the old appliances, and not unfrequently old gas chandeliers are still in use, having been wired for incandescent lamps. Furthermore we see in the modern gas fixture a memory of the survival of the styles when oil was used as an illuminator, and, indeed, even of the earlier time when candles alone were employed. Thus do modern styles show relics of three different periods in the history of the science of illumination."

The audience at the Temple last evening was greatly disturbed by late comers. Manager Miller announced in the newspapers that owing to the length of the play the curtain would rise promptly at 8 o'clock and it did. He has adopted the iron-clad rule of raising the curtain at the time advertised, 8:15 on ordinary occasions and 8 o'clock on special occasions.

"When I think of the magnanimity of the members of my profession, it makes me feel proud that I belong to it," remarked a well-known physician this morning. "When noted men make discoveries they give the others the benefit of them. The discoverer of cocaine when he found that it could be used safely, he gave the public the benefit of his discovery. The same was true of the Esmeralda bandage, and I have no doubt that as soon as Prof. Koch completes arrangements for the application of his treatment for consumption, that we will be let into the secret. If any other class of people patented a new kind of clothes pin they would secure a fortune from it, and leave a good thing for their estate."

WITH DOG AN' GUN.

[Kirk La Shelle.]
When yer nose gits red of mornin's an' the air begins to bite;
When yer blood gits up and hustles an' yer eyes gleams clear an' bright;
When yer feet so free and frisky that yer caper as yer walk;
An' yer heart's so gay an' lightsome that yer sing instead of talk;
It's then I think of dog an' gun an' woods 'th colors bright;
When yer nose gits red of mornin's and the air begins to bite.

I see myself a-trampin' through the timber land again
A-listenin' for the squirrel's bark an' stoppin' now an' then
To watch a tree that's full of holes, a-hopin' for a shot.
While Tower sets an' watches me 'th all the eyes he's got.
I jest go potterin' round the woods as long as I'm in sight—
When yer nose gits red of mornin's an' the air begins to bite.

An' then I go a-trudgin' home as tired as I kin be.
An' ever squirrel a-weighin' jest about as much as three.
An' me a-feelin' starved to death, as hunters alays do.
An' Tower trottin' on ahead an' lookin' hungry too.
But supper makes me feel immense an' I sleep sound all night.
When yer nose gits red of mornin's an' the air begins to bite.

There's nothin' like the time o' year when hick'ry nuts shell out.
An' nature feels so bustlin' good she sorter has to shout.
An' takes on all the colors that the rainbow ever showed.
An' seems to have so much of joy she staggers 'th the load;
There just ain't nothin' like the woods in autumn—no such sight—
When yer nose gits red of mornin's and the air begins to bite.

"THE RUSTLERS."

THEIR INNERMOST THOUGHTS.

Superintendent Morrill of the Eastern railway: We anticipate a continuance of the present wheat movement toward the head of the lake over our line for the next sixty days. We are receiving about 200 cars of wheat per day. Our four receipts are now gauged to our vessel capacity, and at the end of navigation we desire that the sheds shall all be empty. We will then shortly commence filling them with flour for lake shipment in the spring.

ODDS AND ENDS.

A circular mass of pink and white chrysanthemums makes a popular table decoration for the season.

All salmon fishing with nets in Commencement bay, Wash., has been stopped by the breakage of the nets, owing to the great abundance of the catch.

A drainage and plumbing bill of $150,000 is large for one individual to settle, but the Duke of Portland has recently completed improvements to that amount.

The Austrian minister of public instruction requests masters of public schools to cultivate a taste for athletics among their boys.

Half a dozen New York ladies are said to earn a handsome living by holding conversation classes and giving private lessons in that art.

A sensation in New York recently was a handsome turnout drawn by two well groomed mules, driven by a handsome liveried coachman.

The average duration of life is greater in Norway than in any other country in Europe. This is attributed to the uniform cool temperature of the climate.

A platinum coin bearing the image of Antiochus of Syria, who died 104 B. C., has been found at Tepe-Kermene, an ancient town in Crimea. It is the only one of the kind known to exist and therefore of great value.

THE STATE PRESS.

Stillwater Call: Postmaster General Wannamaker says that newspapers "may publish guessing contests." Many thanks, John, most of us have been exercising that privilege pretty lively the past few days.

St. Cloud Journal Press: Mr. Comstock fell into a Kitten of soup.

St. Cloud Times: The mention of Heatwole as a candidate for senator is probably intended as a harmless compliment to Joel, who does not possess the required qualifications—he is neither a millionaire, a lawyer or a statesman, but a good country editor. N. B. Country editors need not apply.

Moorhead News: A poor man as a candidate stands no show in races with a rich man as things have been going. The latter would have his hired worker in every county; he would have a subsidized press to sound his praises and many ways familiar secure support beyond the reach of the pocketbook of the former. This is not right; its ultimate end is the overthrow of popular government. The people have at last been made to see and their protest has gone thundering through the land.

A Cold Christening. New York Star: We learn from The Brooklyn Eagle that in the course of naming the new armored cruiser, a bottle of native wine will be used, in order "that the American stamp upon the construction may be complete."

On general principles that is an appropriate idea, but how will it work when applied in the case of a ship named for the state, in which you cannot buy a bottle of wine, native or imported, without becoming a party to an illegal transaction?

Properly the bottle of native wine broken over the bows of the Maine should be the product of the state honored in naming the cruiser. The vineyard industry has never been important in that state. How, then, shall the Maine be christened? The appropriate way would be to turn a stream of cold water on her nose as she starts and moves and seems to feel the thrill of life along her keel.

OF BIG GAME NEAR BY

More Venison in Duluth Than Ever Before.

SEVERAL BLACK BEAR SHOT ALSO.

Game Plenty Along the South Shore, the Iron Range Road and Near by Lakes.

There never was a time, so market men say, when there was such a glut of game as there is at present. Deer are unusually plentiful this year, and pot hunters are bringing in scores of the beautiful creatures that should serve only as victims to legitimate sport. As usual the south shore is the scene of most of the hunting done on Lake Superior, and one party of three brought in seven deer yesterday. Around the Iron Range road is very plentiful. The north and south shores show more hunters than game animals. Not less than 1000 deer are sold in Duluth every season.

On the line of the Iron Range road, further back from civilization than deer were ever seen before hunters are meeting with good success and a good many carcasses are being brought in. Up the Duluth & Winnipeg the deer are not so plentiful but they are reported from the upper region of the lumber camps on the Upper Mississippi, beyond the end of the road, and there are many parties in that section hunting. One party of three hunters on the line of the Northern Pacific, towards Ashland, has shot six animals in the past month.

Yesterday a fine buck deer was seen on the terrace down near Chester brook and this morning another was reported from the terrace at Eleventh avenue west. A black bear, said to have been an extremely large and ferocious beast by The Herald's informant, was seen on the Rice Lake road at the county poor farm yesterday, while a day or two ago a small bear was shot at the Thompson farm, five miles back on the Swan Lake road.

Dwellers around Pike and Rice lakes, west and north of the city twelve to fifteen miles, have seen a number of bears this year, while deer have been more plentiful about those lakes than ever before.

WAS NOT A THIEF.

But was Looking for a Wayward Sister. Well Known Here.

John Conlon, the man who was arrested in response to a telegram from Grand Rapids, Mich., was released last evening, it having been found that he was not the right man.

There was another circumstance connected with the visit of Conlon to Duluth which has a tinge of sadness about it. He came with the intention of visiting his sister, whom he had not seen for several years. He gave her name as Attison and said that he had understood that she was working in some hotel. It was found out later that his sister was none other than May Attison, the keeper of a low dive on St. Croix avenue. The officers sought to arrange a meeting between the two at some place up town, but the sister refused to see him, saying that she would sooner be dead.

The brother finally suspected that his sister was in such a house, and when he learned the truth he decided to visit the house. He did so, but could not find his sister, and he has given up all hope of ever seeing her again.

Complete Bench Street Sunday.

The pavers on Bench street are now at work at Tenth avenue east and are laying at the rate of three-fourths of a block each day. Unless some unforeseen obstacle presents itself the contractors expect to complete the job by Sunday night. They are as anxious to finish the work as the residents on Bench street are to have a respectable street curser and every effort will be made to push the work to completion by the time named.

In Lower Court.

Chas. Johnson who was arrested on the charge of coercion, his wife complaining that he had driven herself and child from her home had an examination in the municipal court this morning and was sent to jail for fourteen days. Andrew Peterson, plain drunk, was fined $5. Peter Hotchier forfeited his bail. C. McMillan was still too drunk to realize his condition, and plead not guilty.

Warning to Boomers.

Chicago News: Since the location of the World's exposition in Chicago there has been a tendency to over-speculation in real estate that has been deplored by all conservative business men. While the proportions of an artificial "boom" have not been reached, the tendency in certain quarters was in that direction. The recent extreme closeness of the money market which has not yet passed, proved a rigorous check to this unfortunate wave of speculation. It came just in time to make all classes of dealers more conservative, while its proportions were fortunately not great enough to precipitate anything approaching to a disastrous crash.

Foolish Martyrs.

There are martyrs and martyrs. Some were wise in the loftiest, some are silly in the most improvident sense. The word improvident exactly applies to the latter class, since they neglect to provide against threatened danger. We commiserate, but we cannot respect them. Among the silliest are martyrs to rheumatism, who might have prevented daily and nightly recurring torture by the early use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a blood depurant more efficient in removing the virus of this complaint from the circulation than any thus far brought to the notice of the general community and the medical profession. It promotes greater activity of the kidneys, the channel through which blood impurities, productive of rheumatism, gout and dropsy, are principally expelled, and it imparts a degree of vigor to digestion and assimilation which has a most favorable bearing on the general health. It also remedies biliousness, kidney troubles and malaria.

A WILD WEIRD YARN.

One of the Tales of the Indian Messiah Craze.

FULL OF FRIGHTENED REFUGEES.

The Indian Country Still Excited by Foolish and Groundless Rumors.

VALENTINE, Neb., Nov. 20.—Two traveling men who came from Rushville, declare that a courier came in late Tuesday night with a terrible tale that the anti-Messiah half breeds and the ghost dancers had a row at the agency yesterday. He claimed that sixty men had been killed or wounded, but this is probably the worst sort of exaggeration. While there may have been a row, it is not thought here that any one has been killed.

Dr. Dollard, the newly-elected attorney-general of South Dakota, came from Long Pine last evening and he had heard at Long Pine the story of the fight at Pine Ridge. He had no details beyond the rumor given above.

This town is full of refugees from the Indian country. At a rough estimate, 1200 men, women and children have fled from the country north of the railroad and about the Pine Ridge agency. Every freight train that stopped at the small side tracks west of here was besieged by people demanding to be carried East. The entire country is thoroughly aroused and anybody who can get away is doing so.

The people who have come down the line from Rushville, bring the worst possible rumors. It is reported here that Agent Royer, who has charge of the Pine Ridge agency, appeared at Rushville Monday night, bringing with him Thunder Bear, a sergeant of Indian police and American Horse. Both had been doing their utmost to quiet the Indians, and had carried their opposition to the ghost dance craze so far Monday that knives were drawn on them by the infuriated reds, and the agent was compelled to bring them down to Rushville to prevent trouble. American Horse has completely lost his Indian name with the Indians, and it is said that the Indian police are useless now.

Agent Royer returned, leaving the two Indians at Rushville. Tuesday he appeared again, bringing with him his wife and children. He said he thought it was no longer safe for them at the agency. In opposition to this view, however, it was said that the traders at the agency have not left and they think that there is no great danger.

A portion of the soldiers, who arrived at Rushville, will reach Pine Ridge agency this morning. Troops from both the east and west have been pushed on to Rushville. That is the nearest point on the Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley railroad to the Pine Ridge agency. About 600 men have reached that point. These troops are within about forty miles of the Indians and could be used at twelve hours' notice if necessary.

POOR JOHN.

A Chinese Firm Absconds With $40,000 of Its Earnings.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—The members of Tong Young & Co., one of the most extensive Chinese merchandise houses and labor contractors, have fled to China, with $40,000, the wages of 240 fishermen who recently returned from Alaska. George Han, Ven and Haw Mee Sen comprise the firm, which was next to six companies in importance. The absconders owe other creditors $20,000, making their liabilities $60,000. It is stated that the firm has absconded to over $250,000 have occurred among Chinese firms during the past month. There was a riot in Chinatown last night as a result of absconding. The Chinese fishermen are left penniless after a whole season's work, and about 300 of them marched to the store of Tong Young, one of the labor contractors' ironmen, and forcibly took possession of the store. About fifty of them closed the iron doors and declared they would remain inside until they received their wages. They then went to Chew Chong's store, another bondsmen's place, but were only prevented from capturing the place by the interference of the police. After a hard fight the Chinese were dispersed.

Serious trouble is anticipated, and the six Chinese companies have issued a proclamation stating that they will do all in their power for them. Tong Young's store is still in the possession of the rioters.

Get well and stay well. But how shall we do it?

Listen my friend, and the secret I'll tell, Though, for that matter, there's no secret in it.

As many a man understands very well, If you're low-spirited, gloomy, distressed, If nothing tastes good and your nights bring no rest.

If your stomach is foul and your mouth seems much foul, And so cross you become that they call you a devil.

Be sure that the trouble is due to your liver, And the blood is as sluggish as sometimes a river.

Becomes when it's filled with all manner of crud, Clear it out and the current runs smoothly.

Go to the drug store and get a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the great blood purifier and liver invigorator.

It is a sure cure for the low spirits and general depression a man feels when his liver is inactive and his blood impure. This remedy makes a man well.

No remedy equals Salvation Oil for cure of bruises, cuts, burns, frostbites and chilblains.

Thanksgiving.

Do you know it is less than two weeks to Thanksgiving? If you have forgotten it, your wife and children have not.

"She" has already made up a menu program for the dinner that day, and interviewed frequently the butcher, baker and grocer, while the "kids" have nightly dreams of pie and pudding in mountains. This is on the supposition that your Thanksgiving will be spent at home. But if you have an old father and mother somewhere, why not visit them then? Your wife would like to go to the home of her girlhood and sit with father and mother, brothers and sisters, in the evening firelight from the old hearthstone. Why don't you drop business for a few days and take her to a family reunion? Do so, and remember that wherever you may wish to go, "The Burlington," either by its own line or its connections, reaches any city, town or village you can name. It is the fast line, the best line, the comfortable line, the vestibuled line, the dining car line, the direct line. For any information, apply to nearest railroad agent, or write to W. J. C. Kenyon, general passenger agent, C. B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

HOW THE FULL CEREMONY WENT.

A Week's Celebration of the Nuptials in the German Capital.

BERLIN, Nov. 20.—The marriage of the Princess Victoria of Prussia, sister of the Emperor William and granddaughter of Queen Victoria, to Prince Adolphus of Schaumburg-Lippe, was celebrated last evening in the presence of one of the most brilliant assemblages that has been gathered on the continent to witness a similar event for many years. Berlin has been celebrating since Tuesday in honor of the event. Business is entirely suspended, the public schools are closed and bunting and other decorations give the city a holiday aspect.

At 4 o'clock the guests began to gather in the grand reception chamber of the Schloss. Among the earliest to arrive were the Prince and Princess of Wales, the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, the Prince and Princess Christian, the Duke of Clarence, better known as the Prince Albert Victor of Wales, the Grand Duke and Grand Duchess Saxe, representing the Russian imperial family; the Duke and Duchess of Sparta, representing the royal family of Greece, and the Princess Elizabeth of Hesse Darmstadt.

The venerable Count von Moltke, who appeared leaning on the arm of one of his aides-de-camp, received a hearty greeting. The wedding procession was formed, headed by the bridesmaids and maids of honor, followed by the bride leaning upon the arm of her brother, the groom supporting the Empress, and the royal guests following in the order of court precedence.

To the strains of a string band of 100 pieces the procession wended its way through the beautiful grounds and private paths of the Schloss to the private chapel royal. Here the ceremony which united the happy couple was performed after the Protestant ritual by the archbishop of Bonn, assisted by six ecclesiastics. A choir of 100 voices, assisted by an orchestra of fifty, led the choral features of the service.

The groom was attired in a military uniform, while the tall, shapely bride was costumed in a magnificent dress of white satin embroidered in gold with flowers and lovers' knots in gold thread trimmed at the sides with deep lace bearing an empire design. The short sleeves were of lace and the bodice décolleté. Around her neck was a present from the ex-Empress—a string of pearls given to her by the Emperor Frederick. At the conclusion of the ceremony the procession was reformed and returned to the Schloss, where the wedding banquet was served. Today there will be wedding fetes upon a scale of extraordinary magnificence, and on Saturday the newly-married couple will leave for Potsdam en route for Malta and Egypt.

The wedding gifts were so numerous as to completely cover five tables running the full length of 100 feet in the art gallery of the palace. Those from the English royal family alone filled ten big trunks.

LAW AND ORDER.

The League in Annual Session in the Smoky City.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 20.—Delegates to the ninth annual general meeting of the International Law and Order league are arriving. The convention will be opened tonight, presided over by Hon. C. C. Bonney of Chicago, and the various branch organizations will meet during the next two days at the Seventh avenue hotel, Y. M. C. A. building, old city hall and the city churches.

The object of the league is to maintain the principal that the enforcement of the laws is essential to the perpetuity of good government and to secure the enforcement of existing laws relating to the liquor traffic and all offenses against morals, and the peace and good order of society and to assist the public authorities in maintaining and enforcing them.

The annual report will show that law and order leagues have been formed in more than 100 towns in the United States and Canada, and that these leagues have accomplished enormous results for good in communities where they exist.

The movement says, the report, is no effort to establish a new agency of government, but simply an effort to secure to the people the protection and benefits of laws already upon the statute books, but imperative because not enforced by the agencies established by the law itself for its proper administration. The league is composed of humanitarians, divines, congressmen, and prominent men from all over the United States.

A BIG ROBBERY.

Valuable Tin Box Stolen From a Buggy.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—John Keller, the millionaire real estate dealer who has an office on South Halsted street, was robbed of a tin box containing $100,000 worth of deeds, notes, mortgages and other valuables last evening.

The story of the robbery indicates that it was planned and executed in a dexterous manner. Mr. Keller left his office in the afternoon to make a number of business calls. He left the office of the Northern Trust company with the tin box and drove to several business houses.

At 7 o'clock he arrived at a wholesale meat market on the west side. He was hardly inside fifteen minutes, but when he returned the tin box which he had left in the rear part of the buggy box was gone.

Mr. Keller drove rapidly to the Des-plaines street station where he offered a reward of $500 for its recovery. The case was put in the hands of the detectives and a thorough search will be made.

It was undoubtedly taken by some one who knew Mr. Keller and who were acquainted with his business. On such trips the tin box nearly always contained thousands of dollars. If it was not money the thieves were looking for it possibly may have been some one interested in destroying some of the valuable papers the box contained.

Railroad Development.

The history of railroads is the most modern of history. Men are yet living, and not at an advanced age, who can distinctly remember when the first railroad train in the United States began to run. What a vast improvement there has been from the "Rocket" of George Stephenson and the small coaches attached to the ten-wheeler "Mogul" engine, speeding along with its train of steam heated, electric lighted vestibule Pullmans, containing library, barber shop, bath rooms, with every comfort and convenience to be found in the finest hotels. Then look at the great railway systems embracing thousands of miles of road, and covering a territory which would make a respectable kingdom in the Old World. Pre-eminent among these is "The Burlington," with its 3000 miles in ten states and territories, and forming the principal and favorite line of travelers between the metropolitan cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis, and Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, Cheyenne and Denver. For rates, tickets and information, apply to any ticket agent of "The Burlington" or connecting lines, or write to W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, C. B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

WORLD OF COMMERCE.

New York is Still Very Much Unsettled.

ENGLISH CAPITALISTS GROWING WARY.

Local Market Advances Suddenly, but Declines; Influenced by Outside Quotations and Reports.

There is a very nervous unsettled feeling in New York this morning. Late reports from England say that the worst is not over with Baring Bros. Money is loaning in London at 7 per cent, the highest rate ever reached. There are rumors of other failures on the New York exchange, and all are apprehensive of more trouble. There is no possibility that any of the deals for American investments pending in England at the time of the panic will be closed this winter, and capitalists look to see a weak market for a long time to come.

The Local Market.
December opened 2 1/4 above last night's figures and cash wheat showed an advance of 2 early in the session, but the advance was too great to last. Outside selling orders together with quotations for other markets, with sensational reports of heavy failures, turned prices downward under good transactions. The close was dull and the early advance entirely lost.

Cash 1 hard transactions at 2 above at 9 1/2, ruled dull, closed weak at 89 bid. Cash 1 northern slow, a number of cars selling at 84, later at 83. Cash 2 northern, a few cars sold 1/2 advance at 78, closed 1 lower at 77. No. 3 spring sold 68, closed nominally at 67. December 1 hard opened excited at 2 1/4 above at 92, declined to 91, broke to 89 1/4 and closed easy at 89 1/4 sellers. December 1 northern opened 1/2 above at 84 1/2, sold just at the close at 1 decline at 83 1/2. May 1 hard dull, a single 5000 bu lot sold at 1 1/4 above last night at 100, closed at 98 1/2. May 1 northern, a 25000 bu lot changed hands at last night's figure at 94, closed at 93 sellers.

Mr. Wharton Barker stated to an associated press reporter that the firm had no statement whatever.

THE RICH NORTHWEST.

Claim to Have Rich Deposits of Saltpetre.

STRANGE FOR A NORTHERN LATITUDE.

And a "Fakey" Sort of a Reason For the Deposits is Given.

ASHLAND, Wis., Nov. 21.—[Special to The Herald.]—There is substantial indication in this vicinity of a discovery which positively gives promise of being productive of greater gains than iron.

For some time a man owning property on the Penokee range near Mellen has noticed that a number of deer have been attracted to a stream on his premises and also seemed to eat the dirt on his land. He picked up a quantity of the dirt thinking in the first instance that it was ore, and submitted it to L. E. Dunham, chemist of the Ashland Iron & Steel company, and Dr. John Madden for analysis. These gentlemen are so frequently asked to examine specimens of alleged ore that they paid no particular attention to the matter, not even asking the man's name. In the course of their analysis the discovery was made that the dirt contained at least 30 per cent of absolutely pure nitrate of potassium, the article of commerce known as saltpetre.

The discovery has been kept very quiet until a thorough investigation of the land from which the dirt was taken can be made, men now being engaged in that mission. Dr. Madden considers the discovery most remarkable and says that if any large deposit is secured, untold wealth awaits the owner. He estimates that the value of the "dirt," as it lays on the ground, is $30 to $40 a ton, and merchantable qualities worth $160 a ton.

If the report of the men now investigating property in the vicinity of the find indicates a large deposit, a company will be formed at once to produce saltpetre. Those who know of its existence here are excited over the prospect and think there is much money in the matter. It is surprising that the deposit should be found in this section as nitrate of potassium is generally found in hot dry countries. The largest beds being on the plateau of Chili and India. Dr. Madden accounts for its presence here, by saying that it may have originated from a guano deposit on the banks of some prehistoric lake.

MAKE THE COUNTRY FERTILE.

Formation of a Company to Buy and Irrigate Dakota Farms.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 21.—The New York Land & Irrigation company of New York, has been organized with a capital of $100,000,000 and $200,000 paid in at Aberdeen, S. D. Thomas, the millionaire ink manufacturer, is president, and the other officers and stockholders are men of large objects of the organization are to buy lands in the James river valley and sink artesian wells for purposes of irrigation. The lands will be purchased principally in Brown, Beadle and Spink counties and, owing to the present depressed condition of affairs, will be secured at low figures.

May Remove From Oshkosh.

OSHKOSH, Nov. 21.—H. L. Shephard, vice-president of the South Superior Improvement company, has been in consultation with members of the firm of Banderob & Chase of this city, with a view to induce them to remove their manufacturing plant to Superior. Messrs. Banderob & Chase are seriously considering the question of removing and it is probable the transfer will be made.

A Valuable Discovery.

ASHLAND, Wis., Nov. 21.—It is reported that nitrate of potassium has been discovered on a farm on the Penokee range near Mellen. L. E. Dunham, chemist of the Ashland Iron & Steel company, and Dr. John Madden have made a chemical analysis and found that the land contains 30 per cent pure saltpetre. It is estimated that the dirt is worth from $30 to $40 per ton. Geologists are astonished at the find and are at a loss to account for its presence there.

Tossed By a Bull.

RACINE, Wis., Nov. 21.—Mrs. Maria Wesley of the town of Raymond was fatally injured by a bull. The woman was tossed high in the air upon the horns of the enraged bull and trampled upon when she descended and rendered insensible. It is supposed that the attention of the maddened animal was distracted from the inanimate form of the woman by some shreds of her skirts that he had rent off with his horns. The children rushed out of the house upon hearing the roar of the bull and dragged the lifeless form of their mother into the house. She is still alive, but the physicians consider her case hopeless.

Looking For Gold.

PIERRE, S. D., Nov. 21.—A large party of gold hunters has started for the new placer mines lately discovered at the source of the Bad river along the foothills of the Black hills, where the new town of Logan is located. Mining utensils and everything to last them through the coming winter were provided. The place is about 100 miles from the line of any railroad.

Extensive Illegal Election Practices Charged in Nebraska.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 21.—The papers in the big contest begun by The Independent to test the legality of the election of state officials, including governor, have been prepared and messengers have left this city to serve them. It is expected that they will be all served by Saturday, after which the work of taking evidence will begin. The contest will be tried by the legislature and the speaker will preside. These notices charge, that during the months of September, October and November, 1890, there existed in Omaha an illegal combination and confederacy to deprive voters of that city of the right to vote as guaranteed by the constitution and laws of the state; that this conspiracy operated by corrupting votes and creating a wholesale sentiment against a free and fair election, boycotting and ostracizing all who opposed their plans; that large sums of money were brought into the state and used for defeating a fair election; that 2800 foreigners were caused to be naturalized, the conspirators paying the fees, in such a way as to constitute bribery; that prejudiced persons were appointed on boards of registration and other parties were denied representation at a corrupt agreement existed between democrats and republicans by which tickets of either of those parties should not be challenged.

GROCERIES AND POLITICS.

The Farmers Alliance to go Into Both on the Co-operative Plan.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 21.—At the annual meeting of the Farmers alliance held here yesterday, plans for the wholesale purchase of supplies to be sold to members at 10 per cent more than cost price, were under consideration and a committee will be appointed to go before the next general assembly to demand legislation in the interest of the farmers of the state.

The leaders say that the movement will be made more prominent in politics in the future, and that before 1892 all of the farmer organizations in the state will be united.

Vigorous Men and Women.

The vigorous are they who pay attention to the laws of health, of which one of the foremost is, take care of your digestion. Should a temporary attack of the enemy, dyspepsia, surprise you, foil his subsequent assaults with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. From the stomach come the fundamental supplies which minister to vigor, and, thoroughly transmuted into blood actively circulated, are the maintenance of the system. Pallid in countenance, nervous, attenuated in figure, appetiteless, poor sleepers, are the dyspeptic. Reinforced and built up by the great stomachic, the wan and the thin increase in color and bulk, appetite improves, nervous symptoms disappear, sleep grows tranquil and refreshing, and the tranquillity of mind and despondency notable in invalids gives place to light heartedness, a capacity for racy enjoyment of the good things of this life. Use the Bitters for malarial, bilious, rheumatic and kidney troubles.

Change of life, backache, monthly irregularities, hot flashes, are cured by Dr. Miles' Nervine. Samples free at Max Wirth's.

THE INDIAN MESSIAH.

How much of real belief and how much of ugly pretence there is in the present Indian uprising over the coming of a Messiah it is hard now to distinguish. It is not unlikely, however, that such an anticipation should have run rapidly through the masses of the Indians on the plains, inclined by nature to superstition and readily adapting an article of faith of the whites with whom they have been brought in contact. At a recent session of one of the Indian Bureau police courts at Standing Rock, the principal Sioux agency, the precise character of this superstition was revealed in the testimony of Wal-tit-a-win, who claims to be the mother of the Indian Messiah. She said that her son was a divine being; that he was now on the earth preparing for its regeneration; that the Indians were his chosen people, and that the whole Western continent was to be given over to them; the white man was to be driven from the land, and simultaneously the Indians who now sleep were to be resurrected and forever confirmed in the happy and peaceful possession of their ancient domains.

No doubt almost every Indian in the country would be glad to believe in such a turning of the tables and the restoration of their race to its ancient sovereignty of America before the coming of the pale faces. Most of them would gladly exchange today all the bacon and the blankets and the lessons of the wild sporting life which they led before the needs of advancing civilization thinned out the game and hemmed in the hunters within the rigid confines of the reservations. And the spouting of the geyers, with their rain of mud and stones, miraculous as it seems to the minds of the untutored native people, might well incline their hearts to accept with full credulity the prediction of a magnificent convulsion of the earth which would lay waste all the works of the white invaders and bury all except the chosen people beneath the obliterating flood.

The wish is the father of the faith now as often before, and it remains to be seen whether the Indian patience will await the promised interposition of nature in their behalf or whether the wild anticipation will drive them in advance to mutiny and ravage. There are some ugly signs of trouble among the Sioux in particular, and the country will be fortunate if it escapes the most formidable and destructive Indian outbreak of recent years.

It is doubtful if the shrewder chiefs take much stock in the current prediction, but they may be disposed for all that, to run with the popular tide and take whatever advantage of it they can convert to further their personal ends. The best hope is that those who measure the best the overwhelming strength of the whites will hesitate to stake their property or lives on the issue of a contest based on such a doubtful anticipation, and will exert themselves accordingly to curb the credulous and stay the outbreak. The temper of these chiefs is well illustrated in the recent comment of a leader among them, the brave Sioux, Gall. I doubt the story, he says, but it is any more extraordinary than the story which the white Christians tell. So I sit and listen and wonder. When they say the buffalo will come back and the dead will breathe again, I wonder and doubt. But then I think of the strange things the white man believes in his religion, and that makes me wonder more. For if I say my people are crazy now, I must say that the white man has always been crazy too. I have seen and felt many things that before I would not have thought could be. Thus it is that nobody can measure today what the outcome of the new revelation of a Messiah will be.

If they have found as valuable deposits of saltpetre in north Wisconsin as The Herald's special telegrams today indicate, good for Wisconsin. It will develop another great industry and but add to the proof already so plain that the Northwest is the richest section of the Union. Then, too, when they shoot people over in that country they will feel that they are encouraging home industry and creating a home market for powder.

Not a few outside papers have commented somewhat severely on The Herald's statement of a few days ago that the Mandan Indian excitement was chiefly engineered to induce the government to keep possession of, and improve Fort Abe Lincoln. As day by day goes by, however, the truth of this statement becomes apparent. Even the Duluth News of this morning wakes up enough to say: "It now looks as though the proposed abandonment of Fort Lincoln and other posts had more to do with the excitement at Mandan, than any anticipated trouble with the Indians. The proposed action of the war department would kill a large part of the business of the towns near the posts to be abandoned and an Indian wars scare is an easy thing to manufacture."

Ex-Senator Wade's sons may be assured of the grateful appreciation by Duluth of the distinguished donation which they have just made to our public library. All here are glad to know of the particular and continued interest of the sturdy old champion of human liberty in the rise of the head of the lakes, and glad to be assured that the gift now made of a congressional library unmatched by any private collection in the country is in full accordance with the disposal which its collector would be best pleased to make, were he now living. We believe that Duluth will justify the faith which old Ben Wade had in it, and we know that the city will treasure this gift, not only for its exceptional value, but as a constant memorial of the life and public service of one of the truest-hearted men who ever served and helped to save his country.

Nearly all of the various ballot reform laws that were on trial at the recent elections seem to have given general and, in some instances, unexpected satisfaction. In Maryland where the system was only partially and somewhat hesitatingly applied, its first trial was a complete success, and the Baltimore Sun says that those counties excepted from its application "will doubtless seek the earliest opportunity of coming under its protective influence." The Indiana law "worked" like a charm, says the Indianapolis Sentinel. "The floaters generally stayed at home and the trusted men with the necessary funds cut no figure worth mentioning. But the decent people of all parties were out in force and expressed themselves as delighted with the workings of the new system." The Missouri system was also found to be commendable, but defective in several minor details that can be easily remedied. The recorder of voters of St. Louis is preparing a number of suggestions for the benefit of the next legislature, and the amendments necessary for the perfection of the law will doubtless be enacted. The result of the trial in the cities of this state was generally satisfactory we think, in spite of the perplexity which some voters had over the right placing of the crosses. In New York alone, the ballot law was not judged particularly advantageous, owing to the poor shape in which it went through after the cuts of Governor Hill. But this does not tell against a reformed ballot law, only against a badly tinkered one.

THEIR INERMOST THOUGHTS.

Charles T. Abbott: The Elks' benefit is a great success. We have already sold enough tickets to put a big crowd into the Temple.

East Fourth street resident: The most glorious sight I had seen in a long time was the street car climbing the hill at East Second street this morning.

A local banker: Altogether, the situation may be severe, but it is slowly bettering. The banks are gradually taking in their call loans, and that inevitably produces a stringency. The New York banks are making a tremendous effort this week to obtain a surplus beyond the legal requirements. Last Saturday they were short only $800,000. As soon as they recover their lost reserve, and are able to make one good statement, the financial situation in New York will very much improve.

A local miller: Flour is money now. Wheat has dropped, and while transportation has gone up and flour has gone down a trifle there's lots of cash in the flour barrel to all Western millers.

Judge Stearns: We will have a splendid street car system when it is completed. I only wish that our water service was as good.

Mayor Davis: We are going to get our streets in pretty good shape before cold weather comes after all. This pleasant weather is the right thing in the right place.

Contractor Zimmerman: We will certainly finish the paving on Bench street Sunday evening if the weather will permit.

Of Interest to Northfield.

Mankato Free Press: Chairman Joel Heatwole arrived safely in London on Monday morning. He will be united in marriage next week with an estimable Northfield, (Minn.) lady, and after a tour of the principal cities of Europe, will return to America Jan. 1. Here's hoping that Joel's shadow may never grow less.

SEEN AND HEARD.

"I saw something last evening on my way home that would have frightened most any person, and I confess that I felt a little nervous myself for a minute," remarked a resident of the East End this morning. "It was about 12 o'clock and I was walking along thinking of nothing in particular. Just before I reached the old gas house on First street, I saw two men ahead of me. They were in the shadow of the building, but I could see that one was lying down and the other was bending over him. The first thing I thought of was a tragedy, but I made up my mind to be a game. When I asked if any body was hurt I learned that the men were employees of the Gas company and that they were examining the pipes, to see if they were in good working order. I tell you I felt relieved."

They were talking of the queer taste shown in making and wearing veils with here and there a stray black dot that sets everybody out the wearer on nettles because they can't brush the dot off and step on it for a spider. Then one of the number went off in a street car and saw a nice-looking woman in a thin veil that hardly showed at all, but which gave her a big black spot on the end of her nose, another over one eye and a third on the rim of one ear.

It isn't often that one gets a chance to see a trim young woman perched in a bootblack's chair, but the other afternoon this pleasing sight rewarded pedestrians. There had been more or less rain throughout the morning, and the street was as muddy as usual under similar circumstances. In crossing the way the young woman had spoiled the polish of her shoes, and something had to be done about it right away. A convenient bootblack's stand suggested a way out of the trouble. The operator seemed to be the most embarrassed of the two.

The other evening after the opera I went into one of Duluth's swell restaurants and ordered a light luncheon. Opposite me at the table sat an acquaintance. In front of him was a small chair. The waiter being dilly in opening the bottle, my acquaintance picked up the bottle and struck it close under the cork, breaking it square off without flaking the glass. I applauded the act and in commenting upon it he said: "It's no trick to open a bottle in that way. The Russians have the best trick, one that I never saw tried in this country. I was in New York a year or so ago, when the Russian men-of-war were lying in the harbor. I went out with other hundreds to visit the ships, and while on one of them I saw four sailors open a bottle of wine in a manner that I had never heard of before. One of the men seized the bottle, while two others wound a piece of thick wire around the center of the bottle, and then they began to swing the cord swiftly around the bottle, producing a friction, consequently heating the middle of the bottle. A fourth man, when this operation had gone on for three minutes, dashed some ice water over the bottle which split in the center. With a dextrous turn the man who held the bottle turned both parts upright spilling hardly a drop, forming two glasses, the one from the lower part of the bottle, the other having a cork in the bottom."

"FAUVETTE."

Col. Foster practiced a gross imposition upon the audience by such a performance as was attempted last night. Changes and substitutions were made that were not noted in the program, and a more pitifully unimpressive finale than that of the second act and the preceding tenor solo would be hard to find. The chorus was very weak, especially so after that of the Duff company, and with the exception of Henry Laurent, Robert Dunbar and Lloyd Wilson the same can be said of the principals. Mr. Dunbar's solo and Mr. Wilson's first song, Dudley Buck's "Creole Slaves Song" were the best features of the evening and they sung magnificently. Wilson having an enthusiastic encore. The rest of the cast was so unsatisfactory that it would be an idle task to attempt criticism.

Prison City Wants Better Service.

Commenting upon a recent editorial in The Herald, The Stillwater Call says: The above from our esteemed contemporary opens up a vast territory of thought and perhaps action. "Push the electric car." That is indeed good, wholesome advice that every Stillwater citizen should take home to himself. Here after when you tire of rumble and rattle caused by President Allen's apologies for street cars, console yourself with the words "push the electric cars." Yes, get out and push it right down Chestnut street onto the bridge and then push it overboard.

American Securities Will Suffer With the Wild Cat Ones; Government's Action at Fault.

Mr. R. Geldard, a prominent London, England, flour and grain man, was a visitor on the Board of Trade this morning. "It had long been the opinion among conservative English business men," began Mr. Geldard in response to a question put by a Herald reporter, "that depressed times were imminent, and that over confidence and unwise speculation could end only in the way it has done. The causes have been two. The principal cause and the very beginning of the difficulty was the lessening by the government of interest on its securities. The interest paid was 3 per cent, making a good investment for English capital; but when the government cut the interest down to 2½, then people began to look out for other places to put their money. I know that a quarter of 1 per cent is such a great loss in interest on a small investment, but as in the aggregate the ½ per cent made a difference of many millions, then the loss will be appreciable, especially in England, where interest is low anyway. This action of the government was highly applauded at the time it was taken.

"The men with money thought this way. If I can get a good security at 4 per cent, why is not a 6 per cent one, probably equally as sound, so much better?—Being Brothers were pinched by floating loans for the Argentine and other governments. When they threw open their books for public subscription to Argentine bonds the public only took two-thirds of the loan, leaving them to shoulder the rest. Such financing could only result in one thing—disaster. In a smaller way because the investments were smaller, the floaters of American securities could not stand the pressure when the public would take only half or two-thirds the capital the floaters had guaranteed. Matters are quieter in London now.

"The result of the panic will be to cause a long period of conservative investment. The people will not embark on many new schemes, and sovereigns will stay locked in the banks rather than go into wild cat speculation. It will be several years before English money is as free again as it has been."

"In times such as these it is the unfortunate fact that the best and most desirable of securities suffer and depreciate with the ones that cause the trouble. For this reason it is expected that English investment in this country's industries will receive a severe setback."

The Brightest for Years.
Yesterday was a remarkable day, so the signal service men say. It was a remarkably clear day, in fact, the clearest Duluth has seen in years. Nearly the whole country was fortunate in this respect, and rain and clouds were scarce.

Happy Assurance.
Minneapolis Times: The hope included in by the republicans of an seemingly scramble among democrats for the next speakership will not be realized. There will be no undignified contest detrimental to the party's interests. Thoughtful and sensible democrats realize that personal ambition cannot be taken into consideration, but that the party, after full consideration, must select such a man as will possess the qualities necessary to ensure the wise and harmonious action of the majority.

NEWS OF WEST DULUTH

What is Going on at the West End of the City.

BIG ENGINES CAN BE BUILT HERE.

And the Two Iron Founding Concerns are Liable to Build Them.

It is probable that the new 700-horse power engine as well as the boilers to be used by the Imperial mill to furnish power for the 2500 additional barrels of flour it will be grinding next summer, will be built in West Duluth.

There are now two concerns in the city that are able to build engines of any size and power and they both claim they can do the work as cheap as any Eastern companies. The Marinette Iron works and the Iron Bay company are both larger concerns and capable of carrying out larger contracts than most people imagine. If this engine is built in Duluth it will be a tremendous aid for the city in many ways. Heretofore such an engine could not be built west of Milwaukee where are located one of the biggest engine building works in the country.

ELLISON TELLS WHY.

Scandinavia Should be Represented at the Fair.

WONDERS OF THE FAR NORTH.

Characteristics and Products That the World May Well be Proud of; The Northwest.

Olaf Ellison, a Scandinavian writer of Duluth, and well-known through the Northwest, contributes a two-column article to The Chicago Herald explaining the desirability and importance of a comprehensive Scandinavian exhibit at the World's fair. After some explanatory remarks of the geography of the Scandinavian countries, he says:

Denmark's claim to recognition lies chiefly in two directions. The first is founded in one of the most remarkable developments of Europe of practical value to leave practically nothing undone in this direction, and so commercially effective that it has almost displaced the same products of England in their markets. Secondly, an art development which more especially in the line of sculpture and marine painting has reached a rank which is uncontested in modern Europe. Thorwaldson was the Michael Angelo of the North, and around him there has grown up a school of artists which enables Denmark today to sustain to a considerable degree the relation of ancient Greece to Western Europe. These two striking features of the nation are accompanied with a literary culture and historic traditions which give her a keen sense of national individuality.

The archaeological and ethnological museum of Copenhagen, as far as its relations extend to Northern Europe, is to that portion of the world what the British museum is to India and Greece. Remarkable enough, however, with the exception of the Smithsonian institution at Washington, no museum in the world contains a more complete collection of the most striking ethnological data, thoroughly classified, bearing upon the Indian races of the North American continent.

In Sweden, a nation identical with the Scandinavians at large, yet possessing an entirely distinct individuality, the sense of historical continuity and deep pride in the nation's traditions is, if possible, more strongly marked than in the Danish people. Their central capital—Stockholm—is, with the exception of Paris, the most beautiful city in Europe. The one striking feature of Swedish life today is its genius for industrial pursuits. No nation in Europe, per capita, not even excepting England, is so thoroughly imbued with the modern spirit of industrial progress.

The kingdom of Norway is at once the greater and the smaller of the two. It is the greatest in the for the ruggedness of nature and in the power that her ruggedness has wielded over the people. Historically and intellectually the natives of Norway are more closely allied to the American element than either of the two Scandinavian brother people. The modern feature of Norway is its maritime commerce. Its population is something in the neighborhood of 2,000,000, but with only a million and a half she was officially recognized as the second maritime power of Europe for nearly a generation.

The predominant element of the Scandinavian immigration in the United States is Norwegian. There are probably no less than 5,000,000 of them in the Northwest alone. The practical outcome of these characteristics is what we have to deal with here. Its noblest feature is found in the public education, which more thoroughly and consistently illustrates the advantages of industrial training quality blended with the moral and intellectual instructions that go to make up good citizenship than almost any nation in the world. This characteristic finds also its natural representation at the two great universities of the kingdom, at Upsala and Lund, and at the great Sloyd School, Gothenburg. In art the nation has given the North some of the most remarkable genre, or fine painting, while in a purely intellectual field there are not a few names which honor the scholarship, not only of Sweden, but of Europe and the world at large. It should be added that for nearly three centuries Sweden has been developing one of the most remarkable iron fields in Europe, and that the methods of handling and the practical production of iron have reached a very high degree of perfection. The practical application of electricity is advancing at a rate which, if excelled elsewhere is only so in the United States.

In art and literature, Norway occupies a conspicuous place, in Europe in general. Its literature is the strongest distinct literature of northern Europe, including in that term Russia and Germany, as well as Scandinavia. Its art is more especially landscape painting, and has in it a quality of rare individual power, which seems to be the special prerogative of the native sons of Norway. Nearly midway between the coast of Labrador in America and Norway lies the wonderful historic island of Iceland. It is difficult to say which is the most dominating feature, its glaciers or its volcanoes and geysers. Nature presents herself in a very bold aspect, yet a peculiar sadness lingers over the island. In the thousand years which have elapsed since her original settlement by the adventurous Norseman, the climatic conditions which then surrounded her have evidently changed, and greatly for the worse. The population is a stationary one, numbering about 70,000.

Among the interesting features that could be had from there for exhibiting purposes is fine filigree work in silver. The remarkable feature of this is that in its general form it has very much in common with a kind of Greek filigree and gold ornaments as extolled by Schliemann in Greece.

It would be a very graceful thing for this greatest of all republics to see to it that an invitation was extended through the minister of the United States in Denmark to this first republic of the North Atlantic ocean and, directed to her parliament or "Althing," was made a separate one and not merely included in a general invitation extended to the kingdom of Denmark.

There are at present no less than 5000 Icelanders settled in the Northwest, who in a very short time will become valuable American citizens.

Secession From the Knights.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 21.—Whether or not the green glass workers will secede from the Knights of Labor will probably be decided at a meeting of local assembly 6111 of the Knights of Labor at its meeting tonight. The trouble which threatens a big secession from Knights of Labor ranks, originated in the plan of Louis Harrington, master worker of the Green Glass Workers National assembly, to build a co-operative green glass factory, and which has been violently opposed by members of the Pittsburgh assembly and also by some of the national officers. The secession of the green glass workmen would take from the Knights of Labor over 3000 of their best paying members. The condition of affairs has been telegraphed to Mr. Powderly at Denver and it is probable that he will stop here on his way home and endeavor to stem the tide of revolt.

Brotherly Love Probably.

MONTREAL, Nov. 21.—Nearly a score of prominent real estate dealers connected with the Montreal real estate exchange have here tonight on a fraternal visit to Chicago for the purpose of inspecting the real estate improvements, and of fraternizing with the members of the real estate board of that city. This is the first time that any similar organization in Canada has crossed the border on a social mission and is indicative of the growth in fraternal relations between members of professions on the other side of the border.

Centuries of Litigation.

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—The imperial court has just given judgment in a case which has been proceeding nearly 300 years. The suit was commenced early in the last century by Lubeck against the government of Mecklenburg to obtain a declaration that said town was to have the sole privilege of free navigation and fishery in several rivers and lakes. The claim is founded on a charter of Barbarossa.

Thanksgiving.

Do you know it is less than two weeks to Thanksgiving? If you have forgotten it, your wife and children have not. "She" has already made up a mental program for the dinner that day, and interviewed frequently the butcher, baker and grocer, while the "kids" have nightly dreams of pie and pudding in mountains. This is on the supposition that your Thanksgiving will be spent at home. But if you have an old father and mother somewhere, why not visit them then? Your wife would like to go to the home of her girlhood and sit with father and mother, brothers and sisters, in the evening brought from the old hearthstone. Why don't you drop business for a few days and take her to a family reunion? Do so, and remember that wherever you may wish to go, "The Burlington" either by its own line or its connections, reaches any city, town or village you can name. It is the fast line, the best line, the comfortable line, the vestibuled line, the dining car line, the direct line. For any information, apply to nearest railroad agent or write to W. J. C. Thanksgiving.

Do you know it is less than two weeks to Thanksgiving? If you have forgotten it, your wife and children have not. "She" has already made up a mental program for the dinner that day, and interviewed frequently the butcher, baker and grocer, while the "kids" have nightly dreams of pie and pudding in mountains. This is on the supposition that your Thanksgiving will be spent at home. But if you have an old father and mother somewhere, why not visit them then? Your wife would like to go to the home of her girlhood and sit with father and mother, brothers and sisters, in the evening brought from the old hearthstone. Why don't you drop business for a few days and take her to a family reunion? Do so, and remember that wherever you may wish to go, "The Burlington" either by its own line or its connections, reaches any city, town or village you can name. It is the fast line, the best line, the comfortable line, the vestibuled line, the dining car line, the direct line. For any information, apply to nearest railroad agent or write to W. J. C. Kenyon, general passenger agent, C. B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

WORLD OF COMMERCE.

Receivers Excited Today Over a Railway Notice.

WHEAT HAS A TWO-CENT BULGE.

The Situation in the East is Gradually But Slowly Growing Better.

The Eastern Minnesota railway posted the following notice on the Board of Trade this morning:

After Nov. 21 there will be a charge of $1 on all cars marked "Not Out" or on those detained for reinspection or sale.

This order is imperative, as the order says, because of the very large number of cars detained in yard, the use of which is needed by the company. Board of Trade men are very much excited over this order.

"It is an outrage," said a prominent member to a reporter. "I have had for ten days a car of wheat on the Eastern Minnesota tracks at West Superior that I have been unable to get on this side for reinspection. I have given the railway company several notices that the car should be brought up for reinspection, but to no avail; and while my wheat has been waiting the company's movements the price has declined ten cents a bushel, entailing a loss of $20 on the car. Now they want $1 more for causing the delay."

Duluth Market.

Wheat opened with a firmer tone this morning, though rather nervous and unsettled. Advancing tendencies brought on fair buying for cash for shipment and futures. Receipts have been liberal for several days past, and promise to be good as long as the present fine weather continues. The demand for cash wheat for completing cargoes is such, that shippers are accepting deliveries on December purchases at much higher figures than those now ruling. The season was very dull and inactive, with but little property changing hands. The market closed firm at 1 1/2 to 2c advance all around for the day.

Cash 1 hard trading at 2c above last night at 91, closed at 91. Cash 1 northern very firm, sales at 1 1/2 up at 84 1/2, closed at 85. Cash 2 northern, no transactions, closed 2c higher at 79. No 3 spring, a car of no grade sold early at 68, small transactions in regular grade were reported at 2c above at 69. December 1 hard started at 1 1/2 above at 91, closed at 91 1/2 bid. December 1 northern, no trading, closed 2 1/2 above, at 86 bid. May 1 hard, 1/2 above, at 90, closed firm at 1.00 1/4. May 1 northern opened at 1 1/2, advanced at 94 1/2, closed 3/4 further advanced.

Today's Movement.

Inspection: No. 1 hard, 30 cars; No. 1 northern, 142; No. 2, 41; No. 3, 2; no grade, 40; No. 1 white winter, 10; fax, 2; total, 275. Receipts: Wheat, 12,285 bu. Shipments: Wheat, 9,642 bu. Cars on truck: Northern Pacific, 138; Great Northern, 145; total, 283.

A Grain Receivers' Request.

The Grain Receivers' association of Minneapolis has requested the Great Northern road to permit all wheat in specking No. 3, rejected or no grade, to be transferred in Great Northern cars to elevators on the track. This request only refers to the lower grades, which are the ones most affected by the present ruling, which is the same that made trouble in Duluth until Duluth secured a settlement.

The Barkers.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—The doors of Barker Bros. & Co.'s banking house were opened this morning and affairs to and around the bank offices resumed their usual appearance, although no business was being transacted. It was impossible to see either member of the firm, but it is stated that a statement of the firm's situation will be made later in the day.

The fund of $300,000 subscribed yesterday by a number of banks and private banks to aid the Finance company of Pennsylvania if the occasion for it arose, to meet its outstanding liabilities, has not yet been drawn upon by the company, it being fully able to meet its liabilities. Wharton Barker was vice-president of this company and it was feared his connection therewith might cause a run upon its financial affairs.

The Investment Company of Philadelphia of which Wharton Barker was one of the directors, claims to be perfectly solvent and unaffected by the failure of Barker Bros.

Rock Island Dividends.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—A report was circulated on the Stock Exchange in New York yesterday, for the evident purpose of depressing the company's securities, that the Rock Island directors had determined to pass the next dividend. No such action has been taken or even discussed, and there is no possibility of the company's inability to continue the payment of regular dividends.

In New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—With the exception of Lehigh navigation, which fell to 43 1/2, this morning, the general market was stronger.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Cattle: Receipts, 9,000, of which about 100 were Texas and the remainder rangiers; demand steady as compared with yesterday; extra and prime export steers, $4.80 @ 5.25; others $4.00 @ 4.50; common, $3.00 @ 3.50.

3.75; Texas, $2.10 @ 2.30. Hogs: Receipts, 2,000; market active and generally a shade stronger on heavy, rough and common, $3.40 @ 3.50; heavy, $3.50 @ 3.60; light, $3.20 @ 3.40; pigs, $2.50 @ 3.00. Sheep: Receipts, 700; in better demand and stronger; natives $4.10 @ 4.35; westerns, $4.10 @ 4.35; fed Texas, $4.35 @ 4.60; common Texas, $2.80 @ 3.30; thin and common lambs, $1.50 @ 1.75; the best, $3.50 @ 3.75.

CITY BRIEFS.

It is stated that Reginald Lee is to be deputy register of deeds, in place of J. A. Swanson, the present efficient officer. The Duluth bar library placed 152 new volumes, including a full set of Indiana reports, on the shelves yesterday. E. S. Upham, member of the board of fire commissioners, took his oath yesterday afternoon. The board will meet for reorganization on the 29th, and A. L. McGregor will probably be elected president.

The ladies of Endion Baptist church this evening will give a crazy tea, for which a unique menu has been prepared. The social features of the occasion promise to be of the most pleasant nature.

At Temple hall this evening Professor Evans gives one of his weekly dances. The following variations in temperature were recorded at Pioneer Fuel company's office, Hotel St. Louis, 326 Superior street: 12 m. 30°; 3 p.m. 31°; 6 p.m. 31°; 9 p.m. 29°; 7 a.m. 34°; 9 a.m. 32°; 12 m. 34°; maximum 37°; minimum, 27°; daily range, 10°.

The youngest child of George M. Eby, a girl, is suffering from scarlet fever. His oldest child has just recovered from the same malady.

One birth and one death were reported at the health office this morning. The Elks held an enthusiastic meeting last night and committees on reception, advertising, decorations and arrangements were appointed for the benefit that takes place next Friday night at the Temple.

Miss Simonds has gone to Winter Park, Fla., to spend the winter, where she will enter Rollins college.

Among the guests at The Spalding today are J. J. Kenner, E. C. Fowler, New York; P. S. Fawcett, Boston; J. C. Butler, Cincinnati; G. B. Chapman, Dover, N.Y.; C. D. Wright, P. Landis, A. M. Wright, G. D. Kirkham, H. W. Cole Chicago; E. W. Hay, Port Arthur; C. L. Bacon, Grand Rapids.

C. E. Richardson has brought suit against Rebecca Johnson to enforce the fulfillment of a real estate contract.

Licenses to wed were granted today to Amiel Johnson and Ellen Swenson.

This is the last day for property owners to secure the 10 per cent discount on the assessments for paving Bench street and improving Ohio avenue. Large payments have been made. THE DANCE CONTINUES.

And So Far it is the Only Disturbing Element.

NO TROUBLE TILL SPRING, SAY SOME.

But Others are Still in Great Fear of an Outbreak Any Day.

PINE RIDGE AGENCY, Nov. 22.—Two of the most reliable scouts in the government's employ reported to Gen. Brooke at 9 o'clock, that 150 lodges of the Wounded Knee fanatics, including some of the most desperate and treacherous of redskins had moved to White river, twenty miles north of here, and again begun the ghost dance in a wilder manner than has been known thus far. The scouts said they had talked with several of the leaders and the latter all declared that they and their associates had fully determined that they would shoot any government officials or soldiers who attempted to suppress the dance.

This is considered by far the most sensational news that has come to Gen. Brooke since his arrival. Upon no previous occasion during the present scare have any such threatening declarations been made by the dancers. All the Indians in these 150 lodges are armed with Winchesters, navy revolvers and knives and they have large quantities of ammunition and provisions. They also are receiving heavy reinforcements hourly.

Gen. Brooke received a telegram from Mr. Miles last night, giving him power to call as many troops to this part as he deemed expedient. Some of the scouts and Indian police who were sent out Thursday to notify the non-dancing faction to move into the agency precincts, returned last night and reported that these Indians signified a perfect willingness to do as requested. A number immediately accompanied the scouts and police into the agency. It is expected that all of these friendly Indians can be gotten in by Sunday night. If this can be accomplished, the more sensational and dangerous work of the crisis, that of bringing the disturbers to time, will begin Monday morning, which is today.

An Opposite Report.
MANDAN, N. D., Nov. 22.—Trusted agents were sent to the Sioux reservation three days ago and they have returned with the following report which may absolutely be relied upon.

"There is no immediate danger of an uprising, but if Sitting Bull concludes that anything is to be gained by speedy action, trouble may be looked for at once. Sitting Bull would be arrested and put in irons, but the government agents are afraid to do this. The best it is possible to do is to keep him under close guard. He has 200 bucks at Grand River, forty miles from Fort Yates. He is dancing all the while. Agent McLaughlin of Standing Rock, has full control of Sitting Bull and his immediate followers, and dare not treat him harshly. All reports that come by wire from Standing Rock or Fort Yates are colored. There is only the military wire and a censorship is exercised over every message.

Volunteers Offered.
LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 22.—Governor Thayer is receiving numerous offers of service from Nebraska in different parts of the state for the prospective Indian war, but he says that at present he has no need of them and probably will not have the federal authorities will doubtless be anxious to protect the border as well as suppress the outbreak if it occurs.

Guns and ammunition have been sent to towns along the northern borders and all the nearest companies in that part of the state have been supplied with ammunition and instructed to hold themselves in readiness for action at a moment's notice.

Slaughter of the Innocents.
PORT DODGE, Iowa, Nov. 22.—An epidemic of diphtheria is raging at Garner, this state. The schools are closed and taken from the disease are occurring daily. The board of health attributes the sickness to the unclean water which is used by the people of that place.

Socialists Weakening.
BERLIN, Nov. 22.—The Emperor is highly elated over the fact that recent developments indicate that his idea of weakening the socialists by letting them severely alone has proved highly successful. At the recent municipal election at Magdeburg, Erfurt, Mainz, Schminitz, Brunswick, and Wurzburg in Bavaria, the socialists, notwithstanding the fact that they made a gallant fight, were overwhelmingly defeated.

Coal Still Burning at Fort William.
FORT ARTHUR, Nov. 22.—The coal heap at Fort William that has been a little Vesuvius for two weeks past, continues to burn away. Measures have been taken to put in a spur track and take the coal out on flat cars until the fire is surrounded by vacant space and entirely subdued.

Hitt Recovered.
ROCHFORD, Ill., Nov. 22.—Congressman Hitt, who yesterday was reported seriously ill with pneumonia, arrived in this city last evening. Mr. Hitt has been suffering from bronchial affection since the election, but is now quite recovered.

The People's Candidate.

PORT SCOTT, Kas., Nov. 22.—A large number of the representatives of the people's party of Bourbon county issued a call yesterday, addressed to the party of the state and representatives-elect, representing the name of Gen. John H. Rice of this city as a candidate for the United States senate, to succeed Senator Ingalls.

A BUILDING GOES.

Wells-Fargo Express Company's Big New Building in Jersey City Falls Injuring Many.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Nov. 22.—Wells Fargo & Co.'s express building, corner Eighth and Coles street, fell down this morning. It is reported that fifteen men were killed.

The walls of a new brick building in course of erection by Wells Fargo & Co. on Pavonia avenue suddenly fell this morning, burying a large number of men in the ruins.

The police, firemen and ambulances were soon on the spot, and the work of extricating the buried men commenced. From underneath the big pile of brick and timbers were heard faint calls for help, "we are being crushed to death," "for God's sake help us out."

While willing hands tore away the bricks from the maimed limbs of the men underneath, others pulled away iron girders and heavy blocks of wood. As fast as the ambulances arrived the injured men were sent to the hospital.

The injuries of some are regarded to be fatal and it is probable a number of them will die. One man is known to be dead, his body lying crushed beneath the heavy iron girders on the first floor. Thus far the men have been unable to pull the girders off him.

The mason work was being done by Michael Moran. He was superintending it at the time of the crash, but was uninjured. The iron girders which were used in the construction of the building were entirely too heavy for the brick wall, causing the others to fall. It is believed that a number more are confined in the ruins.

BIG VENTURE.

Importance of the Chicago Stock Yards Shall Not Wane.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—The recent purchase of 5000 acres of land near Hammond, Ind., by Messrs. Armour, Swift and Morris the big packers and dressed beef dealers, has caused a decided stir at the stock yards, among the railroad roads which were interested in the establishment of a new stock yards plant some miles west of the city. The secession of the west beef men not only threatened to seriously interfere with the value of the plant at the present stock yards, but also to discourage the success of the other venture.

The result has been that with the aid of English capital, a project is on foot for enlarging the facilities of the present stock yards and the erection of immense packing houses to be operated in opposition to Messrs. Armour, Swift and Morris.

The Armour's expect to have 150,000 people in their new town in three years.

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS.

Today is the twenty-third anniversary of the execution of Allen, Larkin and O'Brien, better known in this generation as the Manchester martyrs, for the murder of Police Sergeant Brett at Manchester, and in accordance with time-honored custom it will be observed tonight by some Irish nationalists of Chicago by a mortuary meeting at Central Music hall, at which an oration will be delivered by ex-Mayor C. D. O'Brien of St. Paul, Minn.

The name of Postmaster General Wamaker has been dropped from the roll of the Law and Order league because it is thought he does not conform to the rules in allowing mail employees to work on Sunday.

The Pacific Steam Whaling company has issued instructions to all its captains not to call at Honolulu, where rum could be obtained, but to proceed direct to the whaling cruises. They are to stop at no point where liquor can be laid in.

The race for the Manchester November handicap, at Manchester, England, today was won by the Duke of Beaufort's Partington.

BIGGEST CAR COMPANY.

U. S. Rolling Stock Company in Receiver's Hands.

SLOW COLLECTIONS THE CAUSE.

Largest Car Building Concern in the United States, With Four Great Plants,

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—The United States Rolling Stock company, having a large plant at Hegewich, was last night placed in the hands of a receiver. The liabilities are given at $3,816,000 and the assets at $6,053,000. Attorney J. L. High of the company says the failure was precipitated by slow collections and the depression in money market.

This company is one of the largest, if not the largest, builders of railway cars in the world, and has plants at Hegewich, Ill.; Decatur, Ala.; Anniston, Ala.; and Urbana, Ohio. The capital stock of the company is $4,000,000, of which $3,500,000 is paid up in cash, and there is a $500,000 of stock not yet issued. The assets of the company consists of shops, yards, real estate and machinery at Hegewich, which originally cost $1,400,000, and which are now claimed, by reason of the advance in real estate values, to be worth at least $2,000,000; its shops and works at Anniston, which cost $700,000; its plant at Decatur costing $300,000; its shops and works at Urbana, $18,000; and timber land in Alabama. All these properties, it is claimed by the company, greatly enhanced in value, the figures given being their original cost. Other assets of the company are for trust bonds of $1,533,000, rolling stock leased to various railroad companies, $800,000; supplies and material in process of manufacture, $1,100,000; outstanding accounts, good and collectable, $300,000, making the total assets $6,000,000. The liabilities are 6 per cent debentures unsecured, $870,000; 5 per cent debentures secured by $1,000,000; car trust bonds as collateral, $870,000; 6 per cent bonds secured by first mortgage on real estate and works at Hegewich, $250,000; 5 per cent consolidated bonds, secured by first mortgage on all the company's shops, yards and property except the Hegewich plant, and by second mortgage on the Hegewich property, $1,000,000; bills payable for material, supplies and current expenses, maturing within ninety days, $500,000; bank loans maturing within a short time, $294,000; miscellaneous accounts, $80,000; total liabilities, $3,816,000; excess of assets over liabilities, $2,184,000.

RAILWAY BUILDING.

One of the Greatest Engineering Feats of the Age.

BUENOS AYRES, Nov. 10.—Most of the latest papers from the Pacific and Atlantic coasts of South America contain interesting particulars concerning the Transandine railroad. Attention is especially called to the cutting of the tunnel, which, under the snowclad mountain, will unite Chili and the Argentine Republic. The total length of the tunnels being equal to 39.37 English inches; 750 metres on the Chilean side and 1050 on the Argentine side.

The international railroad of the Andes is being built jointly by Chili and the Argentine Republic, the two countries which it will unite directly, and each of which is working on its own territory. The frontier limit of the two nations is in the tunnel of La Cumbre, or "the Summit."

Of these tunnels, 11.58 metres are on Chilean territory, and 4.21 on Argentine. The tunnel of Del Portillo is really a curiosity. It is helioidal in form, and is like an immense corkscrew, winding under the mountain. Its upper opening is 135 metres above its lower entrance. The tunnels are divided into three sections, two belonging to Chili and one to the Argentine Republic. The section of Juncal includes the two tunnels of Tuncal and Juncalillo; and that of Calaveras includes the tunnels of Portillo, Calaveras and Cumbre. In each of these sections are erected houses for 2000 workers and workmen, hospitals, office buildings, etc. They are built of materials capable of resisting the intense cold of those high regions.

SELF SUFFICIENT WARDEN.
Injustice Done a Prisoner by a Clerical Error.
DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 22.—Governor Boies and Warden McMillan of the Fort Madison penitentiary are having a controversy over the length of term of a prisoner. A year ago, John Cox, a member of a respectable family, was caught committing larceny and indicted for another act of the same nature. Upon trial at Sioux City he pleaded guilty and was sentenced to one year on each charge, both sentences to begin the same day.

The year was up last August, but he was not released, the warden discovering that the clerk of the court had made a mistake in recording the sentences and that on the face of the record, Cox would have to serve another year, upon legal advice the warden held the prisoner.

The matter was brought to the notice of the governor who ordered the warden to release the prisoner forthwith, but the order was disregarded, and yesterday the governor went down to investigate. The governor's personal argument made no impression on the warden and the executive will probably interfere by remittance of sentence.

OF PACIFIC ISLANDS.

Their Political Situation Presented by a Resident.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Dr. A. B. Carter of Honolulu is in the city on his way to Europe. He is a strong supporter of the King and national or native party. "Political feeling is so strong in the islands," he said in the course of conversation last night, "that it affects even our social life to such an extent that the opposite parties are scarcely on speaking terms. The impression prevails here in America that all Americans in Hawaii are with the reform, or, as we call it, the missionary party. On the contrary, a very large number are with the natives in their espousal of independence for the islands."

"The missionary party favors annexation to the United States or an independent republic. I fear that one of two things may take place on the death of the King. A republic would be unfortunate for the natives. All the wealth is in the hands of foreigners, and a republic would mean a government of wealth and foreigners."

Will Break the Contract.

NASHVILLE, Nov. 22.—Six thousand coal miners, nine-tenths of all the miners in Alabama, will probably go out on strike on Dec. 1. Representatives from every mine in the state have been in session here for a week, and three days ago demanded an increase of wages at all the mines, to go into effect Dec. 1. This demand has been refused. Last July the miners signed a twelve months' contract on the sliding scale basis, the price of pig iron to govern the price for mining. They now propose to demand fifty cents per ton in winter and forty-five cents per ton in summer.

Secretary Bond Coming.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Nov. 22.—Hon. Robert Bond, colonial secretary of Newfoundland sailed yesterday en route for Washington to conclude, if possible, some arrangement between the United States and Newfoundland whereby the republic will admit Newfoundland fish duty free and the latter give American fishermen liberty to purchase bait in Newfoundland waters free of license charges.

Shutdown Probable.

BRASIL, Ind., Nov. 22.—The strike on drivers and day men employed in the Brazil coal mines still continues, the number of miners increasing daily, while the closing of the mines is practically complete. A general mass meeting will be held here today to act on the report of the committee appointed to confer with the operators. The latter refuse to make the advanced demands and a complete shut down is feared. Over 200 miners are idle.

By a Misplaced Switch.

KANKAKEE, Ill., Nov. 22.—The south-bound fast mail on the Illinois Central road was wrecked at this place this morning. The engineer, Ed. Barker, has one of his legs cut off and one arm badly shattered. The fireman was crushed to death. The accident was caused by a misplaced switch, which sent the fast mail train into a passenger train, which was side tracked to allow the fast mail to pass.

The Commissioners' Verdict.

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 22.—The state board of railroad commissioners who have been investigating the cause of the railway accident at Lake Labish, on the Southern Pacific, Nov. 14, in which the train went through a trestle, killing four persons and injuring 125, last night found that the trestle was faulty in construction; that the timbers in a portion of the structure were unsound, and that the trestle was not sufficiently strong to sustain the weight of moving trains.

Ought to Stop It.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 22.—Governor Nichols has received information of outrageous acts of lawlessness on the part of a gang of bulldozers in the southeastern part of this city. One night last week half a dozen negroes were ordered to leave the place. Wednesday night a negro was killed, and last night two or three more whipped. The law-abiding element there and the citizens of Baton Rouge are much wrought up over these acts of lawlessness, and the governor declares they shall be stopped if it takes the whole executive power of the state.

Makes It Even.

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 22.—The abnormal increase in exports for September, due to a desire on part of the producers to get their goods into the United States before the McKinley tariff went into operation is offset by a decrease of $2,000,000 in the value of the October exports as compared with those of October 1889.

A GOOD DEAL OF COMEDY

The Wreck of the Ideals and Bluffer Foster.

ELKS EXPECT A FINE BENEFIT.

A Noted Swedish Choir to Visit Duluth; Other Theatrical Affairs.

COMIC OPERA and dramatic comedy have been served to the patrons of Temple Opera this week. On Tuesday and Wednesday nights "The Midnight Bell" played to large houses, and the remainder of the week was booked to be taken up with Col. Foster's Boston Ideals. The ridiculous fiasco of the whole affair has already been told.

On next Friday the Elks will have a benefit out of the performance to be given by "The Burglar," that has Nov. 22 and 23, at the Temple. A sweeter, more charming production never has been on the stage than this. Of the company, which is very fair, The Milwaukee News says:

A. S. Lipman as the Burglar gave a strong interpretation. In the third act he was particularly effective. Little Vallie Egar as Editha, in the long and trying work of the act, was exceedingly good. W. H. Arnold's John Hamilton was appropriately respectful and dignified and L. A. Wagenhals as the second husband, did some good acting. Helen Ottolenghi the Burglar's wife is an actress of not a little emotional power. Miss Hattie Schell as her younger sister, Fanny, was acceptable. "The Burglar" will be the only attraction next week. For the week beginning Nov. 30, "Ole Olson" a Scandinavian character comedy and "Panst Up to Date" the great London burlesque.

Extensive arrangements are being made for decorating the house for this occasion, and as "The Burglar" is one of the leading and popular dramas, there will undoubtedly be a crowd. Among the prominent Elks who will be present from abroad are: Dr. Simon Quinlan of Chicago, exalted grand ruler; C. S. Bartram, district deputy exalted grand ruler, and wife; Dr. W. H. Crary, exalted ruler, St. Paul, and wife; Ernest Wilson, exalted ruler, Milwaukee, and esteemed leading knight, Lieutenant-Governor Fife of Ashland.

The Luttman Sextet from Stockholm, Sweden, an organization of male singers that have for years scored successes upon success in all the principal cities of Europe, are making a tour of the United States under the management of the Ridpath Lyceum Bureau of Boston and will appear in Duluth early in December assisted by Edward P. Elliott, the American humorist character delineator. The Luttman sextet was organized in 1882 by Hugo Luttman and the membership has remained the same ever since, and it is claimed by the European papers that owing to this they have attained a perfection never before attained by any similar body of singers. This organization arrived in this country last October and made their first appearance in Chicago Central Music hall, and judging from the notices given them in the Chicago papers they will to all appearance repeat their success here. In every city that they have so far appeared they have been booked for a second engagement and have created quite a furore in musical circles everywhere.

"De Lussan will never be seen on the road again," said a manager who was in town the other day. "The beautiful singer who brought the Ideals up to a high standard and captivated audiences more by her acting than her singing, is now in Europe taking leading roles in grand opera. She has proved wonderfully successful, and has achieved too great a reputation to sing outside grand opera. Her success has been greater than Agnes Huntington's; but De Lussan is a much better singer. Americans are achieving signal triumphs in England. Day's company is always welcome there, and Nat Goodwin took the town by storm. Loe Fuller seems to be making a living—and I wonder how she does it—while a score or more of American singers are taking money from infatuated Europeans. It will be a long time before instead of Anglomaniacs, soon."

The chances are favorable for the final disbanding of the Boston Ideals. Lloyd Wilson and wife have gone to New York where other engagements are open. Col. Foster looked all yesterday for telegrams from Manner Cornin at Minneapolis advancing money to the wrecked organization, but those who questioned the fidelity that prevailed between Cornin, and Foster a year ago did not look for an answer. Naturally the money lines refused to advance the required fare, and Foster would have been in a very unenviable position had not Messrs. Haycock, Condon and Landis gone to the rescue with $200. Foster claims that he will have six new people in Minneapolis, but in view of all circumstances it is likely the Minneapolis Grand will be dark during Foster's dates. Likewise St. Paul. The company is in deplorable shape and Foster has been playing on its old name and fame.

NEW YORK LETTER.

Franc Foyer Sends His Usual Weekly Interesting Letter.

New York, Nov. 22.—[Special correspondence to The Herald.]—That there was no new play presented at any of the theaters this week is conclusive evidence that theatrical business is prospering. Not only this, but it stamps success on the plays now being presented.

On Monday the Kendalls were seen in "A Scrap of Paper," the drama in which they made their American debut. Comedian Crane is arranging for a test matinee production of his new piece, Matthews and Jessup are the authors, and both they and Crane are silent as to plot or character. The new comedy is said, however, to treat of international marriages, and in it Mr. Crane will be seen as Jonathan Silsbee, a Chicago pork packer. Although it is an American play the scenes are laid in Europe. Mrs. Carter's engagement at the Broadway theater ends with the present week. On Nov. 25 will be produced the burlesque of "Pippins," the libretto of which is by J. Cheever Goodwin, the clever librettist of "The Merry Monarch." The music is by John J. Braham, a talented musician, who has done some excellent work. The play will be elaborately staged under the direction of Richard Barker, and will be rendered by a company of unusual all around excellence.

"I heard a story of Mrs. Langtry the other day that I had never seen in print. The famous beauty was discovered by the Artist Millais. It seems that some sons of England's nobility went to the Isle of Jersey to hunt and fish, and incidentally Mrs. Langtry made their trip very pleasant. Upon returning to London one of the sons of nobility, more in gratitude than from any appreciation or knowledge of the beauty of the soon-to-be 'professional,' persuaded his mamma to invite this island entertainer to London as their guest. It was done. Mrs. Langtry came, with the limited wardrobe that we have been told of so often. Among the very few dresses was the one black silk jet and lace gown that is said to have been worn at every reception, dinner and ball during the beauty's first season. This inevitable black gown showed to perfection the graceful curves of the figure and enhanced the purity of the complexion. The marvelous, exquisite complexion of the wearer did not dawn upon those Londoners, however, until one evening at a reception given by the lady whom the then obscure Jersey artist was visiting. Millais, in bidding adieu to his hostess, said: 'Madam, you have a goddess as your guest.' That was enough. London went wild over her beauty. There is an exquisite etching on sale in prominent art stores by a celebrated English artist, 'Romeo and Juliet.' While it is not generally known it is plainly evident that Mrs. Langtry is the model who perfected the artist's idea of Juliet.

The Opera.

Signor Montegriffo, tenor, late of Hammett's English opera, has been engaged for the Carl Rosa company and will sail for London in January.

Werner Alberti, a young tenor who is meeting with success in Europe, is coming to America with his own company next season to give popular German operas.

Zelle de Lussan continues with the Carl Rosa opera company throughout the English provinces, with much success. Miss de Lussan is to sing in grand opera at the London Covent Garden in the spring of 1891.

Emma Juch grand English opera troupe has already been on tour eleven weeks and has dedicated to the most important new theaters, one of them being over half way across the continent. This organization has 150 members and requires a special train of eight cars to transport them from place to place.

The Drama.

Robert Mantell plays "Hamlet" in a blonde wig.

Henry E. Abbey and wife have gone to Europe. Abbey is supposed to be after Patti.

Actresses are dressing very quietly this season. On the street, and at professional matinees their attire is of the soberest hue. The garish gear of the sobrette is a thing of the past.

It is nearly thirty years since spectacular drama found its home at Niblo's and since then every great spectacle has been seen in New York City has found its habitation on the stage of that house.

Charlotte Thompson, a once popular, refined and brilliant player, has retired from the stage poor, and is earning a livelihood in Milwaukee by teaching young ambition how to act.

KILLEN & SHEEHY.

Articles were signed yesterday by Pat Killen and Joe Sheehy for a ten-round contest with four-ounce gloves for a stake of $500 and 65 and 35 per cent of the receipts. The fight will take place in the Jackson street rink, St. Paul, on Saturday, Dec. 20. Sheehy will train in Minneapolis and Killen will commence Monday in the basement of his saloon, where he has a fine gymnasium.

Out of doors its football and indoors its billiards these fall days. Everyone is taking a great interest in the game just at present, both locally and all over the country. Billy Toie, who plays Jule Meyer at St. Paul tonight, is the second game, and should Toie win he gets the championship of the Northwest and $500. Odds in betting are in his favor.

A Chicago Brush.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—The fight to a finish between Ed Bartlett of Boston and Tom Ryan of this city and Michigan will be settled tonight. The prospective bill agreement of good deal of excitement among the sporting element, and a big crowd is likely to be on hand, although the plans of the managers, contemplating the exclusion of the rough element, Bartlett has fitted himself for a hard fight and is not doing much talking.

Ryan is also in much better condition than when he faced Con Doyle. Tom Ryan recently defeated Con Doyle near this city. Bartlett is one of the Boston Orin club's men. The limit weight is 140 pounds. If Ryan is declared the winner, Wykes will be pitted against him by St. Louis sports.

A Game Dinner.

OF SOCIAL EVENTS

Many Doings in Duluth Society the Past Week.

RATHER A BOOM IN MARRIAGES.

Work of the Ladies Relief for the Year: Weddings, Notes and Personals.

THERE was a pleasant company at George Spencer's residence last evening attended by the members of the Ladies' Literature class and their gentleman friends. The class have been studying French literature and some of their recent meetings have been so pleasant that they repeated some of the papers and invited their friends to share the pleasure of such an evening. The program included a sharply drawn sketch of the political history of France during the life of Madame de Staël by Rev. E. M. Noyes; an exceedingly interesting description of the French salons by Mrs. W. S. Woodbridge; a bright study of Madame de Staël by Mrs. W. S. Birch, and a reading from Corinne by Mrs. J. D. Ray. Mrs. C. d'Autremont was unable to read by reason of a severe cold much to the regret of the guests.

The Y's Annual.
The fourth annual meeting of the Y's took place last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Bradley. The Y's call it their birthday party, and it certainly was a pleasant one. Mrs. Wiggins sang "Under the Daisies." Dr. Holden gave a cornet solo and Mrs. Chague a piano solo. Dainty souvenirs of white ribbon, with flowers, the name of the society in fancy lettering, five golden links, representing the five letters of the name and other designs all with the date were presented to each guest. The reports of the different officers and superintendents of various departments were interesting and encouraging. Especially so was the treasurer's report. The receipts for the year are nearly $100 and $7 now in the treasury. The society has bought and paid for a lot which cost $1000. Paid $61 from the treasury and the remainder from the sale of two lots which they owned before. They have paid state dues of $36 and contributed largely toward the building of the Temperance Temple in Chicago and other objects. There are sixty-five nite boxes out for the temple now which will be called in in January. There were six new members enrolled and over 100 present, and altogether it was a very happy birthday.

Some Weddings.
Cards have been received announcing the marriage of Alexander L. MacGregor and Coralyne A. McLachlan at Fort Wayne, Ind., Thursday, Nov. 20. This announcement occasioned considerable surprise among the many friends of the groom in this city, who had no idea that he contemplated matrimony when he left the city a few days ago. Mr. and Mrs. MacGregor will be at home after Dec. 1 at No. 229 Third avenue east. Miss McLachlan is known in Duluth from her visits at the home of Neil McLachlan of this city.

Cards are out for the wedding of Mr. Samuel G. McGonaghy, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of Duluth, and Miss Lillian Howell of Philadelphia, to take place on Dec. 4, at Oxford Presbyterian church, Philadelphia. They will make their home at 21 East Third street, Duluth.

On the evening of Nov. 18, at the First Presbyterian parsonage, Mr. John B. Manary and Miss Mary Ramer, both of Two Harbors, had their fortunes united by Dr. Ringland. Mr. Manary is a Duluth & Iron Range employee.

The marriage of Miss Jones and Mr. W. B. Dixon occurs Tuesday evening at St. Paul's church. After the wedding there will be a reception at the home of Col. and Mrs. Jones, East Second street.

John L. Marzoe who lived at Duluth for some years and who is now living at Newport News, Va., will be married on Dec. 10 to Miss Kate Dickinson of Virginia.

A quiet but pretty wedding which took place at St. Joseph's church, St. Paul on Wednesday was that of Miss Martha J. Larpenteur, daughter of A. L. Larpenteur, and Mr. Thomas Smith of the Smith Fruit company. Mr. and Mrs. Smith will be at home to their Duluth friends after Dec. 1.

The marriage of Stephen T. Peet of Seattle and Miss Edith C. Rossiter of Duluth occurred Thursday evening at Tacoma. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Osmund of the Third Presbyterian church. Among those present from other cities were Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Rossiter and daughter of Duluth. Mr. and Mrs. Peet left on an evening train for Seattle followed by the best wishes of friends.

The wedding of W. P. Schilling, the well-known musician and Miss Florence N. Hart, occurred Thursday morning at the Pro Cathedral at 8:30 o'clock. High mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Corbett. The church was well-filled with friends of the contracting parties. Jas. McCall acted as best man while Miss McDougall officiated as bridesmaid. After the ceremony a reception was given at the home of the bride's parents on East Sixth street. Mr. and Mrs. Schilling left for Columbus, Ga., where Mr. Schilling has secured a position as professor in the musical department of a college.

How the Money Has Gone.

As the time for the charity ball draws near the ladies of the Relief society desire that the public should know just what disposition has been made of the money so kindly given the society in this way in the past. The work is a noble one, as anyone can witness who will attend one of the regular meetings held on Monday afternoons at No. 4 Metropolitan building, and the ladies hereby extend a cordial invitation to anyone so inclined. During the past year some four or five families, or parts of families, who have been needy and friendless have been sent to relatives at a distance at the expense of the society; sick have been sent to the hospital and kept there until better, where it was not best to have hospital care, nurses, physician and medicines have been provided at home; garments of all kinds and pieces of bedding numbering about 900 have been distributed; new material has been made into garments for the needy poor by the ladies, or material given those who could themselves make into clothing. Groceries and provisions sent also to some forty families, and the treasurer reports having paid out over $800 in the work of the year. The society needs a generous response from the people in the way of buying tickets for the charity ball, and hopes no one will feel the less responsibility that he has not been personally addressed. Tickets are on sale at Mr. Montague's, West Superior street, and at Mr. Kugler's drug store, East Superior street.

A Philosophic Club.

A movement is on foot for the organization of a literary and philosophic club, which promises to be of great interest. Just what the name of the new organization will be has not yet been decided. It may take some such name as the Duluth Round Table and thus give itself the widest scope for action. There are a great many people in Duluth who are graduates of literary and scientific institutions in the East and abroad, and have worked in such clubs before. It is just possible, if this club enlists the people that it hopes to, that courses of lectures on a wide range of subjects will be delivered. However this is not a lecture bureau, but an organization contemplated for mutual improvement as well as public benefit.

A learned gentleman has been thought of who can be secured to deliver a course of lectures on "Evolution." It has been suggested that a course of lectures on "Shakespeare" would be very acceptable. Then there are other lines of thought which popular lecturers of the land could discourse upon profitably and with great interest.

A meeting will be held on next Monday evening to discuss plans of organization, a fuller notice of which will be given in The Herald. The prime movers in this matter are Miss Haire, Miss Hardy, Mr. Olaf Ellison, Dr. Ringland and Elliot Lord.

Mr. Mrs. G. G. Hartley have kindly thrown their doors open to the projects of the new club.

Y. Notes.

Dr. and Mrs. Pillsbury, who have been visiting in Minneapolis, have returned home. Miss Maud Nichols has been making quite a lengthy visit in Owatonna. She returned home last week. Austin Randall has had quite a siege with typhoid pneumonia, but is now convalescent. Mrs. L. H. Whipple, who is visiting her old home in Ohio, is reported ill. Mr. Whipple will spend Thanksgiving with his wife there. Mr. and Mrs. George H. Prudden will soon move into their new house at Crosley Park. Mrs. J. Adam Bede, president of one of the Washington, D. C. Y's, will return to Duluth with her husband. The Y's will welcome Mrs. Bede back to her old place in the union here.

Crazy Social.

The capacity of Endion Baptist church was strained to its utmost to accommodate the large crowd which gathered last evening. At least 300 people were present to enjoy the unique menu which the ladies had prepared. All appeared delighted with the evening's entertainment. The next popular gathering will be on Dec. 3.

The Thistle Club.

At a meeting of the Clan Stewart, the Thistle Lodge and the Thistle Club was organized with the following officers: President, Colin Thomson; vice president, Thomas Clark; secretary, Alex. MacRae; treasurer, John Page; program committee, Simon Clark, A. S. Wilson and G. F. McKenzie.

Bethel Notes.

The Boys' club is to occupy the corner storeroom. The present quarters are too narrow for the members. The new room will give ample space for reading and amusement tables as well as for entertainments and industrial training. The friend who last year sent twenty turkeys for the Thanksgiving table has repeated the donation for the coming festival. The newsboys of Duluth are to be invited guests of the Bethel Sunday school Thanksgiving. The present club room will be enlarged by taking in the adjoining room. This will give Miss Hubbard commodious quarters for the kitchen garden and other industrial classes.

Social Notes.

Tickets are selling well for the charity ball next Monday evening. Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McGonaghy entertained a number of friends Wednesday evening.

Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Amos Daniels gave a pleasant clam chowder supper to a number of friends. The entertainment which was to be given next Tuesday at Catholic hall by the young ladies, has been postponed till Dec. 2.

Mrs. W. R. Stone entertained a number of friends yesterday afternoon in honor of the Misses Hubbard, lately of Chicago.

Invitations are out for a musical and literary entertainment to be given by the president of "Our Whist Club" on Thanksgiving eve.

The Sabbath school of Endion Baptist church will give a Christmas entertainment on Christmas eve, Dec. 24. A popular cantata will be rendered. Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Peck left Thursday night for Central Florida, where they will spend the winter. Mr. Peck owns some orange groves there.

The Ladies Church Furnishing society of the Lakeside Presbyterian church held a sale and serve a hot supper from 6 to 8 o'clock Wednesday, at the church. The Epworth league of the Methodist church will give an entertainment at the church next Wednesday evening. Refreshments will be served and it will be a good place to spend a pleasant evening.

The ladies of Endion Baptist church propose to give an oyster social and fancy sale on Dec. 3. Friends who desire to contribute articles to the fair will please send either to Mrs. E. S. Upham, president, or any of the ladies.

The Kings Daughters of the Congregational church held a pleasant "pound social" at the residence of M. J. Carpenter last evening. The young ladies have furnished and care for a room in St. Lukes hospital, and they netted some $18 for their fund last evening.

The youngmen's social took place at the rooms of the Y. M. C. A. Monday evening. Refreshments were served, and a very pleasant evening was passed.

Secretary McCaughy is planning by an increased membership to raise the funds necessary to remodel the ground floor.

Professor R. H. Evans is giving a series of hops at Masonic Temple hall every evening. He has good music and all the arrangements are most tasteful. Every one who enjoys dancing—and few do not, gladly embrace this opportunity. Last evening's dance was a pleasant success.

The Unity club will meet on Tuesday evening in the church of the First Unitarian society. There will be a discussion of "Emerson's Essay on Friendship," the leading feature of the evening's entertainment. Hon. O. P. Stearns will open the discussion.

Miss Clara Gregory of Marquette, was united in marriage Thursday to Mr. C. H. Merritt of Duluth. The ceremony occurred at the residence of the bride's parents, by Rev. F. C. Pillsbury. The parlor was tastefully decorated and the wedding party stood under an arch of evergreens and mountain ash berries. After the ceremony the newly wedded pair departed for Duluth. The young couple were the recipients of many handsome and valuable gifts, some coming from as far distant parts as England and Texas.

BUSINESS SITUATION.
The financial stringency, say the commercial reviews, has checked buying, difficulty of making foreign exchange threatens to retard movement of cotton and a more conservative temper is seen in trading, but everything thus far indicates a sounder condition of legitimate business than many supposed. The collapse of many great speculations has brought heavy losses, but the public has not been taking much part in such operations. While money markets are generally tight, there is still no unusual complaint as to collections though rediscants have been large. The volume of business continues to exceed that of any previous year at all clearing houses outside of New York, about 18 1/2 per cent for the month thus far. Exports have been checked at New York, falling 9 per cent below last year's for the month, but imports here in half of November exceed last year's by 29 per cent. Prices are yielding, which will help exports of products.

There are very few interior markets at which more or less stringency is not reported. Reports of trade are encouraging. The South is moving the largest crop of cotton ever grown, and while exchange causes some embarrassment the movement is rapid. On the whole the commercial outlook is decidedly more favorable than might have been expected. But while the outlook is cheering it is wise to remember that all the difficulties have not vanished. Business failures during the past seven days number for the United States 247, Canada 27, a total of 274 as compared with the total of 266 last week.

It appears from all reports that the speculative panic is over, and while money here and at other interior points will probably be tight for a month, the future is brighter even now than for some time.

WOMEN AS LAY DELEGATES.
The vote now in progress among the laity of the Methodist church upon the proposition to admit women as delegates to the general conference shows, so far as reported, that there is very little opposition. In the Western and Southern states the vote is pretty near unanimous. The vote in Duluth, The Herald is glad to say, has been strongly in favor of the women.

Last year four conferences sent women delegates to the general, and the question of their eligibility under the organic law of the church, was considered at great length and with much diversity of opinion. It was agreed to submit the matter to a vote of the church membership, every member over twenty-one being entitled to vote. The question was put direct, "May the lay delegates to the conference be women?" There can be no question as to a general affirmative decision, and there is no doubt of another fact, that it will be a powerful and progressive element of church power.

A correspondent of The Herald suggests that Lakeside people take the name of "Onarokeseen." Unfortunately for them—Lakeside people determined to keep their old name before this luminous suggestion was made.

If you don't see what you want in The Herald tonight, ask for it. In speaking of The Saturday Herald it would be well for readers to recollect that the regular daily edition of this paper is regularly increased by from 850 to 1000 copies for Saturday sale and distribution, and that the regular edition, outside of this increase of one day in the week, is far larger than any other paper in the city.

If the democrats are going to elect the speaker of the next house of representatives of Minnesota, who ought to have a better show for the place than Joseph Capser of Stearns county, who has served in both house and senate with credit to himself and the state? The Herald has no interest in the selection further than in the choice of some man of competence and character, but for Duluth's sake it would like to see a hearty friend of this city in the speaker's seat. Such a friend Duluth has and can count on in Joseph Capser.

Though the United States will produce over 10,000,000 tons of pig iron this year, an amount which five years ago would have been regarded as utterly impossible in so brief a period, the consumption keeps full up with the output. Of unsold pig iron the entire stock in the country is not equal to more than a two weeks' supply. In other words, if production of pig iron were to cease for two weeks, the entire supply in the country would be exhausted. There is probably no other great industry in the world in which the consumption has pressed so closely upon production. Rolling mills, foundries, machine shops, structural iron works, bridge building works, car works and other users of iron are so overcrowded with orders, that it is almost impossible for them to make prompt delivery.

SEEN AND HEARD.
Talking this morning to an artist friend of mine of the beautiful stained glass windows, the design of a Duluth artist, that are to ornament the new Presbyterian church and which are described at length in another column of The Herald today, he said: "In the olden time the church was the only patron of art of any sort, so all the glass designs were of an ecclesiastical character—Madonnas, saints, and subjects connected with Biblical themes. Now, however, a vast field is opened in home decoration, and the demand for stained glass windows for dwellings is simply wonderful. The taste shown in many cities is barbaric—people perfectly satisfied with a brilliant color—you'll see it here—but as the cities of our Western states grow in other than material wealth, the demand for good designs in both color and form will, no doubt, crowd out of sight many of the specimens now on exhibition. The manner of making these windows is interesting. The designer makes a miniature colored sketch, exactly as the finished window is to be. From this a cartoon is made the exact size of the window, which the workmen cut into pieces following the charcoal lines, and these pieces are used as patterns from which the glass is cut. The various tints and colors of the sketch are matched by pieces of selected glass and then the whole is leaded together and fitted into the sash. One can easily understand that a good result depends on the designer, the correct selection of colors by the workman, and the quality of the glass used. It is an art, little understood yet, sure to be brought to great perfection, and worthy to command the interest and respect of all."

We were speaking of Frank Collom, the young Minneapolis Napoleon of finance, who has lately been tried for forgery and has lost his title. The speaker was a bright architect, lately from the Flour City, where he was highly regarded. "Collom is the only man I ever envied," said he. "Some years ago I had charge of the Boston block in Minneapolis, and young Collom leased a top floor office. It was a $10 a month office and it used to take me three or four months to get a ten on account. He scraped along awhile and finally I lost sight of him. Two or three years afterward Collom came into my office. I was paralyzed when he said he wanted plans for a $5,000 dwelling. We'd sort of started out together and there he was ready for such an expense, while I—well, I was lucky to be able to rent a modest little home. What was I doing? and why was I missing all the chances? The world looked pretty blue for me. Well, I got the house started and pretty well along when on came the trial. Collom was acquitted, but ruined, and his reputation gone. It cured me of jealousy."

Duluth people have always been noted as knowing a good thing when they saw it—also why did they settle in Duluth—but as an instance of that kind of reputation, George A. French tells me that furniture manufacturers and wholesalers thoroughly recognize that Duluth takes a better grade of goods than any city of its size, or double its size, in the entire United States. Mr. French has on exhibition a $700 bedroom set that he says he expects to sell before long.

Referring to Senator Wade whose valuable library has just been presented to this city by his sons, probably few persons now recall that the distinguished senator once came within a single vote of being President of the United States. That was a hair-breadth and thrilling escape wasn't it? At the time of Andrew Johnson's impeachment Wade was president of the senate, and Johnson having passed to the presidential chair from the vice-presidential dais, Wade was next in the order of succession. As the impeachment trial neared its conclusion, conviction was regarded as a certainty, and Wade's name was regarded as already inscribed on the list of Impeachment. At the last moment one republican vote slumped out, leaving only thirty-five for conviction to nineteen against, so that the necessary two-thirds were not obtained. Senator Wade undoubtedly had his proposed cabinet selected, and it was an open secret in Minnesota that Morton S. Wilkinson of this state, was to have been his secretary of the interior. Mr. Wilkinson, who is now known as the old democratic war horse of southern Minnesota, was then a staunch republican. He had served with some distinction with Senator Wade in the senate in early war times, and the two gentlemen were understood to be much attached to each other.

ODDS AND ENDS.
The municipal government of London which has a population of 4,500,000, costs the taxpayers $25,000,000. The population of New York city is 1,500,000, and its municipal government costs the taxpayers $38,000,000.

One of the most recent improvements in the line of belting for machinery is the Midgely wire belt. It is not affected by heat, drought or moisture, and is nine times stronger than leather of equal weight.

There is a scheme to cut a third tunnel under the St. Clair river to Sarnia, to be used by street cars, foot passengers and wagons. The Grand Trunk will begin work on its second tunnel soon.

Port Arthur Sentinel: Duluth has set a good example to Port Arthur. Pluck, perseverance, unselfishness, venturing the sprit to catch the mackerel, and backed by natural advantages are the attributes that have sent Duluth to the front. Port Arthur, by way of natural advantages for the head of the lake metropolis yields to no site—even Duluth.

The bread that giveth strength I want to give.
The water pure that bids the thirsty live;
I want to help the faltering day by day.
"I'm sure I shall not pass again this way."

I want to give the oil of joy for tears.
The faith to conquer crowding doubts and fears.
Beauty for ashes may I give away—
"I'm sure I shall not pass again this way."

I want to give good measure running o'er;
And into angry hearts I want to pour
The answer soft that turneth wrath away—
"I'm sure I shall not pass again this way."

I want to give, o'er as the Master gave,
Up to the erring, and I want to have Forgiveness in my heart from day to day—
"I'm sure I shall not pass again this way."

I want to give to others hope and faith;
I want to do all that the Master saith;
I want to live aright from day to day—
"I'm sure I shall not pass again this way."

May Get It Yet.
St. Cloud Journal Press: As Duluth sees its chances for an appropriation for its harbor vanishing with the defeat of Congressman Comstock it feels like kicking itself into the middle of Lake Superior. That would be about the proper thing for it to do.

Now Nature for old Terra weaves
A slumber robe of autumn leaves
That in the woodland quarters keep
The flowers warm through winter sleep.
But in suburban sections where
The lawns do know a keeper's care
The leafy drift in mass is blent
And meets the heavy element,
And whose'er abideth near,
With nasal orifices clear,
Both snuff the fumes of burning piles
For miles and miles and miles and miles.

Manager Chase Talks on the Street Car Extensions.

A GROWING PLACE IS GRAND RAPIDS.

Woman's Home Does Well at the Hands of Liberal Duluth People.

Unless there is some unforeseen and unexpected intervention, the people of Duluth will be in a position to enjoy a satisfactory street car service by December 1. Manager Chase stated this morning that the heavy machinery is now all in place at the power house, the remainder of the machinery will be set in a few days, and the building is practically completed. As soon as the dynamo is ready for use the entire number of cars will be put in service.

As soon as the wires can be connected, the Fourth street line will be put in operation. The two new cars belonging to the Motor Line company and two cars belonging to the Street Railway company will be put in use and it is expected that the people will have a fifteen-minute service.

Upon the completion of the paving on Beach street the three electric cars now in use will be placed on the eastern end of the line, and the horse cars will run west from Lake avenue until the new power house is ready for use. Manager Chase is unable to say anything about the rumored extensions of the lines other than those already announced, for the company has not decided to make any more.

A CITIFIED AIR.

Grand Rapids Growing Nicely and Getting Well to the Center.

The town of Grand Rapids begins to put on quite a citified air. The new hotel, the National, built at a cost of $10,000 will be completed in ten days and is a hotel that any town of 5000 inhabitants could well be proud of. It is something badly needed as the trains are daily taking in prospectors who are anxious to look the ground over and make investments.

The new Presbyterian church for which A. Ferryberg of Duluth made the plans, is to cost $2000 and has been contracted for with F. A. B. King of St. Paul, to be completed Jan. 15 1891. The village has appropriated $3500 for side-walks. Articles of incorporation have been drawn up and are being signed for a corporation to be known as the Grand Rapids Water Power company, the principal object being the building of a dam across the Mississippi and the development of the water power. The names of many Duluth men appear as incorporators and the company will spend $50,000 on the dam. Several manufacturing plants have already made arrangements for locations on the dam. The sawmills are running full time and another will start shortly and run all winter.

Large quantities of venison are being shipped down the Duluth & Winnipeg daily from Grand Rapids.

WEST DULUTH

Has a Burglar and a Shooting Scrape; The General News of Today at the West.

Officer Jensen saw a man going into the back door of the St. Charles hotel last night, but took him to be a boarder. A little later he was notified that a burglar had been committed at the house, and he started in pursuit and found his man at the Stowell depot. He was armed with a revolver but was lodged in the lock-up. He gave his name as Thomas Frasier. He went through several rooms in the hotel and from one took an overcoat and small sums of money out of two others, one being the landlord's. He had a revolver which later was shown to belong to S. A. Osborn, and he had previously broke his store along with several guns and other revolvers, that were in the show case. He also broke the front sidewalk of Skogstead Bros' store on Second street.

West Duluth Notes. The case of Bradley & Hawkins vs. J. B. Murray was decided in favor of the plaintiffs.

Willie Farberster, son of John Farberster, Second avenue west, says he didn't know it was loaded. He was cleaning a thirty-two calibre target gun yesterday and it went off, the cartridge entering his body just above the groin. Dr. Burnside is unable yet to find the bullet, and says he cannot decide just how dangerous the wound will prove to be, but it is very bad.

At the Methodist church last evening the Lachmund concert was largely attended and greatly enjoyed. Every seat in the house was occupied and standing room was hard to find. Mr. Lachmund will give another concert in a few days.

Hon. James Hill of Warren, Wis., a capitalist and owner of considerable Duluth property, was in town this morning calling on his old friends, Rev. Moore, J. H. Bowne and F. E. Bradley.

Hopes for Good Methods.

Rev. H. H. Hart, secretary of the state board of corrections and charities, will speak on "Prison Reform" in the Pilgrim Congregational church tomorrow evening. Special invitations have been extended to the city and county officers to be present. Mr. Hart comes here at this time because of the expected early opening of the county and city jails, and because that he is anxious that the very best administration methods may be put into effect in these jails—excellent as architecture and architectural skill can make them. Mr. Hart hopes Duluth will lead the state in the administration of her corrections and charities.

The New Channel.

The new channel between Rice and Corners points is completed. Two dredges are clearing away ridges and clearing up, and everything will be ready for the first boat that comes along. Several tugs went through last night. Major Quinn has done some quick work on this channel, for it was not expected to have it finished before time for the opening of navigation next year.

HISTORIC OLD BUILDING.

School House in Which Prominent Men

Learned Their Alphabet.

VERSAILLES, Ky., Nov. 22.—Of those who visit the picturesque little church at Pisgah few know of the historic interest which hangs round the old stone building at its rear. This building is the original Transylvania university, one of the two schools which united to form famous Transylvania. The older branch was founded at Elk Horn Creek 1785, but in 1798 the Presbyterians separated from the school, and by aid of subscriptions from George Washington and John Adams, who were at that time president and vice-president, and from Father David Rice and others, founded a school at Pisgah, denominated Kentucky academy, which continued until 1800, when they were united, forming Transylvania.

The little school at Pisgah, however, kept up its fame for many years after its title was taken away, and has in its day claimed as scholars some of Kentucky's most famous sons, and the old stone walls have echoed to the schoolboy eloquence of such men as Rev. Dr. Robert Breckinridge, the Hon. William C. P. Breckinridge and the Hon. Thomas F. Marshall. But it is used only as a storehouse for grain and farming implements.

Shipping Prospects.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 22.—The Marine Review says: The season promises to close with fair rates on late trips, although there is no flurry in the market. Ashland shippers of ore are endeavoring to secure boats for probably a dozen more loads and brokers are holding for $1.30 on some tonnage that might be secured, but shippers refuse to pay this. It is only a matter of a few days, however. On Milwaukee coal $1 is freely offered and the same rate was paid early in the week on some loads to Escanaba, but within the past few days shippers have secured tonnage at 80 cents.

CHEAP HOMES

It is a well known fact that persons of small means can acquire a home easier and quicker by filing a homestead or pre-emption right on government land than in any other way. ROBBINS & CULBERTSON have constantly on hand minutes of first-class Pine, Mineral and Farming Lands, upon which they are prepared to locate parties at reasonable rates. They are also prepared to negotiate sale of relinquishments for parties wishing to relinquish previous filing and save their right. Rooms 15 and 16 Fergusson Block, Duluth, Minn.

WEST DULUTH EARTH

STILL CONTINUES TO BE THE BEST INVESTMENT FOR EVERYBODY.

Third and Seventh Divisions

Are on the market for building contract only. About thirty lots in Third Division can be sold on regular terms. Look at the map, note the row of factories built and being built that fences this property on one side, with the advantage and opportunities for dock facilities, taken together with its proximity to business property already established, and see if you can discover any reason why this should not all become business property. Compare the prices with other localities and observe the difference in favor of this property.

CENTRAL AVENUE

Is an old time favorite and friend of the investor. We control several fine lots on this street that will always be a safe investment. FOURTH STREET NORTH, with its contracts for brick buildings, in addition to those already built, paved street, wide sidewalks, electric railway, and postoffice, cannot help feeling the general improvement and be a next friend to its purchasers. Two double corners at Broadway with several inside lots are offered at prices that will produce a profit.

Second :- Street :- South

Has achieved wonders by reason of its intrinsic merits as a business center and in spite of the fact that it never had a boomer to advance its interests, is today one of the best in the city. We control several fine lots, including some elegant corners that will surely double in value within a reasonable time.

DWELLINGS! DWELLINGS!

For those that decline to take any speculative chances the renting of houses affords a legitimate field for the investment of money affording a profitable income with a demand that cannot be lessened by reason of the unprecedented influx of population. Our list of dwellings is large and varied and either the homeseeker or investor can find on it unrivalled opportunities for either investment or a home. BUILDING CONTRACT means that the person with small means can secure a lot by the payment of merely a nominal sum upon which a home can be built, and 1, 2 and 3 years taken in which to pay the balance. Many families have taken advantage of these generous terms and now are putting the money, that formerly went into the landlord's pocket, into a home for themselves, while, at the same time, they are enjoying the independence of one living in his own home. We have lots in all parts of the city that can be had for this purpose. Call at our office and look over our list, make your selection and secure some property before it advances, in what is sure to be the center of population on this side of the bay. WE DEAL IN WEST DULUTH PROPERTY ONLY. IT IS THE ONLY THING THAT IS GOOD ENOUGH FOR US.

GOLD PLATED INSIDES

The New Cure for Drunkenness, Opium and Tobacco.

A REFORMED MAN TELLS THE STORY

A Cure That Not a Few Duluthians are Now Testing at Home.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Professor Koch's discovery, a few years since, of the bacillus of tubercle, which he demonstrated to the medical world beyond question of doubt, produced possibly a greater revolution in the profession of medicine, than any discovery since the days of Harvey and Jenner. And his recent announcement of a cure for the opium and liquor habits, has caused a thrill of joy in many hearts saddened, heretofore, by the hopeless belief that no cure existed. The secret has been imparted to a few already and are long will be in the hands of the profession, to be tried and proven or, I trust not, rejected.

My object in this article is not to discuss Professor Koch's treatment, but to call attention to a discovery made some years since by one of our physicians for the treatment of the opium and liquor habits and the use made by him of the salts of gold, which form, I understand, the principal agent in Professor Koch's treatment.

I refer to Dr. Kwoley of Illinois, a gentleman, the better part of whose life, since the war has been spent in experiments with gold, as the basis of a cure for these habits of disease, with the grand result of complete success. To relate in an article of this kind specific cases would be but to invite, I fear, incredulity and I have but one desire in this matter, and that is to reach, if possible, some unfortunate, suffering from these habits, whose will power is gone, whose courage, mayhap, is exhausted, and whose hope becomes less and less as time treads faster and harder the chains.

Dr. Kwoley believing for years that some cure for these habits existed, had his attention drawn to salts of gold, the curative powers of which were long known and recognized by the fraternity, but the use of which was but little understood and was considered dangerous. Finally, however, Dr. Kwoley succeeded some years since, in reducing the dangerous elements to such degree that in a period of ten years, but a single death has occurred among his patients, this one due to heart failure, one of the most common forms of death known among alcoholic patients. That Dr. Kwoley's treatment is absolutely sure as well as safe is testified to by hundreds of prominent men in every state of our Union who have been snatched from the very brink of a drunkard's grave, to take once more their place in the ranks of progressive humanity, men who esteem it a pleasure as well as a duty to thank that grand old man for his wonderful discovery, men who voluntarily take occasion, as the writer here does, to spread if possible, this knowledge to all of humanity. No sanitarium exists at Dwight, patients board among the private residents of the town. A large hotel is in course of erection which will be completed by spring, where the modern conveniences will be supplied at reasonable rates.

The treatment consists of a hypodermic injection of bi chloride of gold administered four times daily, in connection with a medicine taken every two hours. No restraint is placed upon the patient, he comes or goes at will, reporting at prescribed hours for treatment. One of the grandest features, to the writer's mind, is the thorough democracy of the institution. Every patient has the doctor's respect, care, and neither wealth, position, or any other condition entitles one to preference over the other. Kindly but firmly he rules them, and after the usual treatment of three weeks, as the sixty to eighty patients bid the doctor good-bye, tears start to the strongest heart. Morphine, chloral, cocaine, as well as liquor and tobacco, succumb to the gold cure, and five to six days so completely eradicates all desire for further stimulants, that in dozens of instances have we seen men who, for years had never passed a single day without stimulants, carry back from 4 to 6 oz. of liquor, saying "we don't want it any more." This is the most humane, as well as purely scientific treatment we have ever heard of, and the only one which we ever heard of without failure. The appetite is removed, it can of course be re-created by further indulgence, but the unanimous verdict of possibly 125 gentlemen with whom the writer talked, given without hesitation, was they would never touch it again. Perhaps at some future time we may refer to this matter again, and if our efforts here, result in benefit to a single individual we are amply repaid. When we say that here is a man doing the grandest work for humanity of which we have any knowledge, we do so believing it, for recently our attention has been directed to the vast number of unfortunates addicted to the habits referred to above.

TO CONFER NEXT WEEK.

Duluth & Winnipeg Conferences to Take Place Early in the Week. The Duluth & Winnipeg people will probably start for White Oak point Monday. The Indians are ready to go into council upon the arrival of the railroad party, and by Saturday it is expected that the long delayed settlement of the Winnibigoshish reservation right-of-way matter will be reached. H. W. Haskell, right-of-way agent, will probably have the matter in charge. The company has not yet fully decided upon the plan of action for the remainder of the year. Should the weather continue good after the Indian business is settled, some work may be done in surfacing and ballasting the completed line. The company will also re-sign some important contracts this winter in construction, and let others for rolling stock, etc.

The Recipe For a Scare. James Lloyd, the Jamestown, N. D. banker, came in from the West yesterday. I have seen comments on The Herald's statement regarding the cause of the Indian scare, "said the Dakotan to a Herald reporter, 'but I think your paper was right. Port Lincoln, in its palmier days, made business lively in Montana, and I imagine that for this reason the people wish to bring the government to make Port Lincoln a supply point like Fort Snelling. It is the impression at Jamestown that the Indian scare exists half in the newspapers and two-thirds in the imagination.'"

A Western Mine. J. B. Stevens, brother of Geo. W. Stevens of the Cranberry Lumber company, is in Duluth from Mineral Mill, Mont. Vigorous Men and Women.

The vigorous are they who pay attention to the laws of health, of which one of the foremost is, take care of your digestion. Should a temporary attack of the enemy, dyspepsia, surprise you, foil your subsequent assaults with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. From the stomach come the fundamental supplies which minister to vigor, and, thoroughly transmuted into blood actively circulated, are the maintenance of the system. Pallid in countenance, nervous, attenuated in figure, appetiteless, poor sleepers, are the dyspeptic. Reinforced and built up by the great stomachic, the wan and the thin increase in color and bulk, appetite improves, nervous symptoms disappear, sleep grows tranquil and refreshing, and the intractability of mind and despondency notable in invalids gives place to light heartedness, a capacity for racy enjoyment of the good things of this life. Use the Bitters for malarial, bilious, rheumatic and kidney troubles.

ART WORK FOR DULUTH.

Beautiful Stained Windows for the Newest Church

DESIGNED AT HOME, MADE BY TIFFANY.

News for Women; What the Younger in Society are Wearing;
Notes.

THE THREE memorial windows about to be erected in the new Presbyterian church are ordered from the Tiffany Glass company of New York, and are designed by a pupil of Lewis C. Tiffany. Mr. Tiffany stands at the head of American workers in glass. He has led the work into its artistic possibilities and has set its limitations. Under his guidance and supervision the Tiffany Glass company, now bearing his name, has made the place it holds on both sides of the Atlantic, and a reputation for good, as well as beautiful work. It is to this firm, and to this leader, that Mr. Marvin has given the charge of the memorial windows to be placed in the southern wall of the beautiful church, which is now rising with such dignity and state.

As one enters recently, these testimonials of love will give a light "dim and religious," and yet filled with the brilliant glories of nature's own varied tints. In their rough hewn setting these jeweled lights will tell of worth and work well done; of hope and trust. And in the brilliant heart of each window will be found a thought of the hereafter—a victor's crown—the palm—the star of hope. Of the three openings the center light has been given to a memorial of Mrs. Mary A. Marvin, the one nearest the pulpit to the memory of Luke Marvin, and on the further side the last of the three, the inscription below shows the honored name of the Rev. Daniel Rice, D. D., a former pastor of the church. This window is erected by Mrs. Rice and bears the text selected by her, "Thy Word Giveth Light."

The general motive of the design of the last window is taken from the vine, the emblem of fruitfulness a fitting suggestion of the life so full of good works. In quaint old lettering we find the text within an open book, from which a tender radiance falls upon the clustering vine leaves and the purple fruit. Below and far above the sky is dark a deep, transparent blue in which a star is set, vying in whiteness with the greater light upon the book and bearing a brighter flame in contrast with the deep browns and rubies of the base. Borders of jewels in conventional device form a general design throughout the group of lights.

The window erected to Mr. Marvin's memory is closely allied to the Rice memorial in its general division and arrangement. In place of the climbing vine we find the sturdy oak, signifying endurance, strength, steadfastness. The russet and ochre tones of the foliage are beautiful in color against the blue background of the sky, still showing dark and distinct, save where the center glows with the jeweled crown on an ivory disc. Beyond the rays of light a wreath of palms rests in a setting of ornamental interlacing lines, and precious stones. The "In Memoriam" seems touched with sudden light, and the shadow of the base has left the name in strong relief, enveloping the dates of birth and death in a certain mystery, and lending strength to the brighter masses of the upper composition.

Pleasant in contrast is the window placed between, in memory of Mrs. Marvin. The blossoms of the passion flower, tender and leaf, fill the space allotted to the ornament. A wide twisting ribbon overhead bears the memorial tablet, and the conventional outlines are marked with amber nuggets, set about a cross glowing in opalescent setting. The soft tints of the blossoms, the delicate green of the leaves, the grace and beauty of the vine, all suggest a tender thought of womanly loveliness and grace, her dependence and devotion. Duluth is to be congratulated that she is to have windows made by such a company as has this work in hand, and not less in the fact that the artist, who has designed the work is a Duluth woman, and one of the most gifted and brilliant designers of the Tiffany staff, Mrs. John B. Weston. While Duluth has now but four stained glass windows in her churches, they are very beautiful ones, being from the hands of the most famous glass worker in France, and the three to be placed in the new Presbyterian church will be fully equal to them in every point.

In the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries the art was brought to its greatest perfection. Then until within a few years, in spite of all efforts to revive such work, it seemed impossible. A few years ago several artists in our country determined that they would discover, if possible, the secret of the ancient art. Many times labor and thought were brought to bear, to meet only failure, till finally they were successful, and now Americans stand the acknowledged rivals if not the superiors of the old glass makers. Of chemistry aided in the search, and out of the baser metals, as well as gold, came colors new and brilliant. The glass was no longer poured out into plates of even thickness, but was purposely laid thicker or thinner as the desired color was to be deep or light. No effect which can be made by paint is now out of the reach of the workers in glass. Indeed depth of color, brilliancy and softness can be had to a surpassing degree if the proper selection of glass is made.

[Evangelist.]

The day is ended. Ere I sink to sleep
My weary spirit seek repose in Thine;
Father, forgive my trespasses, and keep
This little life of mine.

With loving kindness curtain thou my bed,
And cool, in rest, my burning pinnet feet;
Thy pardon be the pillow for my head,
So shall my sleep be sweet.

At peace with all the world, dear Lord, and Thine,
No fears my soul's unswerving faith can shake;
Be a balance of love and truth,
For change is the boon of the earth—
Or God would be God in vain.

COSTUMES FOR BUDDS.

What the Fresh in Society Will Wear
This Winter.

At this time of the year there is a great deal said and written in the big Eastern cities about the "buds," and their extensive and expensive preparations for their winter campaign. The Saturday evening papers, especially in their search for bright, newsy matter, give whole columns to the debutantes' battle array—the armor in which she expects to go forth and conquer. They describe in minutest detail, the cobweb tulle, crepes and silks, and the fastenings which are fastened into their dainty ball gowns, then enshroud over the cloth and silk costumes, and go into raptures over the piles of lace underwears, the satin corsets and shoes, and the fringed hostess which is almost as long and perfectly fitting as the tight of the chorus girl. And what superlatives can do justice to her hats and bonnets, the chefs d'oeuvre of the best known French milliners, especially when the gem of the collection is gold embroidered and sable trimmed until its cost, pretty well makes way with a $100 bill!

But there's one thing of which they have omitted to tell is though it's sure to be quite time it should be well under way, and that is the very fetching skating rig in which manzelle will disport herself at Tuxedo or when she goes over to Canada to the ice festival. As made by Redfern this elegant costume is of deep amethyst velvet, a cloth, around the skirt, outlined by very fine narrow gold braid. The foot trimming is a band of pink. The bodice has jacket fronts bordered with mink, and the upper part of the bodice is a braiding of copper and gold, bordered top and bottom by bands of golden otter. The same idea is repeated in pointed effect upon the bodice, and the outside of the sleeves is a large puff of velvet.

Or it may be a gown of Hindoo brown cloth, whose full skirt has a braiding of copper and gold, bordered top and bottom by bands of golden otter. The same idea is repeated in pointed effect upon the bodice, and the outside of the sleeves is a large puff of velvet.

There is a little social game in vogue just now which depends more or less for its interest on the degree of embarrassment manifested by those who are in ignorance of its rules and are therefore made its victims. It is played at little parties, where every one is supposed to know each other well enough to avoid resenting the making of fun at his expense. A certain number of persons retire to a separate apartment. Those who do not know the game are left outside and admitted one by one to the inner chamber. The victim on entering guesses about him. He perhaps makes a remark. If he does it is instantly repeated by every one present. If he scratches his nose or rumples his hair abstractedly with his hand his action is copied instantly by everyone. In short, whatever he does is mimicked by all present, and the mystification or confusion he exhibits of course convulses his tormentors with merriment. When by accident he sinks into a seat his troubles are over. That is the sign for the persecution; the next victim is ushered in and the preceding one enjoys the newcomer's misfortunes as heartily as the old hands enjoyed his.

DAY AND NIGHT.

[Boston Transcript.]

Every shadow a sunshine bath,
The noon is the midnight's wife;
In the seven lakes of death
Stand the seven islands of life.
Each hope in a fear begins,
The sweet in the bitter lies buried,
And joy and sorrow are twins—
Or the world would not be the world.

Come down fall and down to the mind,
Light and dark in the same heart hide,
Each frown is a smile paralled,
And wrath is the soul's wrong side.
By the stars or the sun faith sings,
Love blooms untried, blessing or ban,
And thought out of toll makes wings—
Or man would cease to be man.

On the shore of a silent sleep
Stands truth as an angel strong,
From the billows of patience deep
Springs virtue with victor song:
The peace after twilight is mate
To the turmoil that went before,
And soon is brother with late—
Or time would be time no more.

All being in pairs was planned
For a life of body and soul;
For a realm of water and land
The week is eternally glassed
In time, as sky in the sea,
And a Sabbath comes first and last—
Or heaven no heaven would be.

Let the twelves of the hours take turns,
Recurrent in black and white;
Let our sad and our glad concerns
Alternate with visit and flight,
And tomorrow's wisdom and worth
Be a balance of loss and gain,
For change is the boon of the earth—
Or God would be God in vain.

BOOKS MADE AND MAKING.

New Volumes Added to the Library This Week.

LIST FOR DULUTH READERS.

Notes of Many Fall Volumes Issuing Just Now From Eastern Presses.

ABOUT 200 new books are being catalogued at the public library this week and will be on the shelves Monday or Tuesday. The bills for another order of about the same quantity were received a day or two ago and the books are looked for the first of the week. These latter are almost entirely new issues the fall publications of the eastern houses, a feature in which the library has so far been sadly lacking. It will be a week or two after their receipt before these books are on the shelves ready for the public use. The use of the library by the public is growing in a way that shows how thoroughly appreciated it is and, as well, the demand for such an institution. By far the most important news of the past week in connection with the institution has been the gift by the sons of the late Senator Wade of Ohio, his entire library of government congressional publications, a complete library in its line and one that cannot probably be duplicated except in this same way of gift by private individuals.

A Ward of the Golden Gate.

In Bret Hart's strongest and best work he toys with the unromantic. While "A Phyllis of the Sierras" and other of his later stories, show a good deal of skill it is evident the author is not in his best vein, the virility of his earlier work is missing. The new story, "A Ward of the Golden Gate," he gets back, to a degree, that strength, and so it is his best piece of work for many a day. It might be called a "tale of honor" for while a pretty love story turns in, the whole effect may be said to hinge on Col. Pendleton and his ideas of honor and trust. The colonel, who "was looked upon as a queer survival of a rather lawless and improper past," the days of "49," "while a simple word was good for any amount if you knew him, a style which was all very well for '49 and—luck, but won't do for '90 and—Business," is a pathetic character. The world would be better for more Pendletons with their belief in the honor of man, in their noble self-sacrifice, and even if need be, in their doctrine of blood for blood.

The character of Paul Hawthorne is not at all badly drawn—sketched in part from the life it is said—while that of Yerba Buena, herself the ward of the Golden Gate, is altogether bright and lovely and worthy of praise. The author two or three times touches a taut string in the harp of the heart.

Boston: Houghton, Mifflin & Co.; Duluth: Book & Paper Company. Price, $1.25.

Views of History.

For the student of history, or better still for the general reader who wants to be up in dates but cannot memorize everything and feels the need of a concise, well digested and clear summary, nothing has appeared so excellent as "Tabular Views of Universal History." It was compiled by the late George P. Putnam, and is brought to date—December 1889—by Lynde E. Jones. As the sub-title indicates it is a series of chronological tables presenting, in parallel columns, a record of the more noteworthy events in the history of the world from the earliest times down to 1890. It is arranged under carefully selected heads, in a manner to aid search for a date, and is as full as such a volume need, or can, be. As a book of reference it is exceedingly valuable and should be in every library. New York, G. P. Putnam's Sons. Price $1.75.

Brief Reviews.

Life—the fact of living, the fact and mystery of the world—is a complex and doubtful thing. Whether it is as complete a melange as the book "Life" just written by W. W. Wheeler, is, however, a question. It is a contribution to the literature of hypochondria, spiritualism and incidentally atheism, that few not interested in those subjects will care to read. It is, however, of value to all interested in psychic research. Its coincident and composite love story is crude and the author occasionally tortures with grammar in an uncomfortable manner. The trade is supplied by the American News company.

"Abein" is a novel by that gifted German, Oseip Schuber, translated into English by Elise Lathrop. It has just been issued from the press of the Worthington company, New York. Love is the subject dealt with, but a phase of the divine passion seldom used by authors. It tells the sad story of a Russian princess, who gave up wealth and title for a young artist. But the artist proved unworthy of the sacred trust imposed upon him, and for an act of indiscretion the wife leaves him. She still loves him, however, and that faithful, illused devotion breaks her heart. It is a sad story, sweetly told.

A good advertisement for Duluth—a comparison of 1871 with 1890—is issued by C. E. Richardson in pamphlet form. It contains the famous speech of Proctor Knott and some very apt estate literature.

The publications of D Lothrop company, Boston, are acknowledged to have no superior for children. Babylon, the half-year bound volume of which is just out, edited by the editors of Wide-awake, will be a joyful little book for children who are only too eager to look at pictures or for those who can read. The Worthington company, New York, issues a book of disconnected essays and papers of rare beauty and power by one of that class of New England ministers that is fast passing away. They are selected writings by Rev. A. M. Colton, and are grave or gay, thoughtful or witty, as the case may be. All are bright and skillful and all show virility and fertility of memory and imagination.

Some Notes of Books.

"The Blue and the Gray," by Oliver Optic, a story of the civil war, has been issued by Lee & Shepard, Boston. Lee & Shepard publish under the title "Summerland," a beautiful volume of illustrations, original designs by Margaret MacDonald Pullman.

Mrs. Amelia Barr's "Friend Olivia," which ran its course as a serial in The Century, has been published by Dodd, Mead & Co. of Boston. This is the most important of Mrs. Barr's recent stories. John B. Alden, New York, publishes "Destiny of a Common Place Life," a story for young people, by Mrs. R. E. Nelson. This author already enjoys an enviable reputation by reason of a previous well-known novel, "Dorance."

A background entirely new to readers of fiction is given in Professor Bandler's novel, "The Delight Makers," which is issued by Dodd, Mead & Co., New York. The Frederick A. Stokes company, New York, publish "Baby Sweethearts" and "Tiny Toddlers," two exquisite little Christmas volumes illustrated by Maud Humphrey in her best vein. "Some American Painters in Water Colors," a magnificent volume containing the most notable pictures of the year by W. T. Bradley, Maud Humphrey, Lemon Moran and other well-known American artists, and "A Loyal Little Red Coat," by Ruth Ogden.

"Samantha Among the Brethren," by Josiah Allen's Wife, is published by Funk & Wagnalls, New York. It is a humorous and semi-serious protest by Josiah Allen's Wife against the decision of the general conference of the Methodist church respecting the admission of women as delegates. Not only Methodist, but all take an interest in the vital question, "Is woman to have a voice in the government of the church to which she belongs?" This issue is discussed in such a way that a dry subject entrances the reader.

The Worthington company, New York, announces for immediate publication "A Boy's History of the United States from the Discovery of America to the Election of Harrison," with portraits of all the Presidents. The book is written by a noted teacher. This forms the second volume of "Our Boy's Library," the first volume being "By Pike and Dike," by Henty. The same firm will shortly issue "A Sister's Love," by W. Heimburg, translated by Margaret P. Waterman.

D. Appleton & Co. publish William O. Stoddard's "Crowded Out of Crofield, or The Boy Who Made His Way," one of the best stories of the year. With it is the second in the same series, "King Tom and the Runaways," a story of two boys in the forests and swamps of Georgia. Pelave Thranet writes the third of the series "We All," which comes out next week. It offers descriptions of wild hog hunting in Arkansas and has graphic accounts of the adventures of George Hezekiah Butterworth winds up the series with a book on pioneer life in Oregon and Washington, "The Log School on the Columbia."

A Pushing Magazine.

The Christmas edition of the Cosmopolitan Magazine is 100,000 copies. It contains a feature never before attempted by any magazine, consisting of 123 cartoons from the brush of Dan Beard, the famous artist, who did the illustrations in "The Yankee at the Court of King Arthur." These cartoons are placed at the bottom of each page of the magazine, and take for their subject, "Christmas During the Eighteenth Centuries of the Christian Era," with variations, showing the way in which we modern Christians carry out the Gospel. Above, and at each side of the page, is a quaint border, and with the unusually varied table of contents, will make such a Christmas number as is worthy to go into more than 100,000 households. The Christmas issue contains 228 illustrations, said to be nearly double the number that have ever appeared in any illustrated magazine.

SUB-TREASURY SCHEME.

But the Dems Will Force the Tariff Issue

AND PUT THE ONUS ON REPUBLICANS.

So, at Least, Says Roger Q. Mills, the Gentleman From Texas.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Roger Q. Mills returned to the capitol yesterday somewhat fatigued by his exertions during the late campaign.

"Will the democrats in the next congress attempt to legislate in accordance with the principles of the Farmers alliance?" queried a reporter.

"The democratic house in the fifty-second congress will meet the demand for more money by passing a silver free coinage bill, which the senate may or may not agree to and which, if it ever reaches the White House, will probably be vetoed by President Harrison. That is all the legislation we shall attempt in that line. It is idle to talk of the sub-treasury bill. The democratic party can never as long as it exists, which will be as long as it is true to its principles, do any such thing. Mr. Tilden, in his letter to the Ironsides club, stated the principle of the democratic party in one sentence.

"The general government should do nothing for the state which the state can do for itself, and no government should do anything for the individual which he can do for himself."

"We ought never to get away from that doctrine. The democratic party believes that the citizen is able to take care of himself and run his own finances. We propose to let him do it and keep us far away from paternalism as possible."

"Has the victory come to stay?" "Most undoubtedly. The people have emphatically endorsed the position of the democratic party on the tariff question. Many republicans were willing to have the necessary protection afforded infant industries but they could not understand the necessity for doubling the protection on industries which had been established 100 years. When the democratic party has control of the house it will reduce the tariff on the necessities of life. Of course the bill will not pass a republican senate, but we will redeem our promises and force the issue on that line until we get the senate and President. If the republican party persists in legislating against the common people and in favor of the trusts and combines, the revolt will be still greater next time."

Mr. Mills predicts the nomination of Cleveland by acclamation. He regards Blaine as the strongest man on the republican side.

THE SCARE.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Several dispatches from Gen. Miles were received at the war department this morning. The substance of them is mainly confirmatory of news already received from the West. It appears that affairs at the Standing Rock agency show much improvement. A considerable number of Indians from the Rosebud agency are reported to be moving toward Pine Ridge. Just what their purpose is, is not known to the army officials. Gen. Brooke who is in command there reports that he is secure in his position and that the friendly Indians are coming to the agency in increased numbers.

THE PACIFIC WHALERS.

A Valuable Catch of the Arctic Fleet From SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—Up to date twenty-seven of the Arctic whaling fleet have come into port bringing down altogether 13,537 barrels of oil, 223,203 pounds of bone and 2180 pounds of ivory beside several hundred fox, otter and bear skins representing in value of $1,250,000.

WILL RETIRE.

Parnell Gets the Sensitive Idea and Will Retire From Leadership. LONDON, Nov. 24.—The Star, the leading home rule paper in England, says it has reliable information that Mr. Parnell will retire from the leadership of the Irish nationalists.

IT DOESN'T MATTER.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The report that the Earl of Derby had subscribed £1000 to the fund for the carrying out of Gen. Booth's darkest England scheme was erroneous. The Earl of Airlie was the donor of the money.

Lester Park Dances.

Some of the Lakeside and Lester Park people feel slighted because of not receiving a special invitation to the dance and supper to be given at the Lester Park hotel next Thursday night. This is an informal affair for the purpose of having a good social time, getting acquainted with the new residents and looking to a series of hops this coming winter. A general invitation is extended to all Lakeside and Lester Park people and any of their friends whom they wish to invite. Honors orchestra will furnish the music. Dancing is to commence at 8 o'clock and supper will be served so people from Duluth can get home by train.

CAPTURING TRADERS.

Smugglers on the St. Lawrence Seized by Canadian Officers. QUEBEC, Nov. 24.—The schooner Waterly, with $20,000 worth of smuggled whisky on board, was seized in the river yesterday by customs officers on board a tug and was towed up to port. A number of other contraband vessels are reported in the river on the way up to this port, and will probably be all captured.

A TOTAL LOSS.

An Ontario Schooner Goes on the Rocks and is Wrecked; Another Burned on Lake Huron.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Nov. 24.—The tow barge Newcomb has gone on the beach nine miles west of here in a blinding snow storm and will prove a total loss. The Newcomb was in charge of Capt. Chas. Brown of Sacketts Harbor and was bound from Ogdensburg to Charlot in tow of the tug Proctor. Off Great Sodus light, the Newcomb's tow line parted and it was driven down the lake on the reef of Nine-Mile Point. It was found there later with the crew of seven men lashed in the rigging and dead from exposure.

The crew were covered with ice and wet to the skin. Captain Brown was unconscious when the life savers reached the barge and his condition is critical.

Burned to the Water's Edge.

SAGINAW, Mich., Nov. 24.—The steam barge Will a Cowe 110 tons from Toledo, burned to the water's edge ten miles north of here. Cap. John Henning and the crew had a narrow escape, fleeing from the flames without securing papers or clothing. The Cowe was valued at $11,000 and this loss was offset by $7000 insurance.

On the English Coast.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The violent gale still prevails in the English channel and elsewhere along the coast of Great Britain. A number of wrecks and collisions have been reported. The British steamer Uppingham, from Cardiff for Port Said, is ashore at Hartland.

The Rices Point Channel.

The loaded steamer North Star went through the new channel between Rices and Connors Points and along the east side of Rices Point yesterday in thirty minutes, drawing fourteen feet, ten inches of water. It took several hours to go between these points, when boats needed to go around by way of Minnesota Point and the entry.

As soon as ice comes Maj. Quinn will make a survey of the river channel above Grassy Point as far up as Fond du Lac. For this work the government appropriated $600, although the estimate called for $3500. As the next session of congress will break up in March nothing will be done with an appropriation for necessary work until 1892.

Where They Winter.

The whaleback barges 101 and 102 will winter here, the 104 will probably do so, while the rest will be at Duluth during the winter. Colgate Hoyt is on his way up and will take down a cargo of grain. The 107 is also grain laden. C. L. Colby and 109 will not start for Cuba till spring. The outfitting is not yet completed. But few other vessels will winter at Duluth. Possibly Pontiac, Missoula and one of the Northern line ships, which passed the Sault today, may do so, but it is very improbable. All are chartered down, the Pontiac with two Harbors' last ore cargo, the others with flour.

The Jameson Controversy.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The letter recently written by the brother of the late Lieut. Jameson, in which he charged Stanley and Bonny with abuse of his hospitality and breach of confidence, has brought out a reply from Bonny, who writes to The Times denying Jameson's allegations. Mr. Bonny declares that neither he nor Stanley intended to allude to the matters that have caused such a scandal, but were forced to do so by Bartlett's brother. The revelations, he says, were published before he entered the controversy. He denies that he has ever stated that Stanley read Lieut. Jameson's diary and made extracts from it.

A Reciprocal Treaty.

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 24.—Hon. Robert Bond colonial secretary of Newfoundland, arrived yesterday, en route for Washington for the purpose, it was reported, of renewing negotiations for a treaty between that colony and the United States, whereby the former shall admit Newfoundland fish duty free and the latter give American fishermen liberty to purchase bait in Newfoundland waters free of license charges.

Spreading the Fever.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 24.—Much excitement was caused in Olneyville last night because a meeting of the local branch of the Clan-na-Gael, at which 450 people were present, was held in the upper story of a crowded tenement house where was a placard in the doorway, "There is scarlet fever in this house." Many servant girls were among the audience, and it is feared that the disease may be carried all over the city. There is already an epidemic of the malady in some of the public schools.

WOULD HAVE HUNG HIM.

Lucky for Murphy That This Witness Was Hid.

LITTLE BILLY'S HOME IS FOUND.

And His Parents Communicated With; Finale of the Late Murder Trial.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 24.—[Special to The Herald].—Deputy Sheriff George Baxter recently secured some information that was gladly received by the Duluth authorities, who have been looking for the record of the murdered "Billy the Kid," or the whereabouts of his family. "New Orleans Murphy" or Brennan, is now at Stillwater serving a life sentence for the crime.

John Doran is a convict whom Baxter was taking to Stillwater. On the train Baxter and Doran met the Duluth sheriff and Murphy. Doran said he had known the boy whom "Murphy" had killed and that his parents were respectable people living in Canada, near Montreal. The parents of the "Kid" had never been informed of his death. Deputy Sheriff Baxter so informed the Duluth sheriff and the latter obtained from Doran the address of the murdered boy's parents.

Doran also gave the whereabouts of a witness very material to the case, whose evidence it is thought would have hung Brennan had it been given at the latter's trial.

A Bad Northwestern Freight Wreck.

BARABOO, WIS., Nov. 24.—Saturday night the middle span of the bridge over the Baraboo river, near this city, gave way precipitating twenty-four cars of the grain and lumber trains into the river. The loss was about $24,000. Trains for St. Paul were run over the Milwaukee road.

As To Sugar Trust.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Judge Pratt of the Kings county supreme court, rendered his decision this morning on the motion of counsel for John E. Parsons for a vacation of the interlocutory decree which he granted in the cases of the sugar trust trustees against the corporations forming it. The decree, which the counsel vacated was in favor of defendant. Mr. Parsons at that time tried to convince the judge that the case was not at issue when the decree was entered. The judge told him that he regarded the decree in the interest of immediate and honest reorganization, and he signed it only after careful consideration. This morning he denied Mr. Parsons' motion.

Would Avoid Starvation.

DUBLIN, Nov. 24.—The Freeman's Journal says that Commara is beginning to feel the effect of the potato famine. Thirteen families on the Blake estates have asked the parish priest to point out some means by which they may avoid starvation.

Good Medicine Given.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 24.—At 8:30 last night the Sumpter light infantry, thirty-five strong, left for Bishopville. A telegram received this morning states that the riot has subsided and that twelve of the ringleaders have been arrested and are now in jail at Sumpter.

A M. P. Dies.

AUGUST BELMONT DIES.

The Renowned Banker and Politician Dies Very Suddenly Today. NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—August Belmont died at 3 o'clock this morning. Belmont's banking house was closed today and on the glass door was a notice of the banker's death. In the office itself, nothing but business of the most pressing character was attended to. It was learned that Mr. Belmont's death resulted from a severe cold he contracted at the late horse show. If he had lived until the 8th of next month, Mr. Belmont would have been 74 years old.

At the time Mr. Belmont died there were present at his bedside his three sons, August, Jr., Perry and Oliver, and Mr. Belmont's physician, Dr. William M. Polk. Mr. Belmont was out and about on Thursday last. That night he was taken sick and gradually grew worse until he died. As yet no arrangements have been made for the funeral.

August Belmont was born in Alzey, Germany, in 1816. He was educated in Frankfurt, and for several years was in the employ of the Rothschilds in that city and Naples. He came to New York in 1837 as agent of his former employers. From 1844 till 1850 he was consul-general at New York for the Austrian government. In 1853 he was appointed as agent of the United States affairs at The Hague and in 1854 became minister resident. He resigned in 1858 and for many years resided in New York engaged in the banking business. He was well known as a patron of arts and sports and has taken much interest in politics, having been for twelve years chairman of the national democratic committee.

THE KOCH LYMPH.

Experiments Made in Cologne With the Cure result satisfactorily. COLOGNE, Nov. 24.—A series of experiments have been conducted here by Dr. Prior with the Koch curative lymph. Forty-five physicians attended the experiments. In all the cases the symptoms following the injections of the lymph were precisely similar to those described by Professor Koch.

Among the patients was a woman who was suspected of being afflicted with a tubercular disease. The usual methods of diagnosis had, however, failed to positively diagnose the disease from which she was suffering. She was treated with an injection of the lymph which caused a violent reaction thus proving beyond doubt the existence of tuberculous.

REFORMS IN OUR JAILS.

Secretary Hart Discourses on the Modern Methods.

HOW TO TREAT OUR CONVICTS.

Extracts of Sermons of Yesterday Preached at Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist Churches.

A large audience assembled at the Congregational church last evening to listen to an address delivered by Rev. H. H. Hart, secretary of the state board of corrections and charities. No man is better acquainted with the reforms necessary to the humane treatment of the inmates of our jails and prisons than Mr. Hart. His long experience with the state board and his love for his great work has made him the state authority on this topic.

"It is the glory of the Christian religion that it reaches out a helping hand to the low and degraded. Jesus was a man of the people, and his work was among the lowly." He said. "Inasmuch as ye have done it to the least of these, ye have done it unto me." This is the divine incentive to prison reform.

"There are 150 lockups in this state. These are blot and abominations upon our commonwealth. They are the breeding places of sin. They are usually built of pine or oak scantling, rough and green. In shrinking it leaves great cracks wherein vermin can live, creating an abiding place of filth. These places are fire traps. Within seven years five prisoners have burned to death in lock-ups, and one of these was at Tower, in St. Louis county. The poor fellows must make their choice between being frozen to death or burned alive. Duluth has one of this kind of lockup. I am thankful that the city has just built a new one that is as good as any in the state. There is one thing I object to and which should cause a protest from everyone in this city. It is a disgrace to the city to allow the cells of the old county jail to go into this new lockup. They are low, small and entirely unfit for the service and it is a mistaken idea of economy to allow them to be placed in the new building. And another thing. The cells are so placed that when a prisoner is brought into the lockup everyone in the place can see who he is. This gives the old criminals a chance to blackmail the man and keep him in evil paths, even though he had ideas of reform. West Duluth also has a lockup that is a credit to that town.

"In the old Duluth jail there was a cage in the center—literally a cage—19x12 feet, 14 feet high. This cage was divided into six cells, 6½x8 feet. Each of these cells was made to hold four persons, or twenty-four persons in all. Yet there have been crowded seventy-eight people into this room. Humane people should be thankful that this county is about to open one of the best jails in the United States.

"There is no source of vice so prolific as the county jail. They are the normal schools of wickedness. Crowded in as they are with bad characters, the men play cards, read and tell vile stories. Every man has to commit his first crime. If he is not naturally depraved, there is a chance for his reformation and he may again be enabled to take a place among honest people. Put him in with a jail full of old offenders, the scum and filth of the streets, and he soon becomes as depraved as they are. As soon as these fellows find that the new offender has a conscience they joke him about it, and when he is discharged from jail they blackmail him, and sometimes the discharged man finds it impossible to keep an honest life.

"Solitary confinement is the solution of this great problem. It has been tried in several states and works to entire satisfaction. Another reform that should be instituted. No important witness, detained by the county, should be kept in the county jail and given the same treatment as a prisoner. But they are, nevertheless, and the act is a shame and an outrage. Insane people detained for examination are also put in among prisoners. Prisoners awaiting trial should also receive solitary confinement and be well treated, for few men are guilty until proved so." Mr. Hart gave other excellent advice, which should be followed by Duluth authorities.

At the First Methodist.

At the First Methodist church last evening Rev. Dr. Stocking preached an eloquent sermon from the text: "The Wages of Sin is Death; But the Gift of God is Eternal Life Through Jesus Christ Our Lord."

He said: There are passages scattered through the Bible which are clothed in a two-fold interest. Such a passage is the text. The fact that there is a remedy for sin forms the bright and cheery side of the passage. How sin got into the world gives rise to a thousand vexing questions and as many vexing theories are brought forward. An answer is found all through God's inspired word. Not how sin got into the world, but the remedy for it is what should engage our thoughts. There is an opinion that a sinner's life is a very easy life to live; that he glides quietly down the stream with the current, while the Christian has to struggle up the stream and beat his way against the tide. Take a Christian who has a sort of rheumatism or neuralgia of his spiritual system, and he has become scared and has a hard time in life. He is not a Christian. The sinner's life is a life of service and constant transgression of law. Both sinners and Christians have a life of service, but one is building up the other tearing down. One works for an inheritance, the other for wages—and the wages of sin is death. Endless punishment for a human soul may seem inconsistent with a kind and considerate God, were it not that an alternative had been prepared."

A Thanksgiving Glean.

Rev. Dr. Ringland at the First Presbyterian church yesterday morning preached a sermon appropriate to Thanksgiving, and his discourse was filled with strong arguments against the unbeliever.

During the discourse the speaker said:

There is a dependence of parts in the structure of the earth. The latest form of sceptic is what is known as the atheist, who says that if there is a God he has never been seen. Their theory is anything but practical in its workings. If there was no inspiration being to govern the earth everything would go up in anarchy and discord. We do not want to say that the men who propound these theories are men of no intelligence. We can do better than that. All matter has life. Gradually that life elevated till we have man. This shows that life is endowed by some one. The atheist acknowledges not, but it is not ready to call the giver a God.

It is immaterial whether we say that nature is kind or God is kind, so long as we say it knowingly. Both are the great causes which co-operate to bring about the desired result. Man is the beneficiary who receives all the good resulting from this co-operation. It was God's pleasure when he created this earth, to make with gold, its ribs are of iron; lighted by millions of electric lights and her bosom covered with flowers and grasses. Did God give the moral law the did not, but he made the conditions of greatest in Christ's kingdom and he is greatest who can help and bless more than others. Herein lies the essential difference.

At Endion Baptist Church. Rev. George H. Kemp: All men are seeking greatness, and all men are common in inspiration. Self is the primal idea of the world's great man and the extent of his greatness is measured by the number who administer to his wants. Service and self-sacrifice are the common of greatness in Christ's kingdom and he is greatest who can help and bless more than others. Herein lies the essential difference.

An English Lutheran Church. Rev. Dr. Pessevant of Philadelphia, who preached two sermons at Parsons' hall yesterday, is looking about for a lot on which to build a church for the English Lutherans. This congregation now numbers nearly fifty communicants in Duluth and will, no doubt, be one of the most flourishing societies in the city, as it is the intention to consolidate all of the Lutheran churches in the city.

Preparing for Christmas. Merchants are preparing for Christmas, and stocks are increasing in novelty and bulk. The window trimmes of the Great Eastern Clothing company is getting in his artistic studies these days, with happy results. Burrows has become a heavy importer and his show many importations in underwear, neckwear, etc. There never was a time when more odd conceits were shown than there is at present.

For a severe and aggravated cough, accompanied by a sore chest, I have used Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup with the most satisfactory results, obtaining, as I did, speedy relief.

THE INDIAN TROUBLES.

A Duluth Man Who has Been on the Pine Ridge

BELIEVES THERE WILL BE BLOOD.

Buffalo Bill, who Ought to Know, Talks; The News From the Agency.

A gentleman who recently returned from a trip to Huron and Pierre, in speaking of the Indian scare today, said that the people of this part of the country have but little idea of the situation, and, in his opinion, there is no doubt that there will be serious trouble and probably bloodshed before the matter is settled.

The bucks have become thoroughly imbued with the idea of a Messiah, and if necessary they will back their belief with warfare.

"When I was at Pierre," said he, "the bucks held a war dance, and it was not an exhibition such as the people of Duluth saw during the regatta, but a genuine war dance. The bucks were painted in a horrible fashion, and appeared to be exceedingly ugly. Several white people went out to see the dance, but they were driven away. Heretofore they have appeared anxious for the white people to watch their dances."

"It is amusing to see some of the interviews that the St. Paul papers get out of the army officers about this trouble. Two young lieutenants came down on the train with me. They had been out at some part in Montana. They were quite nice looking young men, with their hair parted in the middle and were busily engaged in smoking cigarettes on the way down. When they arrived in St. Paul they were interviewed for nearly a column in which they said that there was no cause for alarm. They knew about as much about the situation as the people do here in Duluth. I tell you there is bound to be trouble and this time the reds ought to be exterminated."

Buffalo Bill Would 'Care for' Bull.
CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Buffalo Bill, before leaving for Nebraska last night, declared that he is in favor of taking care of Sitting Bull as one of the first moves toward a settlement of the Indian troubles. "Of all the bad Indians," said he, "Sitting Bull is the worst. Rocky Bear and Red Shirt are fighting chiefs and will do whatever is necessary to defeat sitting Bull. They were with me. He can always be found with the disturbing element, and if there is no disturbance he will foment one. He is a dangerous Indian and his conduct now portends trouble."

"Old Red Cloud, who is disposed to be friendly to the whites, was the leader of the Fort Phil Kearney massacre. He is one of the ghost dancers and is looking for a chance to win his spurs. The best fighting blood of the Sioux tribes as well as the Cheyennes is represented in the dancers."

"What appears most ominous to me is the widespread influence of this Messiah movement. The Indians do not telegraph nor write letters. They cannot communicate except by couriers, yet we find all those western tribes from the coast to the Mississippi, and from British Columbia to Arizona dancing the ghost dance, and looking for their great leader. Seven of the chiefs well assist the whites."

The Situation at the Agency.
PRESS RISES, Nov. 24.—At Medicine Root and White Clay the excitement is still going on, and the Indians are not inclined to go to the agency for any purpose.

Monday is the day for issuing rations and Wednesday the day for beef supply. Red Star and several of the other Indians who are inclined to be defiant, agree with Little Wound in his declaration that they will not come in unless they are forced to do so.

Here at the agency the general feeling is a nervous one. Nearly every one agrees that there will be trouble. The Indians assembled here probably number 800 or 900. As they came in they pitched their tepees as they pleased about the prairie.

Late Saturday evening the authorities discovered that the agency was almost completely surrounded by the Indian camp. All were protesting the greatest friendship, but it was soon learned that many of the squaws and children belonging to the rebellious braves and a few of the braves themselves were wandering stolidly about among the crowds of soldiers and half-breeds who lounged in front of the traders' stores and the agency buildings. The Indian police had worked all the afternoon taking the names of the people who had come in, but no one knew exactly who was here and who was not.

Neither the soldiers nor the whites liked the idea of being surrounded by tepees. Yesterday morning an order was given for all the Indians to move off into the low lands upon the banks of Wolf Creek, that runs off to the southeast. There was no hesitation. Everything was loaded up and the whole party moved over into the new camp.

A careful inspection of the camp rummage as it was moved showed only a few Springfield rifles and Winchester, but many of the old men carried about their waists belts filled with loaded cartridges. The question that everybody is asking is whether the ghost dancers will come in to see the agent under the order of last Thursday for all peaceably disposed Indians to report at the agency. There are 7000 Indians in the reservation, about 800 or 900 of them have come in but of this number there are not 150 able bodied warriors. The young men, the hot bloods, the discontented ones and the fanatical ghost dancers are not among them.

The reports from the Indian teachers, squaw men and half breeds agree that the disaffected Indians will send their squaws to draw their supplies. The bucks themselves will hold out and as soon as the rations and beef have been issued they will demand a council.

Wisconsin Indians Rampant.
SHAWANO, Wis., Nov. 24.—There is trouble on the Menominee reservation. One hundred armed Indians surrounded the logging camp of Henry Sherry, near Evergreen river, and burned the camp after the men had retired. Eleven horses and fourteen oxen and the camp outfit for fifteen men were destroyed. The thirteen men were unarmed and fled. The Indians claim the white men are trespassers.

The Wife Recovered.
SOUTH BETHLEHEM, Pa., Nov. 24.—Mrs. John Brandon of St. Louis who, while demented, leaped from a train near Clarkburg, W. Va., Oct. 10, and was found ten days afterwards in a stack of cornstubs, was brought to this place yesterday by her brother, Terrence Reilly. Mrs. Brandon has entirely recovered her reason, and is none the worse for her experience. Her husband is still in the asylum at St. Louis, having been driven to insanity by the failure of his wife's reason.

Port Arthur Breakwater Completed.
PORT ARTHUR, Nov. 24.—The Port Arthur breakwater is completed. It is one mile in length, enclosing nearly a square mile of harbor, and cost $500,000, of which the town contributed $25,000 and the federal government the remainder. Not a single accident of any kind occurred during the seven years of its construction.

"Oh! love, what is it in this world of ours that makes people suffer so with neuralgia?" "Can't tell, my pet, unless the average citizen hasn't got sense enough to buy a bottle of Salvation Oil."

Foolish Martyrs.
There are martyrs and martyrs. Some were wise in the loftiest, some are silly in the most improvident sense. The word improvident exactly applies to the latter class, since they neglect to provide against threatened danger. We commiserate, but we cannot respect them. Among the silliest are martyrs to rheumatism, who might have prevented daily and nightly recurring torture by the early use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a blood purifier more efficient in removing the virus of this complaint from the circulation than any thus far brought to the notice of the general community and the medical profession. It promotes greater activity of the kidneys, the channel through which blood impurities, productive of rheumatism, gout and dropsy, are principally expelled, and it imparts a degree of vigor to digestion and assimilation which has a most favorable bearing on the general health. It also remedies biliousness, kidney troubles and malaria.

A SCREW OF THE DAY.

The average retailer in some parts of the country, especially in the East, fully believing with Barnum that "the American public are willing to be humbugged," is making the most he can out of the tariff, or, rather out of his customers' ignorance of the tariff. There is probably nothing sold under the sun in fish, flesh, fowl, vegetables for the table, the clothing we wear or the furniture of our houses, on which some tradesman has not attempted to extort a few more pence in the name of the tariff.

The greatest trouble in this matter is the complete ignorance of the average woman shopper as to what is affected by the tariff or what changes have been made. In this ignorance the dealer has supreme confidence, though he sometimes meets with a painful surprise, as a salesman of a responsible piano house did not long since, when he urged a wealthy customer to complete her negotiations for an expensive instrument, on the ground that "it would cost $100 more next week on account of the tariff." By those who will not or cannot read the tariff understanding it should be remembered that the duty is taken off many things, and that where it is raised it will only add a few cents on the dollar. The percentage of tariff is not estimated on the price of goods as they are sold in this market, but on the price of them in bulk at the factory or elsewhere in the distant countries where they are bought. To this is added the price of transportation the profit of the wholesale man, often of the middle man and finally the profit of the retail man, which all go to make up the retail price. Thus it comes about that a matting which retails at 40 cents a yard, and under the new tariff is put on the free list, is only 2 cents a yard cheaper, though the large tariff, 20 per cent or one-fifth its cost has been removed.

The American tradesman too often exhibits a strong tendency to take a yard profit if he is given an inch of excuse for doing so. There would be not the slightest complaint of the tariff among retail buyers if shops would treat their customers fairly and not take advantage of the moment to raise their goods two or three times as much as the tariff raises them.

ACTION IN COMBINATION.

The organization in many cities of strong companies to invest capital in the stock of incorporated manufacturing enterprises now doing business elsewhere, but wishing to change locations, or of local companies that desire to enlarge in order to secure for their stockholders a share in the substantial profits earned by successful manufacturers, and with the secondary purpose of building up local manufacturing interests, is of much more than local interest, and points to a method of work for growth that Duluth could well imitate.

Although a great deal has been added, and more will be added, to the population and wealth of this city by the building of large plants, there has never been that organized effort on the part of all the people to make the most of Duluth's surpassing advantages as a manufacturing center that there should have been. While the land, companies and the Chamber of Commerce have been active and private individuals have secured some of the best concerns Duluth now has, organized effort by the people themselves would lift the burden from fewer shoulders and make it no burden at all.

The latest city to see the advantage of this sort of thing is Baltimore, which has just organized "The Manufacturing & Investment company of Baltimore City." The preliminary work of organizing the company is already well advanced, and it is intended that the $2,000,000 stock shall be held by leading men of Baltimore, whose co-operation will thus be enlisted and concentrated. Its business will be managed by directors of known wisdom and ability and it will organize capital on the one hand and effort on the other, so as to make them effective.

The organization of such companies is opportune. Changed conditions are causing the transfer of industries from old to new locations. It is no longer true that concerns contemplating removal are weak and failing enterprises which seek a new lease on life from bonuses which may be offered them. There are hundreds of good and desirable industries which could be operated so much more profitably at Duluth that it would pay their owners to remove them. Let Duluth try this, it would do it good.

ANOTHER CANADIAN WRINKLE.

The title-insurance enterprises which have flourished in various cities in the United States for some time past, and one of which is about to be established in Duluth, and which are a positive necessity to the growth and safety of the real estate business, would have no field of operation left them if we were to adopt the Torrens system in the office of our register of deeds. The whole business of conveying property would be much simplified.

Under the Torrens system, sometimes called the "Australian" and sometimes the "Canadian" because it was first used in Canada, the practice is for any owner of real estate who desires his property to come under the system to place his evidences of title in the hands of an authorized county official, who examines them with expert assistance, and if satisfied as to the title, gives a document saying that it is vested in so-and-so. This document, which costs $20, guarantees the ownership in the person named the county being responsible for the guarantee. When a transfer is made a simple instrument suffices, and the cost of getting a new certificate of title for subsequent sales is only about $2.

The Torrens system of land tenure is in use in the Northwest Territory, in the city of Toronto, and county of York. Bills for its introduction are pending in Manitoba, and the Dominion is to be asked to pass a law making it general at the next sitting of parliament. It is also in use in parts of Australia. We have adopted Canada's system of voting, now why shouldn't we try her land transfer law.

The ghost will probably continue to dance on Western reservations until after the payments.

A newspaper correspondent who witnessed the ghost dance by the Indians near the Standing Rock agency recently describes them as dancing till many fell down from dizziness or exhaustion. These, the medicine men said, were in a trance. Each as he came to, insisted that he had seen the Indian Messiah in his dream, and one said the Messiah refused to speak to him because the dreamer had learned to speak English. That Messiah ought to live in Wisconsin.

One of the members elect of the South Dakota legislature who is likely, it is said, to be elected to the United States senate by a fusion of the democrats and the Farmers' alliance is Assemblyman Pickler. He is an alliance man, is opposed to protection and advocates the free coinage of silver, the sub-treasury scheme, prohibition and woman suffrage.

The first loaded vessel has passed the new channel along Rices Point. A move very advantageous to Duluth and the Northwest has thus been carried out and the project for a central canal forever quieted. To Harbormaster Miller much credit is due. If some of the other suggestions of the harbormaster were to be carried out the city would be the gainer.

SEEN AND HEARD.

"You Americans," said my Canadian friend last night, "think you are smart and we are slow. I'll admit it's true oftentimes but in some things we can give you odds and beat you. Now the 'Australian system' as you call it. It is simply the system Canada has followed since confederation, and it was copied from us by the Australians, and re-copied from them by you. I was a good deal amused last week. Michigan has adopted the system. To carry out the plan a most elaborate and complicated set of machinery was deemed necessary, and the resulting expenses was something terrific. In the city of Port Huron, for instance, every three votes cast in the recent election cost the city $1. Now if those astute Port Huronites had just gone across the river to Sarnia at any municipal election during the last twenty years they might have seen the Australian system in practice, at an average cost to the city of about five cents a vote."

Already the pole nuisance is assuming alarming proportions. Take a look at any street of this city but the line at the edge of the sidewalk resembles a gigantic fine tooth comb. Third avenue west and Superior street is a sight. On the four corners there are so many poles that the scene resembles a dead forest. They put up another pole there today, making the twenty-fifth. Twenty-five telephones, fire alarm, telegraph, electric light and street railway poles within 100 feet of each other—think of it! And Superior street at its junction with other ones is nearly as bad. At Second avenue there are twelve. Numerous lives have been lost by broken wires, and Duluth may not be without such calamities. A question for the city council to decide: "What shall we do with our wires?"

CONCISE COMMENT.

Alderman Long: I have received a letter stating that the samples of brick paving manufactured in Peoria are now on the way to Duluth. This pavement is said to combine all of the good qualities of the other materials and is very durable.

Harbor Master Miller: What was the reporter on the morning paper thinking of when he said that vessels would use 300 tons less of coal in going through the Duluth entry than through the old Superior entry? What he probably meant was that vessels can discharge 300 tons of her cargo quicker by coming to Duluth than by going through the old entry.

M. O. Hall: The money market is very tight just at present and I look for still harder times before spring. The state bank has no rediscount paper in the East.

ODDS AND ENDS.

New York is expending $365,000 for further improvements on its state capitol.

There are 100,000 children with impediments of speech in the German schools.

A woman at Oil City, Pa., recently paid a dry goods dealer for a cloak which she said she stole from him sixteen years ago. The penitent thief was forgiven.

A traveler with the postage stamp mania acknowledges that he has visited countries for no other purpose than to get rare postage stamps to add to his immense collection valued at thousands of dollars.

The number of deaf and dumb people in Kansas is very large. The asylum at Olathe contains 598 inmates, of whom 340 are males and 250 females. The attendance has more than doubled in the last ten years.

Miss Nellie Brandham, a dwarf of Paris Me, who is only twenty-two inches tall, is about to marry a young man who is nearly six feet tall.

Patriotic Sentiment.

St. Cloud Journal Press: The democratic press makes much ado over reports that certain manufacturers in Ohio are discharging employees who voted the democratic ticket. If anything of this kind has been done by any party, it merits only condemnation. Every man should have, as the constitution intends, the right to vote as he pleases, even if he pleases to vote in direct opposition to his own interests. Dictation and direct intimidation are wholly repugnant to the American idea of free government, and will only be tolerated in a state or country where the political and moral sense of the people are at a low ebb.

Trouble Over That Circular.

Minneapolis Tribune: The now famous circular, No. 11 of the Great Northern road concerning the use of cars loaded with grain, is causing no end of complaint and dissatisfaction. The order forbids the delivery of cars loaded with wheat to any other road in Minneapolis preventing the transfer of grain to any elevator not on the Great Northern tracks, causing a reduction of several cents per bushel. The difficulty specially complained of is that no elevators along the line handle No. 3 and the grades below. Mixing houses generally take this matter in hand, but these are on other tracks. The Great Northern officials claim all their cars are needed to transport the article and by permitting it to transfer to other roads much valuable time is lost, and that the other companies take advantage of the transfer to use the cars in their own business. Commission men regard the reason flimsy.

Getting Down to Sense.

Ashtland, Wis., Press: West Superior is tired. She is not now growing so rapidly as she did two weeks ago. And no wonder. She is a very tall, gangling lass, and it is high time she was filling out a bit. Boomers there have quit talking about "adding 100,000 population in three years," and are much more sensibly planning to grow to 50,000 or 70,000 in five years.

A Good Suggestion.

Chicago News: The incarceration of Sitting Bull would probably take out of the way all the really dangerous hostile Indians living. If one-half the energy that Sitting Bull has expended in consummating mischievous enterprises had been devoted to the civilizing of his race there wouldn't be a troublesome redskin in North America.

Minnesota's Junior Senator
Talks of Beet Sugar.

ON POLITICS AND THE TARIFF BILL.

He Also Drops a Few Honeyed Words
Regarding a Sugary Future.

Hon. H. D. Washburn came up from Minneapolis this morning and has been in the city today on private business. The senator is taking an active part in the furthering of the beet sugar industry, his stand in congress having been for bounty for sugar manufacturing.

"In ten years," said Mr. Washburn to a Herald reporter, "the United States will make nearly, if not all, the sugar it consumes. About 60 per cent of the sugar made in the world is from beets, and this industry is taking a prominent place in the commerce of the United States."

"Minnesota, North and South Dakota are particularly well adapted to the raising of beets, and several companies are being formed for its manufacture. Sugar is being made by this means in Iowa and Nebraska, and successfully. The citizens of Anoka have taken preliminary steps towards the establishment of a plant to cost from $500,000 to $750,000. A good yield of beets per acre is fourteen tons, the price paid averaging $4 per ton."

"Yes, we got a land slide," said Senator Washburn, turning from business to politics. "The McKinley bill undoubtedly caused the result; nothing else could have been expected from passing the bill so short a time before election. The democrats have defeated us overwhelmingly this time, but the ship of state will sail back into the republican channel in '92. By that time the people will become educated to the true inwardness of the tariff measure. They will see what a great fraud the democrats have perpetrated on them by their misrepresentations. In two years, if the democrats don't succeed in their attempts to tinker with the bill, we will have many new industries, and hundreds of thousands of new workmen employed at good wages. The only hard feature of our defeat on November 4, is the fact that capitalists who would at once proceed to build up new industries, are afraid the democratic party may make attempts to repeal the bill and try free trade. That would, of course, shut down the new factories, causing great losses. If nothing transpires to injure the new tariff the United States will, in ten years, be making every bit of tin plate used in the country."

RESULTED SERIOUSLY.

Trouble Between an Officer and a Glass Block Clerk.

An altercation between Henry W. Friedland, the window trimmer for Pantan & Watson, and Court Officer Frank Horgan, which resulted rather seriously for the former, occurred in front of the Glass Block Saturday evening shortly after 10 o'clock.

Mr. Friedland was washing the windows of the store and was flooding the sidewalk to such an extent that pedestrians were obliged to go into the street. Officer Horgan, who happened along, asked him to desist. He did not do so at once, and words ensued, which led to blows. Both landed several times, and in the melee, Mr. Friedland received by far the worst of the deal, being knocked down. When he fell an old rupture was reopened and after he was released on bail, was removed to his home on Third avenue west, where an operation was performed. He is out of danger, but will be confined to his bed for several days.

Chief McQuade from all that he can ascertain is inclined to think that the officer did not exceed his authority, and Mayor Davis says that nothing will be done until both ends of the story are told.

A World's Fair Idea.

Col. Wells, secretary Board of Trade, received a circular this morning explaining the scheme of sinking shafts and making a mine exhibit at the Columbian fair. The circular shows forth the advantage of the mine as an attraction in place of a tower. The tunnel could be filled with ore, and men could work and perform other labors such as are usual in different kinds of mining; the mining exhibit could be placed in this hole in the earth. The plan is to floor the place with marble tiles, and hang hundreds of electric lights from the roof.

The New Club.

Miss Kate B. Hardy, Miss Anna R. Haire, Rev. A. W. Ringland and Elliot Lord, as a committee, have issued invitations for attendance at a meeting to be held tonight at the residence of Mrs. G. G. Hartley for the purpose of forming a literary and philosophical club.

THE WEST.

Council Holds a Session: General News of the Day at Both West End and West Duluth.

At the Saturday evening meeting of the council estimates were submitted as follows: Porter Bros., bridging, $2778; P. McDonald, Second avenue, 1400 cubic yards grading, $140. Both ordered paid. The engineer also reported sidewalks on Fourth street and First street north and Oneota street grading as completed. The contract for laying sidewalk on First avenue west was awarded to John Nolan at 20 1/2 cents a foot. The Duluth Furniture company asked permission to lay a spur track on Ninth street south in Hunter & Markells to the factory. A resolution was adopted granting the privilege, the company to conform with the grades of streets and the spur to be laid so as to guard against injury and to leave all crossings passable. G. W. Boylen asked that he be allowed to place metallic numbers on houses. Laid on the table. F. Hogan made application for the position of teamster in the fire department. The note from C. M. Cushman regarding the dangerous condition of the bridge east of Hazlewood Park was referred to the street commissioner.

West Duluth Notes.

The trustees of the German Evangelical church ask that a sidewalk be laid to their church in Dodges addition. Invitations are out for the reception of the Brotherhood of Machinery Moulders, No. 40, West Duluth, Thanksgiving eve, and are very handsome affairs. Hoars orchestra will furnish music.

There will be a meeting of the Board of Trade in the office of Charles W. Hoyt this evening, and as important business is to be considered a full attendance is requested.

The Epworth league will have a special meeting Tuesday evening to rehearse for special praise meeting Thanksgiving eve.

Mrs. Thos. E. Burke was presented with a fine boy baby this morning.

Messrs. Murray & Johnson are opening up a meat market on Second avenue west near second street south.

Dr. Burrows and Dr. Mager of Duluth made a partial examination of the wound of Willie Farebester yesterday, but did not locate the ball and deemed it best not to make a thorough examination at that time.

It is now believed that the party arrested Saturday night was the only one engaged in the several burglaries committed that night. He implicates others, but his stories are so conflicting that no confidence is placed in them.

M. L. McMinn and Erickson & Co's real estate offices were moved Saturday to the new building of J. J. Mack, but an anxious seeker after West Duluth dirt found Erickson & Frey Saturday night and bought $7000 worth of them.

Laying a Corner Stone.

A large number of people were present yesterday at the laying of the corner stone of the German Evangelical church. The speakers were Revs. J. H. and Angus Fleer in German, and Rev. C. A. Brandt in English. Several coins, the calendar, the constitution of the synod, names of the members of the church, and copies of papers were placed in the stone. The German band of Duluth was present.

Building Notes.

The Methodist parsonage on Second street south will be completed in a few days and will be a very roomy and convenient home for the worthy pastor and his family.

C. C. Grosse has nearly completed his fine two-story store and residence on Eighth avenue west, and will move his stock of goods and family in in a few days.

The Burrows building is up and boarded in. J. J. Mack has commenced his new building on Central avenue and will push it so as to be doing business before January.

The sidewalks on Second and Fourth streets north are finished and add greatly to the looks and convenience of those soon-to-be business thoroughfares.

WEST END.

The Estey W. C. T. U. ladies will give a Thanksgiving dinner in the new building next to Eva Bros.' drug store. No one can afford to stay at home or to miss this entertainment, for they will provide a nice dinner and all the pleasure of eating with friends for only twenty-five cents.

J. N. Bailey, postmaster of Carman, Polk county, agreeably surprised the Milne family yesterday morning by dropping in upon them unannounced for a short visit. He expresses himself as much pleased with what he has seen of Duluth.

A nice sidewalk is being built on Twenty-first avenue which the citizens have long needed.

Billy Coleman, about 16 years of age, was arrested last night for wringing the bell of the Presbyterian church while service was being held.

Mrs. Adelle Maine, who recently sold her Michigan street property for a good price, has bought of H. F. Lord, of West Duluth, his fine family residence on First avenue west and will move her family there this week.

O. G. Kinney, from Colfax, Wis., a partner of Joseph Pecore, is in town for a week on business connected with the firm.

O. G. Hulberg has gone on a trip to Isle Royale, Port Arthur and Grand Marais.

A new manufactory on a small scale, but one that is rapidly increasing, is that of W. O. Tuttle at the corner of Twenty-fifth and Superior street. He manufactures baking powder, liquid bluing, all kinds of flavoring extracts, ink and mustard. He also makes shoe blacking.

TO INCREASE.

The Duluth Roller Mill Will Also Increase Its Flour Grinding Capacity.

This has been a good year with the flour mills at Duluth.

Following upon the announcement given exclusively by The Herald, that the imperial would increase its capacity to 6000 barrels to be ready for grinding that amount in June or July next, comes the news that H. P. Gill, proprietor of the Duluth Roller mill, will, next year increase the capacity of his mill from 400 to 750 barrels a day.

Said Mr. Gill today to a Herald reporter: "Yes, I am thinking of increasing the capacity of the Duluth mill to 750 barrels per day. I have the room in the present structure for such an increase. This improvement will be made early next year, should the present excellent market continue. As matters now stand the mill is running night and day and is far behind in orders."

"I am now arranging for an increase in power and will put in a new boiler and engine. The Duluth mill will also be equipped with a two-story warehouse to be finished next year."

All who go to the races next summer or to the cemetery will pass through Clover Hill, and these lots will raise in value when the cars are running. Can deliver acres on flat in 34-49-15. T. B. Hizar & Son, Fergusson block.

THE WEEKLY GRAIN STATEMENT.

Prices Fluctuate, But Finish on the Incline; The Lake Shipments Are Usually Heavy.

New York, Oct. 24.—The suspension of Edward Brandt was announced on the Stock Exchange this morning. He is one of the oldest and most prominent members of the exchange, having been admitted on Sept. 18, 1852, and was considered one of the most successful and wealthiest brokers on the board.

It is said that all through the recent decline he was a bull and carried large lines of stocks, but when prices touched bottom after losing an immense amount of money on the bull side, he turned bear and sold stocks short and was caught in the rapid advance that followed. He was for a number of years located at 19 Broad street, but now his office is at No. 2 Wall street.

The Run Over.
New York, Nov. 24.—The run on the Citizens Savings bank here, which lasted six days, is practically over. The services of the police are no longer necessary, and this morning there were only about fifty depositors who called for their money. Some of the first depositors who drew out their money, the amounts of which were very small, wanted to redeposit, but the bank officials declined to have anything more to do with them on the ground they were among those who inaugurated the trouble.

Duluth Market.
The week opened with a quiet, inactive and irregular market. Buyers predominated early at Saturday's closing figures, but soon broke $\frac{1}{2}$. In all markets this decline was but temporary and was quick to recover, and early declines steadily advanced with little for sale. The demand was largely in excess of offerings, and the tone of the market was strong and buoyant to the close, which was very strong with buyers at $\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 above the opening.

Cash 1 hard. A single car sold at 93, closed 2 higher at 95 bid. Cash 1 northern opened $\frac{1}{2}$, advanced at 98 with good sales, closed at 90. No 2 northern sold early at $\frac{1}{2}$ decline, at 82, closed at 83 $\frac{1}{2}$ bid. No 3 spring, small sales early at 72. December 1 hard opened unchanged, with transactions at 93, closed at 95 bid. December 1 northern at 91 $\frac{1}{2}$, closed with sellers at 91 $\frac{1}{2}$. May 1 hard started late $\frac{1}{2}$ up at 102 $\frac{1}{2}$, closed at 104. May 1 northern opened $\frac{1}{4}$ up at 97 $\frac{1}{2}$, closed at 99.

J. C. Fyfe, a Minneapolis grain man, and Andrew Johnson, a Hawley, Minn., business man, were visitors on the Board of Trade.

The sudden sickness of Kate Castleton, who had dates at Temple Opera December 1, 2 and 3, will prevent her appearing here at that time and the engagement has been cancelled. Probably the McCaull's will take her place. The Real Estate & Investment company has elected the following officers: H. H. Stevenson, president; B. M. Stoddard, secretary; H. H. Bell, treasurer; Capt. W. H. Smallwood, attorney.

Mrs. Barbara Schroeder, wife of John Schroeder, of 603 West 10th, died Friday evening last, aged 46 years. The cause of death was a complication of diseases, her illness lasting three weeks. She leaves a family of nine children, to whom she was very dear. The sympathy of the community is extended. The funeral occurred this morning at 8:30 o'clock in Sacred Heart church and was attended by many friends.

Dr. McNulty and friends returned last night from Encampment river with five fine deer.

An Addition to Musical Aiders.
Mrs. John D. Rubridge, formerly of Huron, Dak., now a resident of Duluth, has been engaged as a soprano for the First Presbyterian church. She sang for the first time yesterday, and the favorable impression that she created shows that she will prove a great addition to Duluth musical circles. Mrs. Rubridge studied under the best teachers in New York, and has been at the head of a musical department in a seminary at Lexington and the college at Grinnell, Ia.

HELP FOR THE DAKOTAS.

Money and Goods Wanted for Parts of the Two Big States.

The extreme droughts for the past three years and sweeping prairie fires in the southern part of North Dakota and northern part of South Dakota have left the people of that locality in a suffering condition. A few of Duluth's citizens have been authorized to solicit aid for these poor people, such as second-hand clothing, money, flour, beans, dried fruit, groceries and such things as will not freeze in shipping.

The Northern Pacific has kindly offered free transportation. Those who wish to give, who are not called upon by the solicitors, can do so by leaving their contributions in the basement of the St. Louis hotel, on Michigan street, between Third and Fourth avenues west, on Thursday and Friday, November 27 and 28.

Mayor Davis writes as follows: From best information I feel sure some aid should be given this committee.

A GREAT AMERICAN MAGAZINE.

The Success of The Century and Its Plans for 1897.

The Century Magazine is now so well known that to tell of its past success seems almost an old story. The New York Tribune has said that it and its companion, St. Nicholas for Young Folks, issued by the same house, "are read by every one person in thirty of the country's population," and large editions of both are sent beyond the seas.

It is an interesting fact that a few years ago it was found that 7000 copies of The Century went to Scotland—quite a respectable edition in itself. The question in England is no longer "Who reads an American book?" but "Who does not see the American magazine?"

A few years ago The Century about doubled its circulation and the famous war papers by Gen. Grant and others, adding many more readers later with the Lincoln history and Kennan's thrilling articles on the Siberian exile system.

One great feature of 1897, is to be "The Gold Hunters of California," describing that remarkable movement to the gold fields in '49, in a series of richly illustrated articles, written by survivors, including the narratives of men who went to California by the different routes, as told by the gold discoverers, life in the mines, the work of the vigilance committees (by the chairman of the committees), etc., etc. Gen. Fremont's last writing was done for this series. In November appears the opening article, "The First Emigrant Train to California," crossing the Rockies in 1841, by Gen. Bidwell, a pioneer of pioneers. Thousands of American families who had some relative or friend among "the Argonauts of '49" will be interested in these papers. Many other good things are coming—the narrative of an American's travels through the unknown land Tibet (for 700 miles over ground never before trod by a white man); the experiences of escaping war prisoners; American newspaper descriptions by well-known journalists; accounts of the great Indian fighters, Custer and others; personal anecdotes of Lincoln by his private secretary; "The Faith Doctor," a novel by Edward Eggleston, with a wonderfully rich program of novelettes and stories by most of the leading writers, etc., etc.

It is also announced that The Century has purchased the right to print, before its appearance in France or any other country, extracts from advance sheets of the famous Talleyrand memoirs, which have been secretly preserved for half a century—to be first given the world, through the pages of an American magazine. All Europe is eagerly awaiting the publication of this personal history of Talleyrand—greatest of intriguers and diplomats.

The November Century begins the volume, and new subscribers should commence with that issue. The subscription price ($4) may be remitted directly to the publishers, The Century company, 33 East Seventeenth street, New York, or single copies may be purchased of any newsdealer. The publishers offer to send a free sample copy—a recent back number—to any one desiring it.

Watch the East End hum in the next sixty days, the electric cars will be running to Montana avenue this week. What does this mean? It means an advance of 25 to 35 per cent. We have the exclusive control of lots on Beach, First and Second streets at the old price. Buy now before the advance. Today the East End property is the cheapest property in Duluth.
